JFK Warns Ala. Governor

NATO Allies Agree On Nuclear Force

Wheat Control Plan Rejection Hailed By GOP

Kennedy Predicts Farm Price Drop, More Surpluses

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jubilant Republicans in Congress hailed Wednesday the massive rejection by farmers of the administration's wheat control plan, but President Kennedy said it means lower farm prices and more grain surpluses.

"And that is not in the interest of the consumers, of course, or the farmer," the President told his news conference.

Farm state GOP lawmakers greeted Tuesday's outpouring of more than a million votes by wheat growers across the country with gleeful cries of "great day for us," "bright day" and "a great day for orbits."

The effect of the big "no" vote by wheat farmers is unlimited production and no price supports at all next year. The administration has said this could throw the wheat market into chaos and plunge the price as low as $1 a bushel.

GOP Predicts New Legislation

Republicans confidently predicted that new wheat legislation would pass before Congress adjourns to prevent such a disaster.

But the President repeated that no such legislation would be offered, and administration leaders down the line stoutly backed him up.

Kennedy said "the farmers have chosen to plant freely without controls and wtihout that high support."

"Even though I didn't agree with the choice, I recognize and accept it and we hope that it does not have an adverse effect," he said.

The President scoffed at Republican suggestions that the usefulness of Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman had come to an end.

"No, no, I think he's doing real well," Kennedy said.

Freeman Under Attack

Rep. Bob Wilson, R-Calif., chairman of the GOP Congressional Campaign Committee, said "Freeman was ousted by the people of Minnesota as governor. He has now been repudiated by the farmers he was appointed to serve. His only recourse is to quit."

Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., suggested that the farmers' vote "should pave the way for a new secretary of agriculture" and Rep. Delbert Latta, R-Ohio, said Kennedy should find a place for Freeman in "some roving ambassadorial post." Said Sen. Bourke B. Hickenlooper, R-Iowa: "The vote showed the farmers prefer freedom to Freeman."

The administration plan needed approval by two-thirds of the farmers to go into effect next year. It failed to muster even a simple majority. Only 47.79 per cent voted for it.

Selassie Plea Opens African Conference

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (UPI) —Emperor Haile Selassie opened a summit conference of 30 African nations Wednesday with an appeal for an African charter to unite the continent's 200 million persons into a single political force.

Observers said the speech by the 70-year-old Lion of Judah was his most important since his 1935 appeal to the League of Nations for help against invading Italian forces—an appeal supported then by only four nations, one the United States.

U.S., Britain Pledge Subs And Bombers

Plan Is Approved After France Says "No Objections"

OTTAWA (AP) — The 15 Western Allies agreed Wednesday to the creation of an Allied nuclear force that will have at its disposal powerful submarine and bomber contingents pledged by the United States and Britan.

The long-debated plan was quickly approved in a defense debate which was concluded in two brief meetings of the North Atlantic Coupcil.

The final obstacle was removed when France announced that it would not oppose the proposed structural change which would unify the various national nuclear forces now available for NATO.

A spokesman for the alliance announced the agreement in a brief statement which said simply that the "North Atlantic Council of Ministers noted with approval the various practical measures" that have been taken and are being taken for the reinforcement and regrouping of the alliance's nuclear strike force available for the defense of Europe."

France Has "No Objections"

In addition to the U.S. and British nuclear forces contributed Wednesday, the alliance also will have fighter bomber units of seven other NATO countries. These are Canada, West Germany, the Netherlands, Belgium, Greece, Turkey and Italy. France also may be included with its two fighter-squadrons stationed in West Germany.

French Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville outlined his position before a closed meeting of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization as the emerging new force got solid backing from other members.

The French foreign minister, in a speech lasting less than five minutes, outlined the main points of the plan and said: "We have no objections to these proposals."

The Cabinet-level discussions got under way immediately after the opening ceremonies of the three-day session.

Support of the United States and Britain had been anticipated but the contributions were promised officially to NATO for the first time Wednesday.

British Contribution

British Foreign Secretary Lord Home announced his government was committing the 180 planes of its long-range Vulcan bomber force, in addition to the 72 Canberra and Valiant tactical bombers which already have been assigned to NATO. He said Britain also would place at the disposal of the force its four Polaris-carrying submarines to be ready starting in 1968.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk then formally committed the three U.S. nuclear-powered submarines armed with Polaris missiles in the Mediterranean.

Canada's Foreign Secretary Paul Martin told his NATO colleagues his country's air division in Europe—with an estimated 200 fighter-bombers — also would be assigned to Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme Allied commander in Europe.

Six of the 15 Allies quickly expressed approval not only of the proposal to bring the various nuclear units in NATO under a unified command, but also of the more ambitious multilateral nuclear force.

Appeals Judge Orders Negro Pupils' Return

ATLANTA (UPI) — A federal appeals judge Wednesday night reversed a lower court decision and issued an injunction barring Birmingham, Ala., school authorities from expelling and suspending 1,061 Negro pupils who cut classes to participate in recent racial demonstrations.

The decision was handed down by U. S. 5th Circuit Judge Elbert Tuttle just a few hours after District Judge Clarence Allgood ruled in Birmingham that there should be no interference with the school board's announced disciplinary measures.

Judge Tuttle, after sharply criticizing the Birmingham district judge for his action, handed down his decision orally and then called a 30-minute recess to put it in finished written form.

Tuttle said that unless the Negroes were granted immediate relief — a return to school while their legal case is being appealed — they would be "irreparably harmed."

Tuttle and attorneys for the Negro child whose care formed the basis of the action, noted that school is almost out in Birmingham and that under the suspension and expulsion order the youngsters would have to go to summer school at their own expense to make up the work.

"What harm would it do to put these children back in school while their appeal is pending," Tuttle asked Reid Barnes, attorney for Birmingham school superintendent Teho Wright.

"According to the superintendent it would cause a break-down of discipline and morale," Barnes answered.

Arms Bristle At Haitian Dictator's Inauguration

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti (AP) —Dictator Francois Duvalier staged his second inauguration as president Wednesday in ceremonies bristling with guns of his security men. From a secret hideout, his chief rival, Clement Barbot, vowed anew to oust him.

The president himself clutched a carbine as he rode in his sleek black Cadillac through crowds of peasants imported to the capital to lend color and enthusiasm to the inaugural.

Barbot, the most hunted man in Haiti, had organized the dreaded militia which protected Duvalier at the ceremonies. But he later broke with the president and now heads the underground opposition.

At his secret hideout, Barbot told two newsmen he had enough weapons to overthrow Duvalier, but indicated the first strike would come from someone inside the Haitian government.

Duvalier, a voodoo-preaching doctor, was taking no chances, especially after Barbot's men renewed bomb attacks Monday.

Six cars of security guards and a truck loaded with steel-helmeted police trailed him from one place to another. Militiamen with rifles and machine guns at the ready, lined the streets.

The peasants were issued straw hats labeled "Duvalier" and seemed in a cheerful mood although only a few were allowed near the president.

Duvalier gave himself a second term in office through a rigged election two years ago. The term to which he was legally elected in 1957 ended May 15.

New York Pays Homage To Cooper

Russian Arms Still Reported Going To Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP) — Information reaching U.S. intelligence indicates that Cuba's Fidel Castro has received some $300 million worth of Soviet arms since November and will get about $250 million in Communist economic help this year.

This is in addition to an estimated $500 million worth of Soviet military equipment turned over to Cuban armed forces before last October's missile crisis and $300 million to $325 million in previous economic aid.

Despite the large-scale help from the Soviet bloc, Castro's Communist economy was reported in bad shape and getting worse. Cuban per capita production in 1962 was estimated down at least 30 per cent from 1958, the year before Castro's takeover.

Industry was said to be faltering for lack of spare parts and maintenance. Even Castro's personal automobiles were reported in bad repair. Some of the communist-made vehicles were described as unsuitable for tropical use.

Cuba's main money-earner, sugar, has spiraled downwards from a 6.8-million ton harvest in 1961 to a projected 4 million tons this year. But soaring world sugar prices could rescue Castro from part of his financial woes, if they stay high for the 1964 season.

Details on what arms the Russians are continuing to give Castro's forces were not immediately available.

Past Soviet military assistance has included a wide variety of supplies ranging from jet fighters to tanks, guns, rolling stock and other goods.

Cuba Reports New 'Pirate Ship' Attack

HAVANA (UPI)—The Castro regime complained Wednesday of a new "pirate ship" attack on the Cuban coast for which it blamed the United States.

In Miami, however, Cuban exiles said the sea strike against a militia camp near Havana was carried out by rebel forces operating from within Cuba.

Lightning Fells Man Second Time

HITCHIN, England (AP)—John Hudson, 20, was blown out of a telephone booth by a freak bolt of lightning Tuesday night.

Five years ago he was knocked cold by another one while standing on the front lawn of his home and was unconscious for six hours.

A hospital spokesman said Hudson was badly shaken by bolt No. 2 and would need a couple of days in bed to recover.

Jury Considers Drummond Fate

NEW YORK (UPI)—An all-male federal court jury Wednesday began considering the fate of Navy Yeoman 1.C. Nelson C. Drummond on trial for his life on charges of selling U.S. defense secrets to Russia.

The jury received the case at 2:40 p.m. EDT after a 75-minute charge from Judge Edward Weinfeld. Ninety minnutes later, it returned to ask that portions of Drummond's testimony and statements be re-read.

Drummond, 34, a Negro, spent 16 years in the Navy. Testimony in his trial took seven days. The jury can recommend the death penalty.

The only defense witness to appear was Drummond himself. In two days of testimony, the sailor sought to establish that while he had accepted money from Soviet agents, he had not turned over documents of security importance.

Drummond told of dealing with three Russian agents, all named "Mike," and repeated a statement that he planned to kill "Mike Number 3" on Sept. 28, 1962—the ame night he and a member of the Soviet United Nations delegation were picked up in a Larchmont, N.Y., diner.

Thirty-two government witnesses testified during the trial.

10 U.S. Copters Help Kill 33 Guerrillas

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (UPI) —Ten. U.S. Army helicopters, employing their newly developed "eagle" tactic, helped Vietnamese government troops kill 33 Communist soldiers in a running battle 125 miles south of Saigon Wednesday.

Another 67 of the Viet Cong guerrillas were captured in the battle near the town of Bac Liue, informed Saigon military sources said.

Pope Suffers Relapse, Given Transfusion

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII suffered a severe relapse in his illness Tuesday night and received a blood transfusion, Vatican sources reported Wednesday.

The 81-year-old pontiff canceled his regular weekly audience on doctor's orders, but appeared at his window during the day to bless thousands of people in St. Peter's Square below.

Later it was reported the Pope had napped in the afternoon and was feeling well by evening.

One source said the blood transfusion given to the Pope was the largest he has had since he was stricken with anemia and a stomach disorder last November. Transfusions are reported necessary for his anemia.

Besides the stomach ailment, the Pope suffers from a chronic prostate condition.

He is known to experience wide fluctuations in the way he feels, and a high Vatican source said that his present condition, although preoccupying, has not resulted in any sort of emergency.

Viewed from afar through binoculars, the Pope seemed very pale at his window. But his voice was vibrant and strong over a loudspeaker.

Cuban Sailor Reaches Freedom The Hard Way

MIAMI (UPI) —Seventy-seven more Cubans flew to freedom in the United States Wednesday but were upstaged by a salty old sailor who made it the hard way in a rough sea crossing aboard his 21-foot boat.

Bearded Juan Santos Rios, a 69-year-old fisherman from Matanzas Province, was picked up by the Coast Guard near Marathon in the Florida Keys Tuesday night and was brought to the airport here Wednesday in time to be processed with the refugees arriving on a Pan American World Airways plane.

The plane took an American Red Cross medical team to Havana Wednesday morning to assist other refugees expected to arrive in the United States Friday morning aboard the freighter Morning Light.

Wearing faded khaki clothes held together by a rope belt, Santos Rios said he left Matanzas at midnight Monday after four young Cuban men appealed to him to take them to the United States because "our lives are in danger."

"I did not know the men, but I am only an old man, so I told them I would do it," he said.

"I have nothing against Cuba, but I do want a tranquil life so I may stay here," the old fisherman said while munching cookies and drinking milk supplied by the Red Cross.

His four passengers were detained by immigration authorities because they carried weapons.

Astronaut Rides Up Broadway In Paper Blizzard

NEW YORK (AP) — Astronaut Gordon Cooper, undaunted in the lonely, silent reaches of outer space, rode up Broadway with precise caution Wednesday to a roaring, adoring ticker tape accolade from New York's millions.

Before he set out into a blizzard of shredded paper, Cooper meticulously fastened a seat belt of his limousine across his lap.

Then the 36-year-old Air Force major was ready to accept with modesty the city's homage for last week's 22-orbit flight that thrilled the free world and established him as America's top astronaut.

2,900 Tons Paper Accorded Cooper

NEW YORK (AP)—The Sanitation Department reported that 2,900 tons of paper showered down on astronaut Gordon Cooper during his ticker-tape welcome to New York on Wednesday.

It exceeded the 1,750 tons expended on Charles A. Lindbergh in 1927, but was below the 3,474 tons accorded astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. in 1962, and the 3,249 tons heaped upon Gen. Douglas MacArthur in 1951.

Later, at a civic luncheon at the Waldorf-Astoria, where 1,900 dignitaries rose to their feet in ovation, and where he received the city's Medal of Honor, Cooper made one of the shortest acceptance speeches in memory.

"I don't generally say very much," Cooper declared. "I'm so impressed that today I'm going to say even less. On behalf of myself and the entire Mercury team, I want to thank you very much."

That was it. Cooper sat down. And a delighted audience that included former President Herbert Hoover cheered the taciturn hero to the very ceiling of the ballroom.

The highlight of the day was the tremendous noise and enthusiasm of the parade.

Unofficial police estimates—admittedly only a guess—set the crowd turnout for Cooper at 4 to 4½ million, about par for the course.

Surging throngs overwhelmed police barriers, shouting "Hello Coop . . . Wonderful job, Coop . . . Go, go, Gordo."

Astronaut Cooper wore a dark gray summer suit. He sat in the back of a cream colored limousine with red upholstery. His was the lead car in the 15-minute parade. Beside him was his attractive brunette wife, Trudy. Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson also was with the couple.

In the third car was the astronaut's mother, Mrs. Hattie Cooper. Cooper's daughters, Camala, 14, and Janita, 13, rode in the fourth car.

Also in the motorcade were fellow astronauts, M. Scott Carpenter, Alan B. Shepard Jr., Donald K. Slayton, Walter M. Schirra Jr. and Virgil I. Grissom.

At City Hall, Mayor Robert F. Wagner was waiting to greet Cooper and to tell him:

"Today, New York wants to say to you, Gordon Cooper, in your vocabulary, but with a New York twist, that as far as we are concerned, you are go! go! go!...New York goes for you in a very big way. America owes much to you, to each and all of you, for bringing closer the day when man will reach the moon."

Will Insure University Integration

President Hopes Marshals Or Troops Won't Be Needed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy made it clear Wednesday that he would use federal marshals or troops to desegregate the University of Alabama if this is the only way to counter Gov. George Wallace's threat to block the court-ordered admission of two Negroes this June.

But he insisted at a news conference: "I hope that would prove unnecessary. I hope this is a matter that can be settled by the local authorities in Alabama."

Kennedy asserted nevertheless that as President he is obligated to carry out the federal court order directing the university to admit Vivian Malone, 20, and David McGlathery, 26. Miss Malone plans to enter June 10 for the summer term at the main campus at Tuscaloosa and McGlathery plans to start at the school's Huntsville branch on the same day.

Wallace, upon learning of the court decision Tuesday, said he was the highest constitutional authority of the state and "I will be present to bar the entrance of any Negro who attempts to enroll at the University of Alabama."

Troop Question Remains

Kennedy did not specifically declare he would send U.S. troops or marshals into Alabama as he did to enforce the admittance of Negro James Meredith into the University of Mississippi last fall.

Instead he put it this way:

"I know there is great opposition in Alabama, and, indeed, in any state, to federal marshals and federal troops. And I would be very reluctant to see us reach that point.

"But I am obligated to carry out the court order. That is part of our constitutional system. There is no choice in the matter. It must be carried out, and laws which we do not like must be carried out, and laws which we like."

He said this is not a matter of choice, and if it were it would not be law.

"So these decisions must be enforced," he said. "Everyone understands that."

Trustees Order Admission

The trustees of the university, the only state university that has not desegregated, have ordered Dean of Admissions Hubert Mate to accept Miss Malone and McGlathery in the face of the court action.

Noting this, Kennedy said "I would hope that the law abiding people of Alabama would follow the judgment of the court and admit the students."

In a discussion of the Birmingham riots, he said the administration is considering new civil rights legislation which would be designed to give Negroes a legal avenue to end racial discrimination rather than "taking to the streets" in demonstrations that bring them into contact with local police authorities.

Other highlights of the news conference:

—On wheat, he said he did not know what the political consequences would be of the defeat of his plan in Tuesday's referendum. He said there would be another chance for a wheat referendum next year and that meanwhile it could be seen what the economic effect would be from the choice made by the farmers, who turned down administration proposals to couple strict controls with price supports.

U.S. Team Near Top Of Everest

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP)—Two American assault teams neared the top of fabled Mt. Everest on Wednesday—one of them from the hitherto unconquered west ridge.

If both make it, it will be the first dual triumph over the world's highest and most forbidding mountain. Hopes ran high here.

Allen C. Auten of Denver, Colo., reported from his camp at 25,000 feet that Dr. Thomas F. Hornbein of San Diego, Calif., and Dr. William Unsoeld of Corvallis, Ore., had been seen struggling towards the summit up the perilous west ridge.

An expedition spokesman said it was presumed Luther G. Jerstad of Eugene, Ore., and Barry C. Bishop of Washington, D.C., were nearing the top on the south side because their Sherpas were seen descending.

Hornbein and Unsoeld had not been given much chance of reaching the summit because they lost much of their oxygen and food supplies in a snowslide and windstorm last Thursday.

Soaring Prices Stir World Sugar Panic

Production Sags, Consumption Rises

WASHINGTON (AP)—Lawrence Myers, head of the Agriculture Department's sugar policy staff, said Wednesday the sugar market is in a state of panic.

World prices, he said, have risen from a disastrously low point of about two cents a pound for raw sugar in January 1962 to more than 11 cents now. Normally, comparatively little sugar is sold at the world price, which has applied to supplies not committed to specific markets.

"The major change in the free world sugar situation, and in the supply problem for the United States, has been the loss of Cuba to communism," Myers said in a talk to the National Confectioners' Association.

World sugar production has fallen, with serious declines in Europe and Cuba being offset only partially by production increases elsewhere, Myers said. He added that the trend of world sugar consumption has tended sharply upward.

Cuba was the world's largest sugar exporter, and for years produced more than six million tons annually.

In 1961, Myers said, Cuba under the Castro government produced 7.5 million tons, but in 1962 this dropped to 5.4 million tons, and it may be less than 4 million in the current year.

"Regardless of the exact figures, it is obvious that communism in Cuba has brought disaster to its sugar industry," Myers said. This reduced world stocks by two million tons.

World consumption this year will depend upon the extent to which world sugar stocks will be depleted," Myers said.

Myers said the world sugar situation has changed from one of growing surpluses to one of shortage.

"The late recognition of the change from a surplus to a tight supply situation may account for a large part of the violence of recent market reaction," he said.

At the same time, he said, there is in sight, or in reasonable prospect, more sugar than U.S. users will consume during the present year. He said there has been some stockpiling of supplies, and that this has affected the situation.

Romney Leaves Draft Door Ajar

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan called Wednesday for elimination of human injustice in the civil rights field, reinvigorated state governments and said again he will not seek the 1964 Republican presidential nomination.

But he left the door open to a possible draft and sidestepped saying whether he will be Michigan's favorite-son candidate at the 1964 GOP nominating convention.

Romney, addressing the National Press Club, also:

—Vigorously opposed a series of conservative-sponsored constitutional amendments which would permit the states to amend the federal Constitution without congressional approval, deny the Supreme Court's jurisdiction in reapportionment of voting districts and set up a court with powers exceeding those of the Supreme Court. He said these changes would mutilate the federal government.

—Said he favors providing medical care for anyone who doesn't have the money to pay for it, regardless of age, but didn't say how he thought this should be financed—a central point of dispute in President Kennedy's health care program for the aged.

Will Insure

—Kennedy said the National Aeronautics and Space Administration "will make the final judgment" on whether there will be another space flight in the Project Mercury program. He said the Mercury astronauts told him while they were in town earlier this week that they feel another flight would be worth while and "useful."

—The President was asked if he felt the agreement reached in Geneva with the six Common Market nations left the trade negotiations with a great deal of work still to be done.

Kennedy was asked whether Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, of New York, Gov. George Romney of Michigan and Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona "in your experienced eye" look like Republican presidential candidates in 1964. Kennedy laughed and said with a broad grin: "I would say that if the call of the party came to any one of them they would answer the call."

He paused for a minute and then added, still grinning: "And that's about my position too."

—The President described as "completely untrue" suggestions that the United States might be planning to abandon its Guantanamo naval base in Cuba. He was commenting on a statement last weekend by Republican National Chairman William E. Miller and said he thought there was "political motivation" in GOP questions raised about Guantanamo. He said such action had never been considered.

Richard Nixon Rules Self Out As 'Kingmaker'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Richard M. Nixon, 1960 Republican presidential candidate, defined his role in the party Wednesday as "a leader of opinion." He said it is out of the question that he may try, or could be a "kingmaker."

Nixon, who met with newsmen at their request, said he is in town to get a State Department briefing on countries he will visit in Europe next month on a trip with his wife, Pat, and their two daughters. They will leave June 11 and return Aug. 5.

The former vice president said he will not try "to control organization or dictate candidates" for national or state office. But he said he will continue to try to expand his activities as "a leader of opinion in the Republican Party and the nation."

Nixon said any of the candidates mentioned prominently for the GOP presidential nomination next year could and should have support of Eisenhower-Nixon Republicans. He repeated that he has no plans to seek the office of president or vice president.

He mentioned by name Sen. Barry Goldwater of Arizona and Govs. George Romney of Michigan, William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania and Nelson A. Rockfeller of New York and told newsmen to add any others he might have overlooked.

Nixon spoke with reporters after holding a luncheon conference with Republican leaders of the Senate and House.

Cold, Snow Peril Crops In Midwest

By United Press International

An arctic blast Wednesday shattered low temperature records in the upper Midwest and the Great Plains, unleashed unseasonable snow in the Great Lakes states and threatened extensive crop damage from the lakes to the Ohio River.

The mercury plunged to a frigid 21 degrees at Fargo and Jamestown, N.D. an inch of snow blanketed Sault Ste Marie, Mich.

Snow showers pelted Milwaukee, Wis., an occurrence Milwaukeeans had experienced this late in the season only once before — on May 29, 1946.

Forecasters warned western Michigan fruit growers to brace for possibly extensive damage to crops Wednesday night. Readings as low as 25 degrees were predicted in the heart of Michigan's cherry-growing country. Cherry trees in northwest Michigan are in full bloom.

The strawberry crop in southwestern Michigan also was vulnerable, a meteorologist said, and apples were endangered in a key three-county area.

Weathermen at Indianapolis said tender crops were endangered all the way from Lake Michigan to the Ohio River. The prospect of clear skies and calm air heightened the danger, they said.

Temperature tumbled throughout the Middle West.

Record lows set for the date included 25 at Spencer, Iowa; 27 at Siou Falls, S.D.; 30 at Rochester, Minn.; 31 at North Platte, Neb., Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Sioux City, Iowa; 32 at Waterloo, Iowa; 33 at Des Moines and Council Bluffs, Iowa; 34 at Ottumwa, Iowa; 35 at Peoria, Ill., Concordia, Kan., and Burlington, Iowa, and 37 at Topeka, Kan.

Iowa State agronomist Harvey Thompson reported that the unseasonably cold wather may have ruined thousands of acres of corn and soybeans. He speculated that 20 per cent of soybeans in northwest Iowa may have to be replainted.

County agricultural agents reported much of the tender young corn has shriveled and fallen in areas where readings down to an unofficial 15 have been reported.

John F. Kennedy Jr. Sports New Haircut

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Two-year old John F. Kennedy Jr. is sporting a new haircut.

The First Lady's Press Secretary Pamela Turnure confirmed Wednesday the President Kennedy's son has had his hair trimmed and now has a part on the left side.

For a considerable time the youngster's hair has been in a long "English" style in the manner of his 5-year old cousin Tony Radziwill of London.

U. Of Md. Professor Killed In Auto Crash

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Dr. Robert E. Fullerton, a University of Maryland math professor, died Tuesday of injuries received in an auto accident in Tortosa, Spain, the U.S. State Department announced Wednesday.

Fullerton, on leave from Maryland, was on a lecture tour through Nigeria, Africa and Spain. He was driving to Yugoslavia when he was involved in an accident May 17.

Coal Research Fund Approved By Senate Unit

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee approved Wednesday $2 million for research in making gasoline from bituminous coal.

The action, taken behind closed doors, was announced by Sen. Robert C. Byrd, D-W.Va., a member of the committee.

The House eliminated the item when it passed the Interior Department appropriation bill and Byrd then sought restoration of it by the Senate committee.

If the Senate goes along with its committee's action, the bill will go to a Senate-House conference for settlement of the research project's fate, along with other differences between the Senate and House bills.

Byrd said the Senate committee also approved another amendment he offered to add $300,000 to $100,000 budgeted for the Princeton, W.Va., forest products laboratory.

This additional money, Byrd said, would permit the enlargement of the scientific and technological staffs, and thus speed up research work.

The $2-million coal research item would provide for initial engineering and construction of a pilot plant for "project gaoline," Byrd said.

Exiles Confuse Cuban Problem

WASHINGTON (AP)—U.S. efforts to rid the hemisphere of Castroism are being complicated by leaders of 400 to 600 refugee groups "jockeying for position against the day of return to Cuba," a State Department spokesman said Wednesday.

The power scramble was described by Edwin M. Martin, assistant secretary of state for inter-American affairs, at the opening of hearings on the refugee problem by a Senate Judiciary Subcommittee.

The subcommittee chairman, Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., pointed to another problem. He said "storm warnings in Miami" indicate that relations are deteriorating between residents and exiles there.

Hart told reporters he is disappointed that there has been what he called a "slackening" of the resettlement program since early this year.

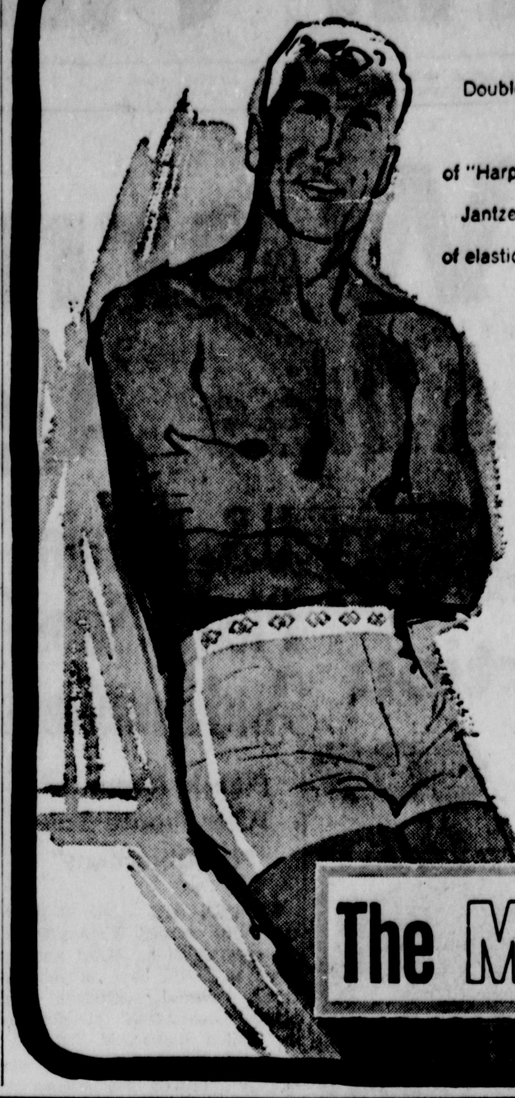

Mt. Vernon View Presentation Backed

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee approved $724,600 Wednesday to preserve the view from Mount Vernon, Va., the home of George Washington. The House had refused the money.

Sen. Clifford P. Case, R-N.J., a committee member, said purchase of the land on the Maryland side of the river opposite Mount Vernon is essential to prevent further encroachment on the historic site.

He said the view toward Maryland is threatened by possible installation of a sewage disposal plant, oil storage tanks and a sewer line which would dump into the river.

Congress voted $213,000 last year for purchase of land at Mockley Point across the river from Mount Vernon, but the Interior Department says it needs $724,600 more to complete the job.

Warrior Chief Focus Of Africa Apartheid Plan

By NEIL SMITH

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (UPI) A proud descendant of African warrior chiefs has become the center of the South African government's apartheid plans in the Transkei.

He is Chief Kaiser Daliwonga Matanzima, chairman of the Transkeian Territorial Authority. As such, he is an "Uncle Tom" to all black nationalists, a sworn enemy of the white liberals, and chief candidate to become the territory's first African chief minister.

This year the 14,000 square miles of rugged hills and deep valleys that make up the Transkei will become the first of the white South African government's self-governing "Bantustans". Except in the towns, where two-thirds of the 18,000 white residents live, the 1.4 million Africans will have full local autonomy.

They will rule a fertile, but overcrowded region without major industries, mines, ports or even modern railroads. They will also rule 6,000 isolated white traders and their families who are looking nervously into the future, wondering whether Matanzima will prove as tractable in power as he has been on the long climb up the ladder from obscurity.

Matanzima is a protege of South African Premier Hendrik Verwoerd and a firm supporter of apartheid. Verwoerd looks to him to provide the leadership that will make the Trasnkei a show window for the positive aspects of apartheid.

But there are clouds on the Transkei horizon. Matanzima has become the No. 1 hate symbol for black nationalists. To them he represents an African who has sold out his people and has become a prime target for the killer gangs of the Poqo underground terrorist organization. They already have killed at least two of his right hand men, headman Gqoboza last October and headman Deliwe in February, 1963.

Last February on two successive days, two legal hearings opened into two separate attempts to assassinate Matanzima. More than 40 Africans were involved, some of them Matanzima's own subjects who have shaken off tribal authority and gone to live in the cities.

Observers are convinced that as long as Matanzima rules he will continue to live a life of fear, protected by security police.

In dismissing Matanzima as a traitor the black nationalists may be doing him less than justice. It is true that his rise to power paralleled his outspoken support for the nationalist government's apartheid policies.

But his passionate belief that black nationalism can lead only to bloodshed and suffering for the African people in the republic could be valid under present circumstances.

His credo might be summed up as "far better to accept gratefully whatever the white man is prepared to give than to make demands that are doomed in advance to be rejected."

Like President Moise Tshombe of Katanga, Matanzima has been accused of being a stooge. But, like Tshombe, he is far more than just a puppet in the hands of white manipulators. His recent utterances have shown that he does not always toe the white man's line.

Last month he accused the white traders, his future subjects, of supporting Poqo's campaign against Transkeian self-government.

Opponents of Verwoerd, both to the right and left, reacted to the Matanzima statement by saying the government was allowing an anti-white African extremist to take control of the Transkei.

Liberals said that Matanzima firmly rejected any suggestion to give whites political rights in the Transkei when the proposed new constitution was debated by the territorial authority in Umtata last December.

Matanzima, 48, is the leading candidate for the post of chidf minister, but not the only one.

Chief Victor Poto of Western Pondoland is another strong contender. Learned and level-headed, Poto has the added advantage of being friendly toward whites. Poto is the uncle and close firend of the leading African liberal in the Transkei. Paramount Chief Sabata Dalindyebo. Sabata and Matanzima grew up together as boys but now are bitter political enemies.

Europe Development Of Space Car Urged

STUTTGART, Germany (UPI) —West German rocket wizard Eugen Saenger Tuesday called development of a European space vehicle to make space travel pay.

Saenger, wartime chief of Nazi rocket programs and sometimes dubbed "The Einstein of Rocketry," addressed 500 European and American rocket and space scientists at the opening of the third European space travel congress.

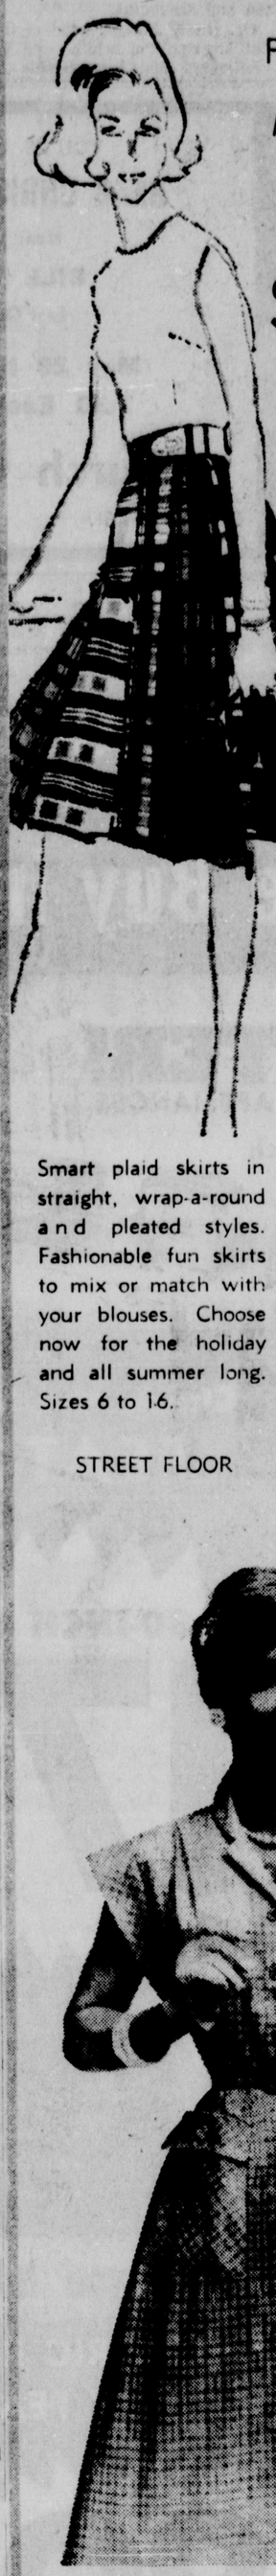

Saenger, now a professor at West Berlin Free University, said "space travel is expensive ... but it can be made to pay."

He predicted American communications satellites such as Telstar and Relay would pay for themselves. Europe, he said, "has started late in the space race" but its goal must be to develop a space transport, ready for test flights by 1970.

Court Told Loans In Md. Johnson's Responsibility

BALTIMORE (AP)—William L. Robinson, Miami associate of savings and loan operator J. Kenneth Edlin, testified Wednesday that former congressman Thomas F. Johnson was responsible solely for legal transactions in Maryland.

Robinson had been general counsel for two of Edlin's Maryland savings and loan associations now in receivership. Edlin served five months in federal prison last year after pleading no contest to a mail fraud charge connected with one of the associations.

Johnson, Maryland congressman defeated last year, Robinson and Edlin along with Frank W. Boykin, former Alabama congressman, are being tried in U.S. District Court on charges of conspiring to have the previous fraud charge against Edlin dropped.

Robinson, testifying in his own defense, said he engaged Johnson as Maryland counsel in August, 1960, with a retainer of $1,000. He said five months later it was arranged to pay Johnson $800 a month.

"My instructions were that no loan was to be made in Maryland without Johnson's approval," Robinson testified.

Judge Roszel C. Thomsen asked what specifically was Johnson's responsibility.

"He did not establish policy, but he was to see that the language of the agreements carried out the purpose we wanted," Robinson replied.

Negro Exodus To Baltimore Suburbs Noted

BALTIMORE (AP)—"The movement of Negroes out of the center city and into previously all-white suburbs is happening and will continue to happen," Baltimore Neighborhoods Inc. said Wednesday.

"Many previously all-white neighborhoods in the suburban sections of the city and the surrounding counties have accepted Negro families without the undercurrent of panic formerly associated with housing integration."

The organization 3½ years old, said it was formed to promote neighborhood stabilization and is trying to give Negroes broader opportunities for housing outside of the inner city ghetto.

In a summation of a year's activities, Executive Director Edward L. Holmgren said some factors which influence the probability of further suburban housing sales to Negroes include "the non-discriminatory policy in FHA and VA foreclosure sales, the President's executive order prohibiting discrimination in housing under federally insured mortgages, the creation of the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in Housing, and the rising standard of living of many Negro families."

In regard to the Negro's breakthrough into the suburbs, Holmgren said:

"A very positive aspect of these developments, even for white people who are apprehensive about integration, is that Negroes permitted a freer choice of neighborhoods need not concentrate in certain limited areas.

"Hence, whites need not fear that the arrival of one Negro family will be followed by an 'invasion.'

"Moreover, if white families in the city can observe that the suburbs are no longer a 'place to hide' from integration, it is probable that they will think twice before taking flight."

Maryland News In Brief

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Maryland Port Authority has asked the U.S. District Court of Massachusetts for another 25-day stay on railroads' present rates for import and export cargo.

William L. Marbury, general counsel for the authority, said he needs the additional time to ask the Supreme Court for a rehearing on a rate differential case. A favorable rate advantage which southern ports now have over northern ports was overturned by the Supreme Court Monday.

SNOW HILL, Md. (AP)—Kenneth Reed of Ocean City got a human skull and other bones with his load of gravel from the William Range Gravel Co. of Berlin.

Sheriff Ken Tyler of Worcester County said Wednesday the bones would be sent to Dr. Russell S. Fisher of Baltimore, for an examination. Tyler said his office would investigate the discovery.

TOWSON, Md. (AP)—Leonard J. DeLayo, 42, of Timonium, executive secretary of the Teachers Association of Baltimore County, said Wednesday he has accepted an offer to become superintendent of public schools for the State of New Mexico.

One of the five candidates interviewed two weeks ago, DeLayo will take over July 1 in the state where he began his teaching career. The position carries a salary of $14,000 to $17,000 a year.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Maryland has been declared free of sheep scabies.

The University of Maryland Extension Service said this means breeder and feeder sheep being moved to other areas no longer need be dipped as a precaution.

Final inspections were completed in March. Of 39,552 sheep in 1,219 flocks inspected, none was found to have scabies.

Inspection for symptoms of the disease will continue. Scabies develops from tiny puncture wounds inflicted on the sheep's skin by mites. Seriously infected sheep lose weight and fleece and may die unless treated.

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Dr. Phillips Foster of the Department of Agricultural Economics at the University of Maryland will spend the first two weeks of June in Manila.

While in the Philippines, as a consultant to the State Department, Foster will address an economic development conference of Southeast Asia.

New Steel Stronger

CHICAGO (UPI) — Inland Steel Co. announced Wednesday the development of a new steel which it said is more than twice as strong as ordinary structural steel.

The new steel, called INX 70, has a minimum "yield strength" of 70,000 pounds per square inch compared with 33,000 pounds for the conventional type, Inland said.

McKeldin Informed Civic Center In Red

BALTIMORE (AP)—Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin, in office a day, was informed Wednesday that the Civic Center faces an operating deficit of $235,000 by the end of the year.

The center, built at a cost of $14.3 million, was opened last October.

Charles L. Benton, city budget director, gave the new board of estimates the bad news.

McKeldin did not have any immediate statement on how the problem will be met. He assured that the center will not be closed.

Mystery Illness Strikes

BEL AIR, Md. (AP)—Federal, state and county health experts all were puzzled Wednesday over the illness of seven women working in the same department of a Bel Air bank.

Three of the women were in hospitals.

The sudden sickness felled the first employe of the Commercial and Savings Bank last Wednesday. All those stricken were in the second floor posting department doing clerical work.

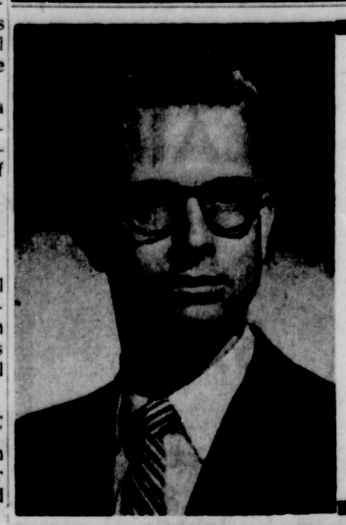

They suffered headaches, nausea and sleepiness.

Dr. Henry Barnes, head of the Bel Air board of health, said investigators had been unable to find any trace of a toxic substance in the bank.

"The problem in a situation like this," he said, "is that we do not know if these sicknesses contain the same common denominator. This is what we have to find out."

Experts from the Army's Environmental Hygiene Agency at Edgewood were among those stymied.

The women hospitalized were Mrs. Ida Mae Tombough of Joppa and Mrs. Marian Debaugh of Kingsville in Union Memorial in Baltimore and Mrs. Phoebe Brown of Bel Air in Harford Memorial in Havre de Grace.

Clemency Plea For Three Set

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes will be petitioned by the Maryland Council of Churches to commute the death sentences of three Montgomery County Negroes convicted of assaulting a white girl.

Wilmer V. Bell, chairman of the department of Christian Social Relations, in addition to the plea for clemency sent the governor, information on the case will be distributed to clergymen in Maryland.

John G. Giles, 22, James V. Giles, 20, and Joseph E. Johnson, 23, of Spencerville have been sentenced to die in the gas chamber. They were convicted of attacking a 16-year-old Hyattsville girl in a wooded area near the Patuxent River July 20, 1961.

The Maryland Court of Appeals upheld the decision last July and the Supreme Court declined to review it last month.

Demos Bump High School Prom From Ballroom

BURBANK, Calif. (UPI) — A $500-a-plate Democratic fund-raising dinner featuring President Kennedy Tuesday bumped an $18-a-couple high school graduation prom from the grand ballroom of the Beverly Hilton Hotel.

Vernon H. Weybright, principal of John Burroughs Senior High School, said the graduating class had made arrangements for the Hilton's ballroom about a year ago. The prom was to have been held June 7.

"We have about 550 students graduating and about 600 persons were expected to attend altogether," he said.

Eugene Wyman, chairman of the Democratic State Central Committee, was startled when told of the mixup.

"I deeply regret any inconvenience caused the students," he said. "I had no knowledge the school had made arrangements to use the room. If it had been called to my attention earlier we could have moved our dinner."

Weybright said the school was notified of the reservation switch Monday by the hotel.

"It's been an interesting day," he told United Press International. "But I think the students are responding well. We organized a discussion group and there was a lot of discussion by the kids. I was real proud of them.

"We were able to transfer the senior prom to the Statler-Hilton Hotel on June 8," Weybright added.

He said the student body president "came up with the observation that after all it is the President of the United States and we have some responsibility to recognize the problem and accommodate him."

Weybright said he didn't believe all of the students were reconciled to the change, "but most of the students were aware of the problem and reacted as a group."

Guido Backs Up Accused Army General

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — An army general accused of being a key figure in an imminent military revolt against the Argentine government won a personal vote of confidence Tuesday from President Jose M. Guido.

Following a visit to Interior Minister Gen. Osiris Villegas, identified by an opposition political leader as plotting against the government, President Guido said the call was meant to represent "clear and explicit confidence" in the officer.

Villegas was accused Saturday by Enrique de Vedia, secretary-general of the Christian Democrat majority, of conspiring with Gen. Carlos J. Rosas, 2nd army corps commander, to topple the government. De Vedia said he had "confirmed information" that the coup was imminent. De Vedia was arrested early Sunday and remains in custody.

However, police transferred him Tuesday from central headquarters to his home in the Martinez suburb where he will be under house arrest. His party asked the Roman Catholic church to intercededed with the government for his prompt release.

Villegas, denying De Vedia's charges as "moral cowardice," said he supported Guido's plans for general elections July 7, with the government to be turned over to the new administration on Oct. 12. Rosas, garrisoned in Rosario, refused to comment on the accusations.

Senate Ratifies International Coffee Agreement

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Tuesday voted ratification of the international coffee agreement to stabilize coffee prices in the world market.

The vote was 69 to 20. This was nine more than the two-thirds vote needed to ratify a treaty.

Passage came after a brief but controversial Senate discussion. The agreement also had been debated briefly Monday.

The agreement, signed by 54 nations and ratified by 28 before the U.S. approval Tuesday, is designed to eliminate the wide fluctuations in coffee trading which havs marked trading since the end of World War II.

It creates a coffee council to regulate trade through a system of export controls on the producing countries.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee urged approval of the treaty.

Woman To Woman

By PATRICIA MCCORMACK

HOMEFRONT, U. S. A. (UPI) —Pity us punk gardeners!

We douse a seedling with miracle feed. The little sprout withers a bit, writhes a lot and turns brown.

We dutifully snip the rose buds where we should and get lots of superior thorns, plus a few inferior posies. Before we can harvest our poor crop, the insects descend.

We crab about the crab grass and attack it with vigah — using the same lethal stuff that worked when a neighbor sprayed it on the crabby stuff suffocating his Kentucky blue grass.

Us punk hayseeds, lacking the proverbial green thumbs, get — more crabgrass.

Punk gardeners apparently can demonstrate the touch of a green thumb only by dipping the digits in paint the color of healthy grass. Our grass, by the way, seldom is greener — no matter which side of the fence you peer at it from. Usually, it's browner.

I am a master among ordinary punk hayseeds. No green thumbs.

While other gardeners talk about their greatest success, I can hoot only about my biggest failure.

The little failures include a strawberry patch that last year sprouted violets. To keep stomach safe, we didn't eat the things. I let worse enough alone and tackled a new project — my biggest failure.

The new project: Hemming in the property with little rose bushes guaranteed to grow inches a week and eventually make a barrier that cars, bulls and crabgrass couldn't nudge.

Before buying the things, I made a few calculations. The conclusion: If the things grow as fast as promised, we just might be overtaken by roses by the year 2,000!

That seemed far enough away so we put out a sum not-so-small for several hundred of the miracle growing things. The night before planting, I had a nightmare — the creeping giants of rosedom grew so fast by moon's light that they started coming in through the windows!

The next morning, I looked at the fragile little plants and decided to forget the nightmare. After all, how could anything so tender and small overtake our cottage mortgaged?

Come what may, the things were planted.

Time eventually proved the come-what-may was more to be pitied than feared.

What I got after careful planting was hard to see. The terrible bushes grew less than the weeds around them.

Instead of developing into dreadful things that could stop cars and bulls, they grew up to be little - nothing sprouts resembling the finest Irish lace.

On the demerits of that venture, my greatest failure, I gained membership in the punk gardener's club.

If at first you fail—and usually fail—you, too, can qualify for membership. We only blackball the gardeners with green thumbs!

Wall Street Views

By JACK LEFLER
AP Business News Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—Smaller investors apparently are continuing to regard the stock market warily.

Two Wall Street analysts, discussing this situation in their weekly market letters, use the same word — skeptical — to describe the little fellows' attitude.

Small investors are skeptical of the market's future, and public interest in over-the-counter issues continues to be quite limited, says Walter Mintz of Shearson, Hammill & Co.

He suggests that the lack of participation can probably be traced to two basic factors:

—Many small investors suffered heavy losses in high speculative securities—particularly in over-the-counter stocks—during 1962.

—The market's recovery since last October was so rapid that many small investors were taken by surprise and by the time they were prepared to consider buying stocks prices had risen substantially.

The other analyst, Kenneth Ward of Hayden, Stone & Co., expresses belief that the market's current readjustment phase may prove to be the last opportunity to switch attention and abuy attractive medium and lower-price stocks at such favorable levels before the next upward phase.

The reason, he says, is that many good values have been held down to exceedingly low levels and a large segment of the public is still skeptical of the general market.

Sir Isaac Newton played with soap bubbles to discover the composition of light.

Charles Center Theater Planned

BALTIMORE (AP) — After a year of negotiation, Morris A. Mechanic made it official Tuesday: He will build a $4 million legitimate theater and retail shopping complex in the Charles Center.

Mechanic announced his long-expected decision on the final day of his option for exclusive negotiating rights on one block in Charles Center, Baltimore's downtown renewal project.

Mechanic owned the 92-year-old Fords Theater in Baltimore but sold it two years ago to the May Co. It is still operating but will be demolished eventually to make way for parking facilities.

Mechanic said final architectural plans for the new theater would be completed in about six months, he would begin construction late this year and the tentative completion date is October, 1964.

Caplin Defends New Tax Rules On Deductions

CHICAGO (UPI) — The new rules on tax deductions are aimed at curbing "abusive expense account free loaders," Internal Revenue Commissioner Mortimer M. Caplin said Tuesday.

Caplin told a convention of the National Restaurant Association that the IRS has no intention of hampering legitimate business expenses and he decried confusion that has arisen since the new rules went into effect last Jan. 1.

The new tax regulations, he said, are "not antibusiness, nor are they aimed at legitimate business activity."

"Every tax specialist who understands the new law, and who has carefully compared the statute and regulations, has concluded that the regulations are very fair and reasonable," he said.

Caplin quoted an article from the May issue of the industry publications "Institutions," which asked:

Does the restaurant industry want "to become identified in the public mind with lavish overspending?" Is it doing anything to "divorce itself from this image?" Is there any way for the industry as a whole to make a comeback, divorced from the expense account free loaders?"

Caplin conceded that confusion over interpretations of the new rules may have caused some businessmen to curtail entertainment spending, which restaurant men have charged has severely cut into their business since the first of the year.

However, he added that it was also "clear that certain expense account abuses are being curtailed" and that some companies were using the new law as an opportunity to place tighter reins on their expenditures.

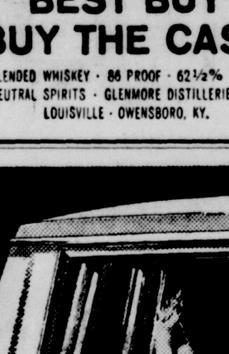

He urged the industry to join forces with the IRS in clarifying the rules and helping to curb abuses. Responsible restaurateurs, he said, want "everything they're legitimately" entitled to, and nothing more . . . "they're interested in their non-expense account clientele as well as their expense account customers."

Cuts Yarn Price

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Du Pont Co. said it has cut the price of dacron textile filament yarns by an average of 8 per cent. The company said it hoped the reduction would broaden the use of the yarn.

Chevy II Nova 400 6-Passenger Station Wagon

A Chevy II wagon looks this big when you load it up and this big when you gas it up

That, in the eyes of most Chevy II wagon owners, is just about the size of it. A king-size appetite for cargo. But a dainty one for gas.

And this, we hardly need add, is just the kind of wagon we planned it to be. Just the kind that makes loads of sense, too, these bright beckoning days when you feel the urge to pack up and go.

Taut and trim as it is on the outside, we went to great lengths to keep it BIG where a wagon should be BIG. The load platform extends a full nine feet from the back of the front seat to the tip of the lowered tailgate. Try that on your surfboards, camping paraphernalia and what have you.

And for all the pepper we packed into that 6-cylinder engine (you also have a choice of an even thriftier 4 in most models), we were careful to keep it simple, easy to service—and, as we say, a real stickler on fuel economy. From the way it nurses a gallon of regular, in fact, you'd almost think it makes its own.

Feel in a traveling mood? Well—happy coincidence—this is the time of year your Chevrolet dealer feels in his most generous trading mood.

Minister Urges Funerals Over Memorial Services

NEW YORK (UPI) — The modern practice favored by many clergymen of holding a memorial service instead of a funeral is being questioned as a "psychological detour" around the reality of death.

The Rev. Dr. Edgar Jackson, minister of the Methodist Church of Mamaroneck, N. Y., and an authority on counseling the bereaved, also questioned the quality of grief displayed by many persons. He said a person who grieves deeply over the loss of a loved one may actually be expressing more guilt than sorrow.

Jackson discussed "Grief and Guilt" in an article in "The Pastoral Counselor," a new journal dealing with religion and psychiatry.

"The Pastoral Counselor," published twice yearly by the American Foundation of Religion and Psychiatry, featured in its first issue articles by clergymen engaged in pastoral counseling, psychiatrists and a psychologist.

The memorial service, Jackson wrote, "is oriented to conscious needs and ignores underlying emotional ones." It "sets up a psychological detour around the reality of what has happened," he said, "by encouraging a refusal to view the remains, though it is this practice that frequently brings a full consciousness of death to the individual.

"A memorial service does not furnish the surrounding that make it easy to express deep feelings, nor does it furnish the opportunity to give group support to the bereaved. "What may appear to be intellectually valid may be psychologically unsound, and does quite the opposite from what is intended."

Jackson said the death of a loved one often is accompanied by emotional and mental disorders, "many of which stem not from grief alone but from the guilt that accompanies it."

"A combination of grief and guilt is quite natural," Jackson said, "For ambivalent feelings develop in any love relationship. The finality of death makes their resolution impossible."

He said one must recognize the difference between grief and mourning, defining the latter as "a feeling of loss of a beloved one" and of shorter duration than grief. More unconscious factors are involved in grief, with the bereaved sometimes feeling in his unconscious that his hostility was responsible for the death.

Ministers can help people realize that grief is a healthy emotion by encouraging them to "let out" feelings through tears and free talk about their loss, Jackson said.

Anderson will succeed C. Burke Elbrick, who has been ambassador in Lisbon since 1958. The White House said Elbrick's new post as a career diplomatic officer will be announced later.

Summer Vacations In The Caribbean Becoming Popular With Americans

By FREDERICK M. WINSHIP

Summer vacations in the Caribbean, once considered intolerably torrid at that season, are becoming more and more popular as American vacationists discover that the weather can be wonderful. Cooling trade winds provide natural air conditioning for many of the Carib islands. The North coast of Jamaica is particularly fortunate in this respect.

The 40-mile strip of Jamaica coast from Runaway Bay to Port Maria, loosely called the Ocho Rios area, is a summering spot par excellence until the rains come in late September. Between April 16 and Dec. 15 rates at most hotels, guest houses and rental cottages are down about 30-40 per cent. Combine this saving with the new 33 per cent reduction in British West Indian Airways fares from Miami to Jamaica, and you've got a real travel bargain.

Ocho Rios, with 17 hotels, four guest houses and 70 cottages, is less crowded than the perennially popular Montego Bay area. Its vegetation is lusher, its beaches more spectacular and the pace is definitely slower. This is no place for the swig-and-swing crowd, although there are several glorified modernistic hotels that attempt to simulate the excitements of Miami Beach.

Other medium size hotels emphasize family pleasures such as generous international cuisine with emphasis on spicy Jamaican dishes and exotic fruits; sports, including swimming, sailing, water skiing, skin diving and tennis; and occasional divertisements by Jamaican entertainers who specialize in calypso, limbo, stilt and crab dancing.

The sea and its denizens are always the greatest attraction. The coral reefs off Ocho Rios are exceptionally beautiful and glass-bottom boating is a major pastime. The many rivers in the Ocho Rios area provide freshwater fishing for mountain mullet, tarpon, snook and drummer in addition to the sea's complement of kingfish, wahoo, bonito and dolphin.

The jasmine-scented land has its attractions, too. By rental car you can take in the picturesque village of Ocho Rios; Dunn's Rivers Falls, a stairstep cascade that tumbles directly into the sea; the underground Green Grotto; Fern Gully, a jungle of ferns in a prehistoric river gorge; and further afield—Port Antonio with its exciting downriver raft ride through foaming rapids. Everywhere the landscape is dominated by buttressed cottonwoods, palms, polished breadfruits, bamboo groves, and red-blooming tulip trees.

Ocho Rios has its quota of free port shops with the usual outlay of English fabrics, Swiss watches, French perfumes, imported liquors and Jamaica rums. Art collectors should visit the White River Gallery, the only art gallery on Jamaica's gold coast, to see the work of Jamaican painters, sculptors and ceramists. Off the beaten shopping track can be found mahogany occasional furniture and woven cloth made by the Rastafari, Jamaica's eccentric, dissident religious sect.

To Acquire Company

MIAMI, Fla. (UPI)—Daryl Industries, Inc., an aluminum fabricator, has concluded an agreement to acquire the Royal Aluminum Corp, of Hialeah, Fla. Terms of the acquisition were not disclosed. Royal Aluminum, with manufacturing units in New Jersey, Illinois and California, had sales last year of about $1.5 million.

Adopt Transfer Rule

NEW YORK (UPI)—The American Stock Exchange has adopted a rule requiring all companies seeking new listings on the exchange to have a transfer agent in New York City. Transfer agents outside New York pose too great an inconvenience, the exchange said.

Star Of TV's 'McHale's Navy' Lives Lonely Life Off Camera

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—It's a long way from the South Pacific to Beverly Hills, but the distance is covered in 20 minutes by Ernie Borgnine when he leaves the set of "McHale's Navy" in the San Fernando Valley for his home.

The psychological jump is a big one, too.

From the zany camaraderie of actors who play his crew in the television series to the quiet, lonely life he leads off-screen is the difference between black and white.

Big Ernie, the friendly, outgoing bear of a man the public has grown to know, is all fuss and feathers.

Underneath he is almost a dead ringer for "Marty," the characterization that brought him an Academy Award in 1955. Thoughtful and easily bruised, Borgnine, for all his pals, is a loner.

When the day's work is done he hops in his gray Ferrari and maneuvers his way through the canyons to his white Mediterrean-style home.

There is no one at the door to greet him. No loving wife, no kids to frolic with, and these are the things this rugged man of Italian extraction holds most dear.

Once inside he goes to his little bar for a beer or a scotch and soda highball. His housekeeper prepares dinner — her name is Tolla Diaz—and Ernie eats alone. Then he switches on the television set, studies his lines and goes to bed.

If that's the glamour life, you can have it.

Ernie is in the middle of winning a divorce from his estranged wife, Mexican actress Katy Jurado. Another ex-wife has custody of an 11-year-old daughter, Nancy.

Ernie looks forward to his visits with his little girl, taking her to Disneyland, to restaurants for dinner and on long drives up and down the Pacific Coast highway. When the walls of his home seem to crowd him a little too much Borgnine jumps in the Ferrari for a lonely spin up and down the beaches by himself.

Better Than Fighting

"Living alone is better than fighting," the big fellow says philosophically. "I'm not even thinking of getting married again."

On the weekends the star of the ABC-TV comedy series often plays golf at public links, shooting in the 80s and 90s. When time permits he putters around in the garden surrounding his home. Roses are Ernie's specialty.

His pride, however, is a 120-foot high deodora pine tree that looks down on the red tile roof of his nine-room home.

"My favorite sport is sleeping," Ernie says from time to time. "I can't seem to get enough sleep. Maybe that's because I spend so much time watching television."

It is a sleepy-eyed Borgnine who reports to work some mornings after staying up half the night watching the late, late show. He's an avid view of old movies.

He also defends televiewing as a pastime, saying that people who criticize video are intellectual snobs.

"Television isn't lowbrow entertainment," he claims. "You have to be highbrow to pick and choose the right kind of shows. I have a color TV set and it makes all the difference in the world."

Most of Borgnine's friends are outside the acting frattnity.

When he entertains at home it usually is to host a small dinner party on Saturday nights. Infrequently it's a post-dinner gathering around the bar followed by a stag poker game. His face lights up into a white-toothed grin when visitors spot his beaming Oscar atop the fireplace mantel.

The little statuette is a symbol of achievement to Borgnine, who takes his acting seriously.

But eventually the guests go home, the party's over and Ernie is alone again. His biggest regret is being a parttime father.

"I do the best I can, but it's not easy," he says. "In the long run if you show children the love and affection they crave, they grow up to be normal, wonderful, healthy persons. I think that's the way it is with Nancy."

Borgnine has made several movies in Italy in the past three years and his house is filled with mementoes of his trips to Rome, where he is something of a legend.

He particularly treasures an ancient music box he picked up there two years ago. It can be heard tinkling in the near-empty house when the television set is dark and it's still too early to sleep.

Ernie Borgnine is an altogether different man from the wacky Commander McHale of television.

They Shot A Missile In The Air

BELLUNO, Italy (AP) — Five students at a Belluno high school built a home-made two-stage "space missile" and fired it up from a field outside town. They claimed it attained a speed of 600 miles an hour and reached a height of 15,000 feet. There was some difficulty about proving it. The boys couldn't find where it came back to earth.

Where Franks Was Killed

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) — A battle between Indians and pioneers in 1780 gave this city its name.

Stephen Franks was killed by the Indians as he and other settlers crossed the Kentucky River here. His friends named the river crossing Franks' Ford—and 12 years later it was selected as the state capital site.

Presents Credentials

HELSINKI (UPI)—Carl T. Rowan Tuesday presented his credentials as new U.S. ambassador to President Urho Kekkonen. Rowan, 38, is one of America's few top Negro diplomats. He was undersecretary of state for public affairs before his Finnish appointment.

Divorcee Or Widow Faces Taboos On Remarriage

By MARGERY McELHENY

CHICAGO (UPI)—The divorcee or widow who marries for the second time often faces many taboos.

Take the matter of the white dress. It's not true that white is improper for a second wedding, say etiquette. The custom of a white dress has its origins in economics.

In early Saxon days, the poorer bride dressed in a plain white robe to show that she brought nothing with her to her marriage. This indicated that her husband was not responsible for her debts.

Although there is no restriction against wearing white, the bride's choice should be based on comfort. If she feels more comfortable in an off-white shade or pastel she can select beige, pink, blue, green or whatever is most becoming.

A veil symbolizes maidenhood, and is taboo for a second marriage. So is a formal gown with a train, since a formal wedding with many attendants is not in keeping for a second marriage.

The gown should be ballerina or street length, and instead of a veil, a small flower hat, a cap or a headdress complimenting the gown may be worn.

The style of the gown is determined by the time of day of the wedding, but shoulder and upper arms should be covered. If the bride wears an after-five or dinner dress, the maid of honor and bridesmaids should dress accordingly.

It is better to wear a suit or simple street dress if the wedding takes place at the pastor's home, say the experts.

The choice of engraved or hand-written invitations is governed by the number of invited guests. Hand-written invitations are correct for weddings of 50 guests or less. If more than 50 guests are invited, engraved invitations may be sent.

The invitation should carry the bride's full name, including her given name, maiden name and name by a previous marriage.

Guests are not obliged to present a gift to the previously married bride, but most will.

If you have been a widow or divorcee for a long time, you may invite to the wedding both families as well as close friends on both sides.

Etiquette does not determine whether children of a first marriage should be present for the second wedding. The choice is up to the engaged couple.

Whether the children directly participate depends on the type of ceremony. Since the wedding will be informal, there will be no flower girls or ring bearers. However, the daughter of the bride may be her mother's attendant.

Report "Unworthy"

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet mountaineer Alexander Polyakov, writing in the newspaper Komsomolskaya Pravda, said Tuesday that U.S. allegations the Chinese Communist Everest expedition failed to reach the top were "unworthy." He said Swiss climbers failed to find traces of earlier British and Swiss expeditions but no one doubted that the expeditions had been there.

Gets Army Order

MINNEAPOLIS (UPI) — The Onan Division of Studebaker Corp. announced it has obtained a $4 million Army order for generators and control panels. It is mainly for five-kilowatt, 60-cycle units with 2-cylinder air-cooled gasoline engines.

Although only about one-fourth of the United States population lives in the northeastern states, they receive nearly one-half of all the lamb and mutton that is used in the nation.

PRIEST REFUSES BOOK AUDIT—Declaring unhappily, "I'll be arrested before I comply," Msgr. William N. Wall, director of Mt. Carmel Center for Alcoholism in Paterson, N. Wall, whose center raises funds by selling clean rags to the New York Transit Authority, said an outcry from some unhappy low bidder started the whole thing.

Hollywood Actor Being Typecast As A Father

By GARY P. GATES

NEW YORK (UPI) — Howard St. John, for many years one of Hollywood's favorite father images, now has reached the ultimate in father imagery. He is to Washington what Raymond Massey once was to Lincoln.

Is is more diffcult playing the Father of Our Country than it is all those other fathers?

"Yes and no," replied St. John the other day over lunch at Sardi's.

"Fighting all that history is probably the biggest problem," he explained. "Everybody has some sort of idea of what Washington was like and you have to worry about that a little.

"But what must be remembered is that this was a man—an unusual and great man, of course—but still a man. Not a costumed figure in a history book.

"In some ways, though, playing Washington is easier because there is so much depth and richness to the character. An actor has plenty to work with.

"You mention 'all those other fathers' and that's exactly what they are. Anonymous, stereotyped business executives like the fellow I played in 'One, Two, Three' and Lord knows how many other pictures. I hate those one-dimensional roles. But," he sighed, "actors have to eat."

If St. John wanted to take the easy way out, he would never have to worry about eating, and in the best of style. He simply could devote the rest of his career to playing George Washington.

Already he has played the role three times on television and now, in the French spectacular, "Lafayette," he has brought it to the screen.

"I'm going to try and avoid the part from now on, tough. At least for a while. There is no quicker way to kill creativity in an actor than to typecast him and even though it's a great honor playing Washington, I don't want to spend the rest of my life at it."

Creating the role on four different occasions has given St. John something akin to a scholar's awareness of the Revolutionary period in American history.

"In that respect, it's been a great experience for me," he said. "My interest in the period has been revived for the first time—I'm ashamed to admit — since school days.

"And it seems to me we all can benefit from being reminded occasionally of what those boys went through."

"Lafayette," which focuses on the French aristocrat's young manhood when he became embroiled in the American Revolution and began his lifelong friendship with Washington, is being aimed for the international market and St. John feels that's the most important thing about it.

"If it was just going to be shown in this country and in other Western nations, I wouldn't think much of it," he said.

"The producers plan to distribute it all over the world and I'm hoping that it will remind people in some of those countries that are struggling now for their independence that we went through the same battle.

LONDON (AP) — A "Children Crossing Now" sign, electrically operated and with neon lighting, is to be tested as a possible way of cutting down on the policing of school crossings. The inventor, Harold Hawkins, won a $700 prize in the 1962 National Safety Contest Trust with the sign.

Japanese Are Masters Of Dozing

TOKYO, (AP) — Dozing in Japan is a fine art.

Most everyone dozes, but some do it better than others.

Actually, it's not considered nearly as rude to doze in the presence of others in Japan as it is in the West.

There was, for example, a recent case of a cabinet minister whose snores reverberated through the lower house chamber during an important debate.

When a colleague tapped him on the shoulder, he replied: "It's not that I'm snoring loudly. Get that microphone out of my way!"

There are many kinds of dozers —The inadvertent dozer, the intentional dozer, the subtle dozer, and so on.

It's the subtle dozer that has it over the others. He sits there arms probably akimbo, chin on chest, eyes closed. You can't tell whether he's trying to shut out everything around him to better concentrate on what the speaker is saying, or whether he's asleep.

It takes finesse and practice to do this, however.

Experts recognize the Japanese proclivity for dozing and say it has something to do with the diet — rice and fish.

There's also a saying for after-lunch dozers, "when the skin of the stomach stretches, the skin of the eyelids become slack."

Then again, some say it has to do with that balmy weather we've been having.

You have that problem too?

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP)—James Wilkinson, who came here in 1784, was credited with inventing a way to get tobacco to the world from this then-improving tobacco growing area.

He helped form a river armada that broke Spain's hold on the mouth of the Mississippi, allowing boats loaded with tobacco to sail anywhere in the world.

'Old' Singer Launches New Career As Actress

HOLLWYOOD (UPI) — Roberta Sherwood, a singer who hit the big time at an age when most people would have given up trying, is now becoming a movie actress.

Miss Sherwood's career came to a halt in the late 1930s when she settled down in Miami, Fla., to raise her family. She had appeared only in a small Miami night club that she and her husband owned. When he was stricken with a fatal illness, Miss Sherwood went to work in other clubs.

After appearing in Florida nightspots, she came to the attention of other performers, television producers and finally record company executives.

In 1956, Miss Sherwood, then 43 years old, first sang in Hollywood after successful New York and Las Vegas appearances. In a few months, she had risen from a $125 a week singer to one who commanded a weekly salary of $7,500.

At the time of her Hollywood debut, Miss Sherwood, looking unglamorous in a sweater, plain dress and glasses, described herself as "the oldest new star in existence."

"I've gotten nice letters from older people who had given up trying for success until they heard about me," she said.

Miss Sherwood took success in stride. Instead of squadering money on too many glamorous costumes, she continued to wear sweaters on stage.

Her only conscession to her new affluence was to buy more expensive sweaters. Even now, after almost seven years of well paid appearances in night clubs and television, she's still the same.

"I never loaded up with wardrobe," she said in the small office of her business associate. "You can only wear one dress at a time and an expensive one won't make me sing any better. I'm not going to compete with those slim waists."

Her sweaters and glasses have become a Sherwood trademark, a show business costume she came by accidentally.

"I wore the sweater the first time because I was cold on stage," she said. "And I wore the glasses because I saw better with them."

Now Miss Sherwood is embarking on a movie career. She already has completed a role in "The Courtship of Eddie's Father," playing a housekeeper. The picture's producer, Joe Pasternak, said: "She is liked all over the country. This was her first picture and I'm sure not her last."

Hollywood has a way of changing almost anybody who comes in contact with it and Miss Sherwood is no exception. However, in her case the changes won't be radical. She is getting rid of her sweaters in the picture and replacing her glasses with contact lenses.

"We're gonna try," said the cautious Miss Sherwood. "I don't know if the fans will like it. They're used to me that way."

Beatrice Lillie Scheduled For Broadway Play

By JACK GAVER

NEW YORK (UPI) — A major assignment for the coming Broadway season puts Beatrice Lillie in the cast of the musical being made from Noel Coward's successful comedy of about 20 years ago, "Blithe Spirit."

The noted comedienne, who has worked often with Coward in the past, will have the role of Madame Arcati, the wacky medium involved with a re-married man who can't get rid of the spirit of his deceased first wife.

The musical will be entitled "High Spirits." Timonthy Gray is adapting the play and will write the lyrics to the tunes of Hugh Martin, currently represented by the off-Broadway revival of "Best Food Forward."

Coward will direct the musical for producers Lester Osterman, Robert Fletcher and Richard Horner. The schedule calls for rehearsals to start Jan. 2 and first performance Feb. 3 in New Haven. Boston will get it Feb. 10, Philadelphia March 2 and New York March 31.

Coward will be involved earlier in the season as author of the musical based on Terence Rattigan's play, "The Sleeping Prince," starring Jose Ferrer.

Gertrude Berg, presently doing well at the Music Box in "Dear Me, the Sky Is Falling" by Leonard Spigelgass, vows that her next stage effort, a year or so from now, will be a musical.

The musical is in state of preparation by Spigelgass and Mrs. Berg, using an idea of the star. The Theater Guild, sponsor of Mrs. Berg's current play, will be in on the musical, if all goes well.

The successful revival of Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude" by the Actors Studio Theater will move May 27 from the Hudson, where it opened March 11, to the Martin Beck Theater. The latter is larger and has a better air conditioning system.

The play will close definitely on July 13. The producers intended that it run only four months because this is part of an eventual repertory scheme in which members of Actors' Studio are involved. Players cast in such productions are to be freed after four months of such service a year. "Strange Interlude" is scheduled to turn up in future seasons of the repertory.

Rip Torn replaced Ben Gazzara in one of the top roles on May 13 because Gazzara had a commitment to star in a new television series.

Craig Stevens, a popular television and film actor, has been signed to the juicy role of leading man in Meredith Willson's new musical for next fall, "Here's Love." The show will mark Stevens' Broadway debut. The leading lady was announced recently as Janis Paige.

Actress Paints While She Waits

By JAMES BACON

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Linda Rand lives in a tiny Beverly Hills apartment with three dogs and a Danish grandmother.

Already, that makes it crowded.

But Linda, waiting for the casting office to phone, took up painting a year ago. Now the tiny apartment has 250 canvases, most of them stacked like cordwood.

The blonde Danish beauty is a former model who once worked for Dior in Paris. Until a year ago, she never knew she could paint.

"I was attending classes at the Actor's Studio in New York," she recalls. "My apartment had some bare spots on the wall so I figured one way of covering them was to paint something.

"It was as simple as that."

She soon found that painting satisfied the same urge that made her change from the well-paying life of a model to the semistarvation life of a struggling actress.

"When I first started, I'd paint for hours at a time—sometime 10 or 12 hours at a stretch. If I couldn't afford oils, I'd buy housepaint.

"I once used cornstarch in mixing one paint but found that it rose overnight on me—gave kind of an unusual effect and always brings comment from other artists. They can't figure how I did it."

While still in New York, 20-year-old Linda gathered up some of her paintings and took them to a gallery on 58th Street. She was given a one-man exhibition and sold 20 canvases, some for $300 and some for $500.

The sale financed her trek to Hollywood where she has done most of her painting.

"Either I have to give another show or else get a bigger place."

Since coming to Hollywood a few months ago, Linda has had several roles in television series and important parts in "Critic's Choice" with Bob Hope and Lucille Ball and currently with Elvis Presley in "Fun in Acapulco."

"I've been very busy acting here. I still study, too. And when I'm not acting, I paint. I'm too busy to have the usual actress' problems."

She's also her own agent.

"I keep tabs on parts I can do and then I call up and say: 'I'm representing Linda Rand.' The next question usually is: 'And who are you?'

"Somehow, when I say 'Linda Rand,' they seem to get a kick out of it and they tell me to come in and read for the part."

One of her paintings is a satire called "Three Agents," or "Don't call us, we'll call you."

Linda is sometimes given to abstract expressionism. One painting of a rock 'n' roll guitar player she has retitled "Elvis."

"I took it on the set one day and showed it to him. His only comment: 'I'm not that good looking.'"

Linda has no studio, she just spreads her paints on old newspapers in a corner of the living room and paints away.

She's also unusual in another Hollywood way—she's a natural blonde.

"That's easy," he says, "when you have Scandinavian ancestry."

'Untouchable' Still Working

HONOLULU (AP)—Martin J. Lahart, one of Elliot Ness' "Untouchables" is still connected with the U. S. Treasury Department and works in Honolulu.

Lahart, quiet, mild - mannered and graying, lives in a new Honolulu subdivision and works at his downtown office in the Treasury Department's alcohol and tobacco tax division.

The former Ness agent says it was himself who, in effect, gave the group the "Untouchables" tag. He says he was driving on an assignment with another agent when a package of money was tossed into their car from another vehicle.

Lahart says he and his companion caught up with the second auto, threw back the money and said to Ness a few hours later, "At least this ought to show we can't be touched."

A newspaperman quoted the phrase and the label "Untouchables" became firmly affixed to the special force.

Lahart speaks to community groups here from time to time.

"I try to get across," he said, "the idea that what happened in the 1920s can happen again. The only way to prevent it is to be always vigilant."

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y. (AP)—There were 1,084 cases of beer at a big blowout here, but nobody drank a drop.

The blowout took place in a rear tire of a truck loaded with bottled beer. The faulty tire caught fire, which spread to the inside of the trailer and the beer began exploding, cases at a time. Firemen had to unload nearly half the cargo before they got the fire out.

HYDROFOIL MAKES NEW RECORDS—The United States Navy's new research hydrofoil, Fresh 1, skims across Puget Sound, on a test run. The unusual high-speed boat on a six-mile-long course exceeded 60 miles an hour. The craft is working up to a test run at 90 miles an hour with its present foil system.

Funds Expended To Keep Ghost Town Ramshackle

SACRAMENTO, Calif (AP) — California park officials, who hate to part with souvenirs of gold rush days, plan to spend almost $300,000 to keep ramshackle ghost town "in an arrested state of disintegration."

And instead of ducking behind their desks in the face of a taxpayers' revolt, they fully expect to receive the thanks of a happy motoring public for preserving a unique tourist attraction.

The town is Bodie, an abandoned mining center lying asleep on a gravel road in high, hilly country roughly between the Nevada border and Yosemite National Park, 8,375 feet above sea level in the Sierra Nevada.

More than 10,000 lived there in 1876 when it was the sinning "City in the Sky," the wildest mining town in the West.

But there's no longer any money in gold mining and the roistering population has dwinlded down to one — State Park Ranger Jack Evans, who says a stream of tourists and wandering herds of cattle keep him from becoming lonesome.

He patrols the few buildings that survived the fires of 1892 and 1932 and keeps youngsters away from the silent mine shafts from which $80 million in gold was taken.

There's also the famed Bodie water, so pure that six breweries operated in the town's golden years, producing a beer still remembered by thirsty oldtimers.

The state isn't going to change a thing.

"Leaning buildings, broken windows, sagging roofs are all assets," said a Division of Beaches and Parks spokesman.

Or, as another official put it, the state aims to preserve an appearance of "genteel shabbiness."

Bodie has always been a favorite spot for tourists. In the past, the private property owners hired a caretaker to protect it but now the state supplies Ranger Evans.

Last June, more than 11,000 persons, curious to see what happens to a town when everyone moves away, drove over the dusty road to Bodie.

They had to park on weed-grown streets and go thirsty unless the kindly ranger offered them a drink of water from his own water supply. They looked in vain for sanitary facilities and ate on the ground if they wanted to picnic.

The state does want to make it easier to visit Bodie — but not too easy.

Familiarity Breeds...

The National Safety Council estimates that traffic accidents account for almost half the accidental deaths to farm residents and that rural drivers in 65 per cent of all fatal traffic accidents in 1960 were less than 25 miles from home. The council concludes that driving too often over a road tends to make people less alert to possible dangers and more prone to be in too much of a hurry.

UNESCO Coupon Buys Learning Equipment

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — An intriguing type of stage money has become a powerful $50 million item in the buying of books, scientific apparatus and other learning equipment throughout most of the world.

It is the UNESCO coupon.

UNESCO is the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organization with headquarters in Paris. It is a perennial target for extreme right wing organizations in the United States.

Its stage money is a certificate issued in denominations of $1,000, $100 and down to $1 against the national currency of any country.

Students in Paris and Toyko, national libraries in Washington and Prague, and booksellers the world over are using the coupon as a free currency to stock the printed word and educational material.

Count out the Soviet Union, though. It has never used the coupons or allowed its students or citizenry to subscribe to Western or other publications with the coupons.

The coupon exchange last year totaled $9,035,000, bringing the take since 1949 past the $50 million mark. Of that sum about $19 million has flowed back to U. S. publishers and sellers of school equipment.

The coupons were first issued in 1949 by UNESCO when world currencies were still staggering and war-destroyed libraries remained to be restored. There wasn't a cent of metal backing for the coupons.

UNESCO sells the coupons to governments who inturn make them available to bookbuyers in exchange for national currency.

For instance, when the franc was soft currency, a young Paris student who wanted a U. S. history book couldn't send francs out of the country to buy it, nor could he prevail on his veogrnment to give him dollars for his francs.

But he could — and did, in droves — go to a coupon center, pay the franc value of dollars, get a coupon and give it to his bookshop. The bookshop with this kind of free currency was able to order and pay for the book without further restrictions.

The franc has hardened. So have other European currencies that have also become covertible with the dollar.

But the coupon habit grows, chiefly because of its convenience.

The Library of Congress in Washington uses them. So does Charles University in Prague once in a while.

And students all over Europe, Asia and Africa are making increasing use of the coupons — $71,000 worth in 1949; $158,000 the next year; $832,000 in 1952; $1.2 million in 1953; nearly $5 million in 1960; $6.1 million in 1961.

After the $19 million for U. S. materials, $10.8 million went to West Germany; $5.7 million to Britain; $3.5 million to Switzerland; $2.5 million to Belgium; $1.8 million to France.

The Congo got $6 million worth of coupons, allowing it to keep its war-torn educational system going during the last two years. Its investment of weak Congo francs allows the United Nations to exchange credits with UNESCO and thus helps pay part of the U. N. peacekeeping operation there.

Competition To Be Stiff For Golden Palm Awards

By PATRICK McNULTY

CANNES, France (AP) — A flock of bikini-clad starlets, international movie stars, top directors and a small army of film hucksters, press agents, newsmen and photographers in the May Riviera sun add up to this year's Cannes Film Festival.

Heading the Hollywood and Vine task force is Gregory Peck, who this year won an Oscar as the taciturn Southern lawyer standing up to bigotry in "To Kill a Mockingbird."

Other American stars attending include Bette Davis, Burt Lancaster and Alfred Hitchcock's latest protege, blonde Tippi Hedren.

Official U.S. movie entries are "Mockingbird" and "What Ever Happened to Baby Jane?" starring Miss Davis and Joan Crawford. They were selected by a West Coast committee designated by George Stevens, head of the film division of USIA.

There'll be stiff competition for the Golden Palm awards — the festival's version of the Hollywood Oscar. The international jury will consider entries of more than 20 nations from such scattered parts of the world as Japan, South Africa, Finland, Gabon and Venezuela.

There'll also be nightly Hollywood-type premieres, galas, parties and enough champagne poured at afternoon receptions to fill all the bathtubs in Laguna Beach, Calif.

On sunny beaches, hotel lobbies, cafes and bars, there will be hard-headed bargaining for the movies by international distributors. That, essentially, is what the festival is all about: a gaudy trade fair. Stars, starlets and circus-like hoopla are merely frosting on the festival cake.

The festival was set up in 1946 to give world-wide distributors a pleasant atmosphere in which to see, discuss and buy foreign films. There's an underlying business climate matching that of any American trade exhibition. Booths advertising various films are set up in lobbies of Mediterranean-fronting hotels. The film merchants may dress more colorfully in keeping with the Riviera informality but their talk is as businesslike as that heard at a men's wear convention.

"French rights won't do me any good—give me a price for all of Europe and the Middle East . . ."

". . . Better take my offer now . . . If the picture wins a Golden Palm it's triple . . ."

But despite all the business shenanigans, there's still plenty of fun in the Riviera sun. The festival has a continental atmosphere Hollywood could never match. Stars wander without fanfare during the day along the sun-drenched Croisette, loll in sidewalk cafes and sprawl on beaches by the soft-lapping Mediterranean.

Other festival goers find time between screenings and parties to soak up some sun or perhaps water ski off the picturesque shore lined with ornate hotels.

Publicity-minded starlets — the list includes Brigette Bardot — often have been a headache for festival officials. Perhaps the most photographically celebrated stunt was several years ago when an English movie hopeful shed her bathing suit top and leaped into the arms of a startled Robert Mitchum. Other incidents over the years prompted the mayor of Cannes last year to issue this warning: any starlet posing indecently or the photographer that takes the picture will be drummed out of town. Festival officials say there'll be a similar warning this year.

The Soviet bloc—a capitalistic eye on world movie receipts as well as propaganda—will be well represented this year: Russia, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Romania, Bulgaria, Yugoslavia and even Cuba.

Rare Minnow Found

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (AP) — A species of fish never before reported east of Montreal in Canada has been found in a small pond on Newfoundland's west coast.

The find was reported by the biology department of Memorial University here which says attempts are being made to find more of the rare fish.

One specimen of the umbra lima — a species of mud minnow—was found in Noels Pond on the Eastern Harmon United States Air Base by U. S. divers working voluntarily with the university in its marine studies.

Following Children

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Kids who visit the observation balcony at Standiford Field to watch the big airliners slip in under the pay turnstile. Airport officals don't mind a bit. The children usually draw their parents after them and it's a dime for big people.

FUND RAISER HELD—A professional fund raiser and public relations man, Jack E. Paramore, 32, was arrested in his apartment in New York and charged with transporting two 16th Century paintings across state lines. Police say he stole the two paintings from the Texas Art Institute two years ago. Reportedly valued at $30,000, the paintings, "St. Catherine" and "St. Barbara," allegedly were found in his apartment.

The whale, though a descendant of land animals that were hairy and four-legged, has a naked skin except for a few scattered hairs on the head. The only traces of hind limbs are a few bones hidden at the base of its powerful tail.

'Plebe Summer' At Naval Academy Like Butterfly Emerging From Cocoon

By TOM SEPPY

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP) — Every summer in Annapolis a new crop of high school graduates and selected young men from the armed services undergo a transformation something like a butterfly emerging from a cocoon.

The 70-day metamorphosis is known as "plebe summer" at the U. S. Naval Academy.

The recent high school grads part with well-groomed hair, natty sports coats and carefree civilian attitudes. The young sailors or enlisted Marines enter a new realm of military life.

All are molded into midshipmen, ready to begin a four-year academic course launching their careers as commissioned officers.

The course is exacting, but the promise is great. One of them could be another Nimitz or Halsey or Shepard or Schirra.

The most dramatic change comes on the plebe's first day. He receives a close-cropped Navy haircut, uniform, rifle and innoculation shots and is shown once how to make his bed and arrange his room for inspection.

From there on he is on his way in a bustling 10-week course that will help him master the customs, mechanics, routines, disciplines and ideals of the academy before upper classmen return in September.

He rises at 6 a. m. for a day of military formations, classroom recitations, study, field drills, organized sports, laboratory work and evening lectures.

As part of his preparing to get in step with the upperclassmen, the plebe takes indoctrination courses in military history and custom, physical education, weapons, elementary seamanship and naval language.

He also is given courses in mathematics, science, English, history, government, engineering and foreign languages.

Another section of the summer program is devoted to personal hygiene training and dental and medical examinations and care.

Unlike his future life as a midshipman, the plebe attends hourly classes all day, six days a week, and receives lectures in the evening. Upperclassmen have classes only until 3 or 4 p. m. and a half day on Saturday.

The plebe's day ends, after an hour and half study period in his room, at 9:55 p. m. Ten minutes later, it's lights out.

Most youngsters attending the academy are quite surprised by what they find there, despite all the literature, advice and "inside information" they receive before they reach the school on the banks of the Severn River.

A 21-year-old Sioux Falls, S.D., plebe, Peter A. Barnett, took the academy tests three times while an enlisted man in the Navy before getting his nomination.

Barnett, who attended plebe summer last year, said, "There's a whole world of difference between this place and boot camp. We have much more responsibility here. In boot camp, everybody went together . . . here, the responsibility is placed on the individual."

"A lot of fellows have done it before us," said Midshipman Alan M. Roodhouse, 17, of Palo Alto, Calif., reflecting a general attitude among the plebes that they could make it. Roodhouse entered the academy through a Congressional appointment.

"They work you hard and treat you rough. But all the time, you can see the purpose and the end," added Kenneth L. LeBrun, 18, of Pipertone, Minn., who entered through the fleet.

For some of the plebes, the end happens before it begins. The class of 1966 had 1,254 members take the midshipman's oath in June. During the summer there were 55 dropouts but they were replaced before the start of academic classes.

Parents' Weekend, just prior to the beginning of classes, concludes plebe summer and brings the fledgling midshipman his first liberty in the town of Annapolis.

Parents, guardians, sweethearts and friends who remembered their candidates as a young boy with casual posture and inaudible replies to questions find a straight-backed, stomach-in military man with a strong, positive answer to all inquiries.

The plebe can shuck the remains of his summer cocoon and spread his wings as a midshipman at the U. S. Naval Academy.

A foreigner is not allowed to enter West Point or Annapolis except by a special act of Congress.

PENNSYLVANIA — Treated water from the Monongahela River (which flows past Pittsburgh's Golden Triangle, in the background) is stored in this huge elevated tank of the South Pittsburgh Water Company. Funds of life insurance policyholders help the company build facilities like this to keep pace with water needs of more than 415,000 people in the south Pittsburgh area.

Life Insurance Funds Finance Water Facilities

Policyholders Money Invested In Projects

There is a relationship between water resources and life insurance concerning which most citizens probably have never given a thought.

Quenching America's fast-growing thirst requires a huge outlay of money each year for new water mains, reservoirs, dams, wells, pumps, pipes, valves and other equipment, according to the Institute of Life Insurance.

Experts foresee no shortage of water in the years ahead, if the nation builds new facilities to bring the water to an expanding population. The run-off of fresh water from Amerian streams is almost 20 times what is needed.

Money For Facilities

The big problem is money for the new facilities. Funds of life insurance policyholders are helping to solve this problem through an investment of more than $2½ billion in water companies, municipal water systems, water power facilities, sanitation, flood control, irrigation and water conservation projects.

Billions more in direct loans have been used in part to help industrial firms, farmers and home owners to develop their own water resources and to help industry dispose of factory wastes without polluting rivers and streams.

America's 122,000,000 life insurance policyholders now have an average of more than $20 apiece in America's water resources.

This money comes from funds set aside to meet life insurance companies' future obligations to policyholders. Until needed, part of each premium paid by policyholders is invested in the nation's economy. Investment earnings help to keep down the cost of insurance to policyholders.

Investments In Water

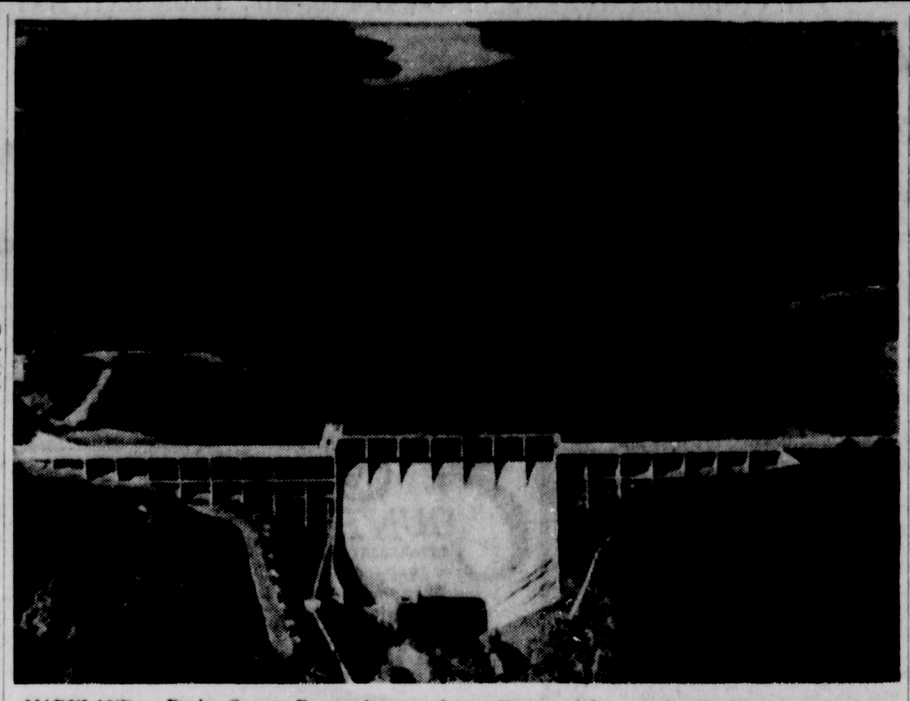

Growing use of water as well as population growth is causing more and more investments in water. Besides the daily average of more than 150 gallons of water that each American needs for such uses as drinking, cooking, washing, bathing and other personal uses, American industry and agriculture need about 1,500 gallons of water daily for each person in the country — to keep him supplied with food, clothing, shelter and all of the other goods and services he uses.

For instance, it takes about 10 gallons of water to make the paper for each copy of this newspaper. Each slice of bread takes 37 gallons of water. It takes 3,700 gallons of water to grow each pound of meat. Each ton of steel takes up to 66,000 gallons.

Considering that there are 187,000,000 people in the United Staes shows how much water must be collected, purified, pumped and piped to the nation each day. By 1980, the population is expected to reach 250,000,000, each of whom will use about 10 per cent more water than is being consumed today.

About 75 per cent of our water comes from rivers and streams which flow through the nation's valleys and lowlands. The greatest run-off of this surface water comes during the spring when rainfall is heaviest and the uplands yield their accumulation of winter snow. Funds of life insurance policyholders help water companies finance dams, reservoirs, tanks and other facilities to store this seasonal run-off the year round.

But in the southwest and other arid parts of the country, rivers and streams never bring enough water, even with storage facilities. There life insurance funds help to finance wells for tapping underground water sources.

MARYLAND — Rocky George Reservoir, one of two 800-acre lakes of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission stores Patuxent River water for the 650,000 people served by the Commission in Montgomery and Prince George's Counties. Life insurance policyholders' funds help the Commission keep pace with fast suburban growth near the Nation's Capital.

Russians Now Are Facing Traffic Jams

MOSCOW (AP) — The traffic jam, a clearly capitalist contribution to civilization, has come to Moscow.

Give or take a few cars, the congestion at some main Moscow intersections is beginning, inexorably, to resemble New York, London and Paris.

With this in mind, motoring Muscovites are asking: "Can the parking problem be far behind?"

You can still readily find a parking spot, but at the rate things are going it may not be so easy in a couple of years.

Much of the traffic congestion is due to the thousands of trucks that ply Moscow's main streets and to the swelling number of taxicabs.

No official staistics are available on the number of vehicles in Moscow.

But pedestrians, the underdogs here as well as elsewhere, will tell you that it's getting increasingly difficult to cross the street.

The government newspaper Izvestia pointed out that things are getting so tough for motorists that 20 to 30 drivers are quitting their jobs in Moscow every week.

They are changing their profession, Izvestia noted, because "the difficult and tense work of driving has become dangerous also.

"In the majority of cases," Izvestia continued, "the blame for road accidents has been placed on drivers. They have to pay with their good name, sometimes with money (fines) and sometimes even with freedom (jail)."

Izvestia said that because there are hundreds of thousands of drivers, the "problem of driver labor is a state problem.

"The training of drivers is badly organized here," the government organ added. "Drivers are given only 50 hours of instruction. During that time, the driver cannot learn to drive an automobile in heavy traffic. That is why most accidents happen to drivers who have been driving less than one year."

In addition to more instruction, Izvestia said "it would be a good idea" if all auto accident cases in the people's court were heard by one judge, an expert in such matters.

Better Profits Seen

HOUSTON (UPI)—M. J. Rathbone, chairman of Standard Oil Co. (N.J.) said Wednesday that the world's largest oil company is "confident" of "appreciably" better profits this year than last. Jersey Standard earned $840,903,000 or $3.88 a share in 1962.

Rathbone told stockholders at the annual meeting that "looking further up the road, I feel sure you can be assured of a bright future for your company."

Deal Falls Through

DETROIT (UPI) — The Ford Motor Co. said Wednesday that negotiations between Ford and Ferrari of Italy have been terminated.

Reports circulated in Modena, Italy, last week that Ford had offered Enzo Ferrari $16 million for the famed Italian racing stable. But the deal fell through.

Use More Checks

NEW YORK (UPI)—Bank customers used their checkbooks 5½ per cent more last month in 337 localities outside the major money centers, pushing "demand deposit turnover" to a new April high, the Federal Reserve Bank of New York said Wednesday.

Cattle Farmer Turns To Growing Daffodils

PACIFIC, Mo. (AP) — An 84-year-old farmer stopped raising cattle some years ago and turned to daffodils.

"Daffodils just seemed pretty to me and I guess that's why," said John Howe, who has been living in the same two - story farm house "since day before Thanksgiving 1894."

Now Howe makes his living with the daffodils. Visitors from all over the world can pick and choose from hundreds of the plants bulbs from one cent to a dollar.

Howe prepares no catalogs and has no literature describing his plants.

He depends on customers to spread his daffodils' fame and they haven't let him down. A few of his customers stopped by 40 years ago and have been coming back ever since.

Howe's farm is about a mile long and is kind of backwoods botanical garden where 300 varieties of daffodils are shaded by rare evergreens from China and Japan and magnolias.

"I remember I started with Sir Watkins — that's one of the early yellows — and unusually hardy. I sold a few and then I began looking around for other varieties. Pretty soon I was in business," Howe said.

Howe knows all the Latin names of nearly all the flora on his farm — not bad for a man who didn't make it past McGuffey's Fourth Grade reader.

Explains Sugar Panic

WASHINGTON (UPI) — An Agriculture Department official said Wednesday that tardy realization of the effect of Cuba's loss to the free world might account for much of the "violence" of recent sugar market reaction.

Lawrence Myers, director of the sugar policy staff of the agricultural stabilization and conservation service, said the "world sugar market is in a state of panic."

Permanent Agency

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Americans for Democratic Action (ADA) Wednesday urged Congress to make the Civil Rights Commission a permanent agency and to expand its duties.

Richard Sachs, a member of the national board of Ada, told the Senate constitutional rights subcommittee that the commission should also serve as a clearing house for information and a source of advice.

Midwest Helps Solve Problems In Space Age

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The Midwest may not be keeping its college graduates down on the farm, but the number seems to be decreasing of those who grab diplomas in science and engineering and immediately head for Huntsville, Ala., and the West Coast.

Reason is two independent, nonprofit organizations founded to provide research and development facilities in this part of the country, Midwest Research Institute and Linda Hall Library.

More than 40,000 persons visited the 300,000-volume library during 1962 and its director, Dr. Joseph C. Shipman, and his staff of 22 sent materials to 1,000 institutions in 47 states and 20 other countries.

The George C. Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., ordered close to 7,000 scientific or technical reports. And the giant space industries in California accounted for about one-third of all outside requests to the library.

Meanwhile, just a few blocks away, some of the 200 scientists of Midwest Research Institute solved one of the many problems of lubrication necessary to the success of our space vehicles.

This particular problem developed when a lubricant for gimbals in our rockets failed. Gimbals alter the direction of thrust from the engines and thus, the path of flight.

MRI came up with a film lubricant (molybdenum disulfide, graphite, sodium silicate and gold powder) which solved the problem and has been adopted as a standard application for gimbals in our rockets.

Dr. Charles N. Kimball, president of MRI, says one-third of the research is financed by trade associations and industry, a third directed to national defense and the other third sponsored by other federal agencies.

Among 200 research projects active at present, MRI is studying the behavior of refractory metals and ceramics from minus 45 degrees Fahrenheit to plus 3,000 degrees, the effect of flutter and vibration on the structure of airplanes and missiles; heat transfer problems using liquid metals; toxic effect of atmospheric pollution in simulated space cabins.

MRI also is doing research in cancer, antiradiation drugs, nutrition, detergents, market studies.

Speaking of accomplishments in 1962, Dr. Kimball says, "One was the NEAR (National Emergency Repeater Alarm) system for transmitting disaster warning signals over electrical utility lines.

"We now have a contract with the Office of Civil Defense for $1,130,000 to apply NEAR to 10 different utility networks throughout the country." The first installation is under way in Arizona.

Another major project concluded was development of a method to measure the vertical profile of airport runways.

The project was sponsored by the Air Force to eliminate the problem of runway roughness. Jets are more subject than prop planes to structural damage from ground-induced shock and vibration.

MRI came up with a device called the "profilometer" which measures the vertical profile, providing data on runway conditions.

Dr. Kimball says this program is an example of scientific findings which come to have many different applications.

"The profilometer has been adapted to permit Army engineers to determine the roughness of off-road terrain and help in the design of suspension systems for off-road vehicles.

'For an industrial use, the Southern Railway system is employing our concepts for automatic track leveling. The device has enabled the railroad to maintain twice as much track in a given time with 20 per cent less labor."

SPAIN TESTS A TASTE—Senorita Isabel Garrigues, daughter of the Spanish Ambassador to the U.S., explains to Jim Silman in Washington how a professional Spanish wine taster uses a "venecia." Designed in 500 B.C., the device has a flexible shaft with a silver cup at one end. The Spanish sherry expert dips the cup into a cask and whisps the shaft several feet to a glass without losing a drop. Senorita Garrigues is engaged to an American and she plans to live in the U. S.

Ann Landers . . .

Answers Your Problems

Dear Ann Landers: The window who lives next door is a woman in her 40's. She is pleasant but we have never said anything more than "Good morning" or "Good evening" to one another.

Our dining room window faces her bedroom window. Whenever my husband sees her bedroom light go on he rushes into the dining room and starts to play solitaire. The women never pulls her shades down. She would have to be blind not to see my husband facing her window, taking everything in.

I have never said a word to him about this because I don't want to make an issue of it. He is 73, and definitely over the hill so far as romance is concerned. I hope I have made myself clear. Any suggestions would be appreciated. — OLD DUFFER'S WIFE

Dear Wife: Don't just sit there like a clam with a broken hinge. Tell him you are wise and that you hope he is enjoying his second childhood.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm not dictating this letter to my secretary because she is out to lunch. But I'm so burned up I can't wait until she returns, so please excuse the mistakes.

I have telephoned my wife 11 times this morning at fifteen minute intervals. The line is still busy. This has happened to me before. Once I got so mad I sent her a telegram and told her to get off the telephone. On another occasion I asked the operator to cut in but she said her supervisor wouldn't let her cut in unless it was an emergency. I told her it WAS an emergency, that somebody was going to get shot. It didn't work.

Tell me, Ann Landers, how can a person gabble on about clothes, recipes, kids, gossip and other trivia hour after hour after hour? Don't their mouths get dry? Don't their arms get tired from holding the receiver?

Will you help me pressure the telephone company into an automatic shut-off after seven minutes? That's enough yakking for anybody. Thank you. — RUSS

Dear Russ: Sorry, but you'll have to get help somewhere else. To some women the telephone is useful therapy. They are stuck at home with kids, diapers, housework, cooking and laundry. Yakking on the horn is the most fun they have.

Why don't you ask your wife to free up the phone every hour on the hour for ten minutes and then you'll be sure to get her.

Dear Ann Landers: I am a mother whose heart is breaking. I raised eight children. My seventh child — a girl 18 — has just run off and married a boy none of us care for.

We believed she would get tired of him or see for herself that he was no good, so we let her spend as much time with him as she wanted. We even let her spend weekends at his home, at the invitation of his parents, of course.

My husband and I have a strong suspicion that our daughter ran off and married the boy because she is pregnant. We believe the whole mess is the fault of the boy's parents. They should have kept a closer watch. When I told off the boy's mother last week she slammed the receiver down in my ear.

Now the woman has poisoned our daughter's mind against us and she has cut us out of her life completely. What can we do? — MADE FOOLS OF

Dear Fools: Take turns kicking yourselves for letting your daughter do as she pleased — and vow to do a better job with your other children.

It was YOUR responsibility to guide the girl and to instill in her a sense of personal worth.

Parents who allow a teenage daughter to spend weekends at her boy friend's home and then blame HIS parents because they didn't keep an eye on them are looking for a scapegoat.

To learn how to keep your boy friend in line without losing him, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Necking and Petting — And How Far To Go," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Wait For A Phone

PARIS (AP) — The year 1963 looks better for the French telephone company, but not much better for people waiting for telephones.

Jacques Marette, minister for Post Office, Telephone and Telegraph, reported that money taken in by the ministry from revenues and investments should be up in 1963.

However, he added, it still won't be possible to have a "normal situation" in filing requests for new telephones. There is frequently a long waiting line at Paris.

New efforts are being made, though, he said, and the situation is beginning to improve.

The oldest royal throne in the world is that of Japan.

...American style

The money you're putting into U. S. Savings Bonds today will probably some day go into college tuition, or new furniture, or the walls of a new home.

Until you need it, this money is earmarked for a very important job. And you can be sure it isn't building a 27-mile barrier of brick, barbed wire, and concrete.

Every dollar you save with Uncle Sam goes directly into keeping our country strong, with its affairs in good order, so that we can carry on the struggle for freedom—at remote outposts, at conference tables, in outer space.

Tens of millions of American families have accumulated $45 billion in E and H Bonds—part of our strength as individuals. And part of the strength of the nation.

Start putting part of your savings to work for your country while it works for you. Buy U. S. Savings Bonds at your bank regularly or where you work, and see if you don't feel good about it.

Quick facts about U. S. Savings Bonds | 1. You get $4 back for every $3 when your Bonds mature. 2. Your Bonds are replaced free if lost, stolen, or destroyed. 3. You can get money anytime. 4. You can save automatically on Payroll Savings.

Keep freedom in your future with U.S. SAVINGS BONDS

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD — Looks to me as if Carol Lynley has lost pounds. She was having luncheon with E. Gregory Hookstratten, her lawyer, at the Beverly Hills Brown Derby.

She made a fast trip to Rome to do some scenes for "The Carried Back," probably because of the impending divorce suit. And I think her divorce from Mike Selsman is the real reason for her loss of weight. I had hopes that Selsman would settle out of court but apparently he has other ideas. Carol was loath to discuss anything about the coming divorce and it was pretty hard to talk with her lawyer present.

Carol says their baby is a doll. She had just taken her to a birthday party. "I wish you could have seen her," said Carol. "When I got her home she was covered with ice cream and cake. I had expected to bring her with us for lunch but she was so tired I had to put her to bed."

Tony George, who just returned from Tokyo and a visit to the Orient, called me to say he had met a young singer by the name of Susan Barrett, who sings in the Latin Quarter in Tokyo.

"She is so beautiful," says Tony, "and I'm trying to get her to come to Hollywood. Her mother is on my side—as she wants her to come back to America."

Tony leaves within a week to play summer stock in the East, starting with "Sunday in New York" at the Playhouse in the Park in Philadelphia. He then goes into "Come Blow Your Horn."

He said he was pleased in Japan that "Checkmate" is still running and having a spectacular success. He was in "Checkmate" with Doug McClure for over two years.

Jimmy Stewart, who is much more sentimental than he likes to let on, admits he felt a pang when he wrote finis to the long history of his family in the little town of Indiana, Pa., where his father, the late Alexander Stewart, had lived for all of his 89 years. What particularly gave Jimmy a pang was to sell his father's hardware store, a building 100 years old, where the elder Stewart started work as a boy and later became the operator and owner.

But there are no longer any ties back home for Jimmy. Even his stepmother has moved back to her native Canada following the death of her husband. "It's sad closing this chapter on a little town which has such deep memories for me," Jimmy said on the set of "Take Her, She's Mine" at 20th.

An impressed eyewitness telephoned to tell me of how Gower Champion, William Colleran (husband of Lee Remick) and Tom Waldman took their lives in their hands to stop a runaway car.

I called Lee to tell me the details and she said, "They are very brave, all three of them. Marge Champion, Mrs. Waldman and I were walking with our husbands after having dinner when this car, parked at the curb, started rolling down Sunset Blvd. The boys chased it, managed to get inside despite the speed it had picked up and undoubtedly staved off what might have been a series of frightful accidents in the path of the driverless car."

Charmed Life

HOUSTON, Ark. (AP) — Gary Bolling may not be a snake charmer but he is mighty lucky.

The 17-year-old boy picked up by the tail a five-foot snake about to swallow a squirrel and lugged it a mile through the woods to his home.

The next day he turned it over to a friend who supplies snakes to the Little Rock Zoo. The friend thanked Gary and congratulated him on his luck.

The snake turned out to be a canebrake rattlesnake.

Lock Me In The Cooler

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Liquor store clerk Roger J. Abbott took it calmly when two men waved a gun in his face.

"Now wait a minute, fellas," he suggested. "We're fully insured. I don't want any trouble. Why don't you lock me in the cooler like everybody else does?"

The robbers complied. They also took $160, a six - pack of beer and two cartons of cigaretes.

The bidding:

South attempted to guess his way in today's hand and, unfortunately for him, he made the wrong choice. His partner made the defeat doubly bitter by pointing out at the conclusion of the deal that declarer could have eliminated all guesswork in favor of a sure thing.

When the bidding reached West in third position he abandoned hopes of a slam and bid the full limit of his hand by opening with four hearts. North doubled but, since South's hand was primarily distributional in nature, he chose to take the double out by bidding four spades. West's loss at four hearts would have been a mere 50 points inasmuch as his honors all but cancel out the one trick penalty that could have been inflicted.

West opened the king of hearts against four spades and continued with the ace which declarer ruffed. South led a trump to the queen in order to ruff out the last heart. The ace of spades cleared up that suit and the three high diamonds were taken on the last of which a club was thrown from the closed hand. A diamond was trumped which stripped out the red suits.

Now a small club was led. West put up the ten and declarer permitted him to hold the trick as East followed with the eight. West continued with the three of clubs and, after considerable study, South chose to play low from dummy in the hope that East had the ace and would be forced to play it. East put up the queen of clubs, however, and on the return West's ace took the setting trick.

Whether or not South should have played West for the ace of clubs is certainly debatable. What is more significant is that he failed to realize the full potential of his stripping operations. When West shows out on the second round of diamonds, the hand becomes an open and shut affair. Instead of ruffing the fourth diamond, all South has to do is to discard a second club, permitting East to hold the trick. If East returns a club it will establish North's king. If he comes back with anything else, declarer can sluff his third club loser while he ruffs in the dummy.

Opening lead: King of ♠

It is fundamental strategy in the operation of a squeeze play that all inevitable losers must first be yielded to the opposition. South's failure to act upon this principle cost him the game contract in today's hand.

West chose to ignore his partner's overcall in diamonds, and selected the king of spades instead for his opening lead. East followed with the six and, when the king held the trick, West continued with a small spade. East was in with the ace and he shifted to the king of diamonds which was won in the dummy.

South correctly diagnosed from East's failure to continue spades that he was out of the suit which made it appear likely that he had length in both of the minor suits. Declarer accordingly decided to see if some pressure could be applied in that direction. His first step was to ruff a diamond in his hand. Next came the ace and king of hearts. When everyone followed, South was in position to ruff another diamond removing West's last card in that suit.

Declarer now played his last trump. East still had two diamonds left in addition to his original club holding, and he was able to discard a diamond safely, retaining the queen as protection against North's seven of diamonds. When the clubs failed to break, declarer fell one trick short of his goal.

South made his mistake relatively early in the play. After winning East's diamond shift at trick three with dummy's ace, it was all right to ruff a diamond in his hand, but he should take this opportunity to concede another spade trick to West. East will be forced to make an immediate discard, presumably a small diamond. When South plays off his last trump subsequently, East is down to one diamond and four clubs and is unable to defend. If he throws the queen of diamonds, North's seven becomes established. If he discards a club instead, South will be able to win four club tricks.

The British fought the Boer War against the African settlers, who were largely of Dutch descent.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Disguise For The Full Figure

Don't be tempted to buy a dress or a suit that you hope will fit sometime in the future. Never let yourself be seen in anything tight—nothing makes you look fatter. Have everything altered as much as needed for easy fit. Choose a silhouette that curves slightly, lines that draw the eye up and down, simple tailoring, and trimness. Avoid side fullness in skirts and thick, transparent, or shiny fabrics.

Elongate a short, thick neck with collarless necklines cut lower than the base of the throat, with V, deep oval, or vertical openings. When there is a collar, make sure it's flat, narrow and perhaps pointed.

Insist on ease for the cut of armholes but avoid exaggerated sleeves. Take trimming with restraint on blouse, jacket or dress areas that cover an over-large bosom, trims that are flat and vertical or diagonal, not fluffy or horizontal.

Don't try to pinch a smaller waistline—it will emphasize bulges above and below. Stick to narrow belts that match, never contrast, and wear waist-length boleros or dressmaker jackets that are never longer than two inches below the hip bone.

And don't forget for a minute that posture has much to do with how plump you look. Slump down into your bones and you're solid and thicker than ever. Stand tall, chin up, shoulders back, abdomen in as you should and poundage minimizes.

As they talked recently a pig touched the auger and dropped dead. The machine had developed an electrical short.

Geisha Widow Of Morgan Dies

KYOTO, Japan (AP) — Oyuki Morgan, the beautiful geisha wooed and wed by a nephew of American multimillionaire J.P. Morgan in 1905, died this week in her native Kyoto. She was 81.

Her husband, George Dennison Morgan, died in 1915, leaving her $400,000. Most of this, however, was spent paying debts.

Oyuki died of consumption at the home of her niece.

Born the youngest daughter of a Kyoto swordmaker named Kato, she entered a geisha school at the age of 10 and was given the name Yuki-ka—Snow Fragrance.

Her beauty and art soon won her the reputation of being the "No. 1 geisha" of this ancient capital.

Young Morgan was struck by her charms when he came here during a world trip in 1905 and brought out her geisha contract for about $20,000. She was then 23 years old.

275 Attend County Clinics

A total of 275 patients were seen at two recent clinics conducted at the Allegany County League for Crippled Children by physicians from Children's Hospital School, Baltimore.

At the cerebral palsy clinic conducted by Dr. Winthrop M. Phelps, 61 patients were seen including three new. Two were discharged. This clinic is held twice yearly and the next will be sometime in the fall.

Eight children from Garrett County, referred by local physicians, also attended the cerebral palsy clinic.

Dr. George O. Eaton held an orthopedic clinic for two days and saw 214 patients including 46 new. There were 13 discharged and 5 recommended for admission to Children's Hospital School for surgical procedures.

The next orthopedic clinic will be July 19-20 with Dr. E. David Weinberg and another with Dr. Eaton is scheduled for September 20-21.

KAREN MILLER

Karen Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Miller, 707 Columbia Avenue, has been selected as "Miss Future Nurse of Allegany High School" by a vote of the members of the FNC of the school.

A senior, she has been treasurer of the club and is reporter for 'Candlelight Express', a monthly newspaper published by the Woman's Auxiliary of the Medical-Chirurgical Faculty of Maryland.

She has been a member of the Future Nurses Club of Allegany for two years. Members of the club gave 172 hours of volunteer work for Sacred Heart Hospital during the year. She works in the school first aid room and attended the FNC convention for two years.

Members of the club made favors for children in both hospitals during the various holidays. She and other members of the club have pen pals at the County Home and have sung Christmas carols at the Home, Infirmary and Sylvan Retreat.

Miss Miller has been accepted by Goshen (Ind.) College on a scholarship. She is a member of the Cumberland Mennonite Church and of the church Youth Fellowship.

The club members made a tour of Johns Hopkins University recently.

The club officers for next school year will be installed Wednesday in the school library. Officers are Donna Hamilton, president; Sandra Ott, vice president; Audrey Sharp, secretary; Caroline Drumm, assistant secretary; Nancy Hoskins, treasurer; Carol Jean Bittinger, chaplain, and Ruth Ann Geppert and Patricia Reed, historians.

Tommygun Is Stolen At Frostburg

An elaborate display of guns proved too tempting for someone in Frostburg early yesterday and as a result a Thompson submachine gun was stolen.

Frostburg Police said a wide variety of firearms was on display in Ford's Drug Store, East Main Street, in conjunction with the Antique Gun Show to be presented Saturday and Sunday at Clarysville Inn by Frostburg Junior Association of Commerce.

Police Sgt. Edward Bevans said someone threw a brick through the drug store window between 4 and 5 p.m. yesterday and picked the sub-machine gun from the collection, apparently not bothering anything else.

Owner of the gun, John Martin of Grahamstown, warned the thief that any attempted firing of it could result in serious injury. Martin said the weapon had been deactivated, the barrel having been welded closed. Attempts to insert and fire a shell, he said, could result in the gun exploding.

Sgt. Bevan and Patrolman Karl Hetz are investigating.

Vicious Circle

LEGHORN, Italy (AP) — It was a vicious circle, Policewoman Giannelli said when she reported breaking up a band of small boy thieves.

The boys, she said, learned how to make petty thefts by going to crime movies. Then they stole to get money to go see more movies.

Roeder Protests Tax Assessment

Eric W. Roeder, 808 Trost Avenue, appeared before the Allegany County Board of Commissioners Tuesday to request some adjustment in his tax assessment on property in the North End section.

Roeder also said that some adjustment should be made for trees which were cut down near the old reservoir above the county farm. He claims the trees were his property.

John Stitely, supervisor of the County Assessing Department, informed the board that Roeder last year had exhausted all the procedures which must be followed under the law governing assessment protests.

Stitely said that Roeder could submit a protest on his 1964 taxes and request a hearing before the commissioners. Gorman E. Getty, attorney to the board, told Roeder what information he must furnish so that the matter could be considered.

Church Addition Work Will Begin

Work on an addition to Fairview Avenue Methodist Church will be started in the near future, it was announced at a recent meeting of the Official Board.

Robert Webster, chairman, said a strawberry festival and bake sale will be conducted in the social hall of the church as a kick-off to a fund campaign for the addition.

Mrs. Ruth Caldwell and Mrs. Betty Dawson were named co-chairmen of the benefit, which will be held from 4 to 7 p. m.

Webster said the two-story addition will house Sunday School rooms and an office-library on the second floor, and utility rooms on the first floor. The present kitchen will be enlarged and modernized, he said.

Three Favored For Sanitary Post

The Cresaptown Community Council in a letter to the Allegany County Board of Commissioners Tuesday recommended three men for appointment to the expanded County Sanitary Commission.

They are Dirk Vandenberg, Gerald Pase and Joseph Wenrick. Another letter from C. A. Liller, Cresaptown, recommended Wenrick.

Under legislation passed at the last session of the General Assembly the sanitary agency will be a seven-man group. The current sanitary unit has three members, all of whom will automatically be members of the larger unit.

The county commissioners will soon name the new board.

Continuing Gold Deficit

Business continues to show signs of rising at a pace that may even satisfy those economists who have been complaining that the increase earlier in the year had been too slow. Both the manufacturing and consumer sectors of the economy contributed to new records in April.

According to the Federal Reserve Board, industrial production rose to a record 122.4 per cent of the 1957-59 average, the largest monthly advance since June of 1961. The previous high was set last March at 120.6, and in April 1962 the level was at 117.7 per cent.

The increase in production sent non-farm employment to a new high of 56.2 million compared to March's previous peak of 55.9 million. And consumers seemed to be in a buying mood, too. Retail sales spurted in the week ended May 11 to $4.8 billion, a 3 per cent increase over the comparable week of 1962. Borrowing for installment purchases was also at a record pace.

But there's a blot on the good news. The Commerce Department reported the U. S. deficit in its international payments account rose in the first quarter of this year to an annual rate of $3.3 billion. The total deficit for all of 1962 was $2.2 billion.

Last January's dock strike was no help, of course, to the nation's foreign payments position. And there were other circumstances which the department aptly describes as "aggravating." Among them was the absence of advance repayment of debts by foreign countries and large purchases of foreign securities by Americans.

So far this year, the government's gold supply has dwindled by $150 million, indicating that overseas creditors prefer payment in the precious metal to dollars. Foreign investors apparently do not want dollars encumbered by a prospective $11 billion budget deficit.

These Days

By John Chamberlain

Crossing An Old Canal

To reach my home I have to cross an old canal, a relic of the early Nineteenth Century, which once carried freight and passengers from New Haven, Connecticut, to Northampton in Massachusetts. The canal consumed a lot of local capital in its building, and lasted only a few short years before the railroad put it out of business. Crossing the bridge over the canal always reminds me of the ceaselessness of change in America. It always makes me impatient with those who want to protect things as they are.

On this particular day I crossed the canal bringing with me the newspapers which told the story of the Chrysler automobile company's investment in the turbine car. When I was last in Detroit this was something to whisper about—and most people who had heard about the turbine were sure that it would never be practicable in crowded traffic, where quick starts and stops are necessary. But here was the news: the Chrysler company was about to put fifty turbine cars on the road on an experimental basis. If the cars should prove themselves out in traffic, then mass production might follow.

Here was the ceaselessness of change again. If the turbine goes over, the shifts in the American economy that will follow out of it are incalculable. Before the automobile era, oil companies made their money out of kerosene, and gasoline was a throwaway product. Well, the turbine will run on kerosene. What does this portend for the oil companies? Will it render their expensive investment in refinery equipment obsolete?

Whatever the future may hold, nobody can stop the turbine car if it is really an advance in motor travel. But how different things would be if there were an Interstate Commerce Commission or a Federal Communications Commission to sit in judgment on the Chrysler experiment in turbines. Before the turbine could be put on the road there would have to be endless hearings in Washington, D. C. The oil companies would have to be heard. Inasmuch as a turbine engine is a relatively simple thing, the impact of its widespread adoption on the employment of automobile mechanics would have to be considered. The ramifications of this sort of thing could be endless, and they could very well result in keeping the turbine off the market for years.

If you consider this statement as an exaggeration, just think back to the history of television. In the Nineteen Twenties David Sarnoff of R.C.A. became interested in the inventions of Vladimir Zworykin, a Russian who was then working for Westinghouse. Zworykin had filed a patent application for the iconoscope, which is a key to the transmission of images. Moving into an R.C.A. laboratory in the Thirties, Zworykin worked on devices to increase the clarity of television reception. Meanwhile another inventor, Philo Farnsworth had worked out a different system of television.

Through their own work, and through cross-licensing with British companies, Zworykin and Farnsworth had television ready to go by 1936. But the F.C.C. sat on the whole business. All sorts of excuses were offered. The public must be protected against wasting their money on something that was still in an experimental stage. People's investments in radio sets must not be destroyed. And so forth and so on, until finally, in 1940, a limited commercial use of television was permitted. The British, on the other hand, had been enjoying television since 1936.

The strangling hand of the F.C.C. is still felt today, keeping experiments in pay-as-you-see television limited to small, circumscribed areas. Yet all the mechanical elements of a trustworthy pay-as-you-see system were worked out fifteen years ago.

Even worse than the F.C.C. has been the I.C.C., which has regulated the railroads into their present decrepit state. I haven't the space to go into this here, but anyone who wishes to meditate upon the effects of the I.C.C. on American transportation would do well to read Christopher Stone's enlightening article on the subject in the Spring issue of the "New Individualist Review," published at the University of Chicago.

The turbine car may come to nothing. On the other hand, it may transform the entire American economy. But if the government had anything to do with it, the Germans or the Italians would be getting a whack at it long before its appearance on an American road.

How Long Can We Ignore Danger In Cuba?

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The greatest danger to the security of the United States today is in Cuba. There is enough Soviet military strength remaining on the island to launch an attack on this country.

Yet the American people are being led to believe that Soviet military strength in Cuba is negligible and that an attack is as unthinkable as the missile build-up last year was supposed to be.

This was the reasoning used by government agencies here in the autumn of 1962 to minimize the meaning of the Soviet troop movement and of the preliminary steps for the setting up of missile bases.

The most important official document on the Cuban situation has received only passing attention in the last eleven days from the American people. No announcement has been made of what the Kennedy administration intends to do about the facts that have just been disclosed. There are no signs that the Soviet government is being prodded to get its troops, technicians and military equipment out of Cuba, or that any demand is being made to permit on-the-spot inspection in order to find out whether any missiles are still concealed inside the island.

The latest word to the American people about the gravity of the Cuban situation comes not from Republican critics trying to make a political issue but from a subcommittee of the Committee on Armed Services of the United States Senate headed by a Democratic chairman, Senator John Stennis, of Mississippi. All seven members — 4 Democrats and 3 Republicans — signed the unanimous report. It tells the unvarnished truth about what has happened and points out a lesson for the future. Here are some extracts from the report, dated May 9, which was written after hearing for many weeks secret testimony given by the intelligence agencies of the government, civilian and military:

"While a reasonably competent job was done in acquiring and collecting intelligence information and data, in retrospect it appears that several substantial errors were made by the intelligence agencies in the evaluation of the information and data which was accumulated. . . .

"Even though the intelligence community believes that all (strategic missiles) have been withdrawn, it is of the greatest urgency to determine whether or not strategic missiles are now concealed in Cuba. The criticality of this is illustrated by the fact that, assuming maximum readiness at pre-selected sites, with all equipment pre-located, the Soviet mobile medium-range — 1,100 miles — missiles could be made operational in a matter of hours. . . .

"Some other sources — primarily refugee and exile groups — estimate that as many as 40,000 soviets are now in Cuba. Bearing in mind the lack of hard evidence on the question and the substantial underestimation of last fall, we conclude that no one in official United States circles can tell, with any real degree of confidence, how many Russians are now in Cuba and we are of the opinion that the official 17,500 estimate is perhaps a minimum figure. . . .

"The evidence is overwhelming that Castro is supporting, spurring, aiding and abetting Communist revolutionary and subversive movements throughout the Western Hemisphere and that such activities present a grave and ominous threat to the peace and security of the Americas. . . .

"It is agreed that iron-clad assurance of the complete absence of Soviet strategic missiles in Cuba can come only as a result of thorough, penetrating on-site inspection by reliable observers. . . .

"The importance of making every effort to ascertain the truth with respect to this matter cannot be overemphasized. The criticality of it can best be illustrated by the fact that the testimony established that, upon the assumption that all missiles and associated equipment and the necessary personnel were readily available near pre-selected sites in a state of complete readiness, mobile medium-range missiles could be made operational in a matter of hours. Thus, if these missiles and their associated equipment remain in Cuba, the danger is clear and obvious. . . .

"Assuming without deciding that all strategic weapons have been withdrawn, there is the ever-present possibility of the stealthy reintroduction of strategic missiles and other offensive weapons, using the Soviet forces still in Cuba as camouflage and security for the activity. . . .

"Potentially, Cuba is a base from which the Soviets could interdict our vital air and sea lanes. It can now be used for the air, sea, and electronic surveillance of our military activities in the Southeast United States and the Caribbean.

"Cuba's airfields could serve as recovery air bases for planes launched against the United States from the Soviet Union."

This means that the range of certain Soviet military planes has been increased substantially. They need fly only one way in a surprise attack, drop bombs on the United States and land in Cuba.

Yet in the last few weeks nothing has been done to insist upon on-site inspection in Cuba by the United Nations or by any other agency. The Kennedy administration has retreated on this point, and only an informed public opinion in the United States and throughout the world can bring about an advance — to verify what has actually happened.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

TWO SESSIONS ANNUALLY?—Sen. Warren G. Magnuson, D-Wash., has come up with a new wrinkle to improve the workings of Congress. He proposes two sessions each year, with the second taking place late in the year for the specific purpose of dealing with federal budgetary matters.

Comments the senator: "Congress is the only parliamentary body in the world which doesn't divide its work so as to let its left hand know what its right hand is doing?

Under a bill Magnuson has introduced in the Senate, normal legislation would be considered between Jan. 3 and July 15, at which time the President would submit his budget message.

Congress would then adjorn to reconvene in November for the fiscal session. The President would be required to show the amount of proposed appropriations and expenditures and list total government assets. This information would permit the legislators to act on the federal budget with all of the pertinent facts at hand.

No incidental part of the reform would be to place government finances on a calendar, rather than a fiscal year as at present. This move alone would have the great effect of permitting at least an erudite few to understand some of the ramifications of government finance.

What To Do For The Asthmatic Child?

By Theodore R. Van Dellen

A Texas mother from San Angelo has a real problem. She writes: "I have a 13-year-old son who has had bronchial asthma since he was 19 months old. We are worried about his health and his school work and want your opinion. I must admit his asthma is not as severe as it has been, but recently, his sinuses have been giving him trouble, causing severe headache."

The adage that tots outgrow asthma is true occasionally but this child demonstrates the more frequent situation. It is senseless to wait for spontaneous recovery because other problems crop up to complicate the picture.

There is no substitute for finding and eliminating the cause. Pollen is suspected when asthma recurs at the same time each year. Housedust, molds, animal dander, and feathers are possibilities if the child is plagued by wheezing all year 'round. Other clues are obtained when the attack follows eating certain foods, a respiratory infection, or an upsetting emotional situation.

When the origin cannot be found, there is nothing to do but gives medicines that offer temporary relief. These include epinephrine, isoproterenol, an antihistaminic agent, potassium iodide, or—finally—one of the corticosteroids.

But this is only part of the story. This woman is concerned about her youngster's health and his school work. Most children with a chronic ailment develop anxieties and emotional difficulties at school and in the home. These factors often aggravate existing asthma.

Change of climate is one of the oldest approaches to the problems of the asthmatic. I am not familiar with the climate in San Angelo, Texas, but Arizona and New Mexico often are called ideal. Colorado and Florida also are mentioned.

But moving has its drawbacks and may not be successful unless the cause of the asthma is known and a trial period has established the fact that the new location is helpful. When the wheezing youngster benefits, authorities may give credit to the separation of the child from the family rather than to the warm dry air. Here again, the emotional aspects of chronic asthma enter the picture.

(Dr. Van Dellen will send leaflet on bronchial asthma if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request).

SUGAR AFTER CANDY

H. J. writes: Will sugar show in the blood of a nondiabetic after she has eaten a lot of candy?

REPLY

Yes. When candy is eaten by anyone, the sugar level in the blood will go up within an hour and then return to normal. The same happens in the diabetic except that the level remains elevated for two or more hours thereafter.

MEASLES VACCINE

Mrs. W. writes: Is the measles vaccine now given to all infants like the other protective shots?

REPLY

No, in that the exact prophylactic program has not been worked out on a national basis. But public health authorities are watching the results carefully.

PROSTATE AND FERTILITY

W. T. writes: Could a man become a father after his prostate is removed?

REPLY

Yes, theoretically. The prostate does not manufacture the sperm. It forms some of the fluid in which these germ cells are carried to the outside.

EXERCISE AND VEINS

W. D. writes: Can a person with varicose veins of the knee safely dance, skate, and bowl?

REPLY

Yes, provided there are no complications such as swollen ankles or varicose ulcers.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of diseases will be answered Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is enclosed Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

Sir Alec Guinness sat listening patiently while a compatriot droned through a long, pointless story. To make matters worse, he mumbled so that only one word out of three were intelligible. Nevertheless, when he completed his tale, Sir Alec laughed long and loud. He explained later, "I always do. If you don't laugh, the bloody bores usually tell the story all over again."

An after-dinner speaker had droned on endlessly. "After partaking of this evening's superb repast," he continued, "I feel that if I had had one single bite more, I would be unable to say a word." From the rear end of the room came an order to the waiter, "Bring him a sandwich quick!"

Asked why he had spent the past thirty days in jail, a young delinquent explained, "All I did was borrow a little money." "Since when do they jail people for borrowing money?" jeered a new acquaintance. "They do in some cases," said the delinquent. "Mine, for example. I had to knock a man down four times before he agreed to lend it to me."

Republican Probers May Hit Pay Dirt With Grumman Investigation

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The four Republican Congressmen who are demanding a probe of Democratic contributions by Grumman Aircraft may have struck more political dirt than they realize.

The four Congressmen are irate over letters written by Grumman Vice President J. B. Rettaliata urging Grumman subcontractors to buy advertising in the Nassau County Democrats' journal to be distributed at a big $100-a-plate Democratic dinner.

This, while against the political rules, was peanuts compared to the reported Grumman contribution to the big $1,000-a-plate dinner given by the Democrats for President Kennedy last winter. The dinner was staged largely by Texas oil men under the benign and energetic guidance of Bedford Wynne, a Murchison executive. Later, Wynne got his reward a special interview with the President. What other rewards will be forthcoming in a soft approach when it comes to plugging the oil tax loop-holes, remain to be seen.

But the biggest purchasers of $1,000 tickets, in addition to the Texas oil crowd, were officials of Grumman Aircraft. Significantly, this was at the very same time General Dynamics and Grumman were angling for the $6 billion TFX contract.

Repeated inquiries at the Democratic National Committee have failed to elicit the names of the big $1,000 ticket buyers. This falls apparently in the realm of "managed news."

Under the law, all political contributions must be filed for public inspection. However, the Democratic National Committee stated that the names would be filed in due time, but not as dinner ticket buyers — merely as contributors.

If the four GOP Congressmen dig deeper, they may find some paydirt.

"Waste Basket" Helm

This column owes an apology to Speaker Stuart Helm of the Pennsylvania Legislature, who is also president of the "General Assembly of the States." This is an organization which has managed to sneak three constitutional amendments through various state legislatures, pulling the power of the U. S. Supreme Court, prohibiting any federal court from ruling on reapportionment and permitting state legislatures to amend the Constitution over the heads of Congress.

The earlier column reported that Speaker Helm had been employed by the Sun Oil Company, dominated by the PEW family of Pennsylvania, who are among the biggest national contributors to the GOP.

I now find that Speaker Helm is still employed by Sun Oil. Furthermore I find that I underestimated Speaker Helm's influence with the state of Pennsylvania.

A statement filed with the clerk of the Pennsylvania House of Representatives has recently turned up showing that Speaker Helm was able to persuade the state to pay $43.20 for one waste paper basket for his office.

In addition, he spent $702 for a desk with special English antique brass; $480.60 for three executive side arm chairs; $655.26 for a sofa "upholstered in gold brocade fabric on white background fabric especially Scotchguarded."

Nor is this all. Speaker Helm spent $566.06 for two wing-back chairs; $684.24 for two special tub chairs; $324 for a console unit; and $267.82 for two mahogany lamp tables. Total to equip the Speaker's office at the expense of the taxpayers was $4,354.18.

My apologies to "Waste Basket" Helm for understating his power and position.

However, my previous estimate of his efforts and that of his organization to put state legislatures ahead of the federal government remains unchanged. He and his Florida colleagues have enlisted new support from C. Stanley Mechem, Republican majority leader of the Ohio Senate, the man who makes the boys bounce at Columbus.

Though the Ohio Senate had killed the constitutional ban against reapportionment in committee, Sen. Mechem has now got into the act and persuaded the committee to reverse its 5 to 3 negative vote to a 6 to 3 favorable.

It will be interesting to see what Gov. "Dusty" Rhodes does about these amendments which would transfer the USA from a union to a confederacy.

Behind The Headlines

The recent racial strife may cause a serious recession in Birmingham. Even before the outbreak, the big steel companies had curtailed their mining operations in the Birmingham area. The city fathers sought new industries from the north to take up the economic slack. But these have now been scared off by the racial violence. . . . Attorney General Robert Kennedy has been trying to gauge who really speaks for the majority of Negroes in this country. Throughout the Birmingham turmoil, he was on the phone to Negro leaders of all persuasions. He found the one who seemed to command most respect was Dr. Martin Luther King. . . . President Kennedy's civil rights aide, Lee White, has his desk stacked high with telegrams on the Birmingham race riots. At least 98 per cent of the wires urged the President to take a stronger stand for Negro rights. However, White went through the telegrams for consecutive ideas to help solve the problem, didn't find a single practical suggestion.

Escape To Real Life

By John Crosby

CANNES, France

The corpses are piling higher and higher here at the film festival. The Variety man on the scene, one of the few unfortunates who has to see every picture, is keeping count for the rest of us who are not so unlucky as he (we don't have to go to the pictures).

"Thirty-eight bodies," he reported gloomily in the bar of the Carlton. "And it's only the halfway mark."

This has been the bloodiest film festival on record. Not that there is anything new about corpses in the films. Films have been strewn with corpses since "The Great Train Robbery," but these corpses seem bloodier than the average. In Alfred Hitchcock's "The Birds" a guy is shown, eyes pecked out by birds, the sockets gushing blood.

"Tell me about 'Hari Kari,'" I asked the Variety man. (Poor wretch! There must be some other thing he could do for a living.)

"He did it with a wooden knife, couldn't get the knife in, for quite a while. Several people fainted."

In "What Happened to Baby Jane?" Joan Crawford gets starved almost to death by Bette Davis. In "Les Abysses" an old woman is beaten to death by a flat iron. In "The Queen Bee" Ugo Toganzzi is literally — how shall I say it?—loved to death by his young wife. In the Polish picture the hero gets done in with a brick. Oh, it's been jolly, jolly fun.

Marcia Morton, wife of Frederick Morton who wrote "The Rothschilds," has been catching all the flicks, she can't think why. "When I was a child in the slums," she said to me, "we used to go to movies to get away from the sodidness of our life. We'd creep to the movies. The screen would light up in technicolor, full of beautiful women in gorgeous gowns doing beautifully romantic things. Then the screen would go dark and we'd be back in our own black and white lives again.

"Here everything is in reverse. The screen is black and white and the people are eking out their miserable lives up there, being utterly wretched, starving, living in garrets, creeping about the streets looking for food, being oppressed. Then, finally, mercifully, it's all over. The screen goes dark. The lights go on. My God, the theater is full of lovely women in beautiful ball gowns. The men are in dinner jackets.

"We leave the theater. We're on the Riviera! The beautiful blue sky! The Mediterranean looks like a sapphire. Everything is in technicolor around here except the lousy movies. We go to the festival and have a divine dinner and then we go to the casino and look at all those handsome men losing their shirts and all those glamorous surroundings. That's the sort of scene they used to have in movies.

"But, then, the bad times come again. We have got to go to the movies. Everyone groans. The men put on dinner jackets. The women put on their gowns. Then the lights go out. The screen lights up with black and white. We have our two-and-a-half hours of misery poured all over us.

"We can't wait for the movies to be over and escape back into real life again where things are so beautiful and life is in color again."

It is a rather astonishing reversal. But then maybe that is the function of the movies in the affluent age.

You go to the movies to escape whatever your lot is and, if life is comfortably and boringly affluent, then you go to see a little misery and for a moment you're taken out of your shell. Anyway, that's the way things are in the film festival at Cannes 1963. Now, if you'll pardon me, I'm going to go for a real life swim in the technicolor sea.

I've hired a man to see the movie this afternoon—some gritty things about the dreariness of life in Hungary. In the Civil War you could hire men to take your place in the ranks. Here you can hire someone else to sit in your place and with luck get through the festival without having any escapism inflicted on you at all.

HELLO NEW YORK — Actress Ann-Margret smiles as she arrives in New York to begin a series of press and TV interviews for her latest film, "Bye Bye Birdie." The singer-dancer has recently been linked with Eddie Fisher, the singer.

New Prison Designed For Rehabilitation

MARION, Ill. (AP) — The new federal prison at Marion, surrounded by fences instead of walls, has the look of a college campus.

That's the way it's supposed to look.

Prison authorities who designed the institution hope its appearance and atmosphere will induce inmates to work harder at rehabilitation.

If their estimate is correct, officials foresee an increase in the rate of discharges. And the Marion prison will have provided a pattern for building additional federal prisons.

The prison, with ultramodern industrial facilities, will be ready for occupancy by 50 prisoners this spring.

Its first inmates will come from various midwest penal institutions and will be put to work preparing Marion for full occupancy of up to 700 prisoners in 1964.

Eventually, it is expected some of Marion's inmates will be transferred from Alcatraz, a gloomy island prison in San Francisco Bay. Alcatraz is being closed by the government.

The lack of walls around the 1,200-acre Marion prison has no effect on security at the institution. It's considered escape-proof. Guard towers overlook a double row of high fence. One of the fences is connected to sensitive, electrical warning devices that sound alarms in the event of an escape attempt.

Through fences and wide cellblock windows, inmates will have a view of rolling hills and woods surrounding the prison.

But the area outside can be reached only through a network of tunnels leading to a single, underground portal manned by guards.

All hallways and air ducts lead to the underground tunnel system.

Closed-circuit television scans hallways where guards are not present.

Marion is the 32nd prison in the federal system and the first to be built in 20 years. It is situated on land owned by the government in the Crab Orchard National Wildlife Refuge of Southern Illinois.

A number of innovations in prison construction have been used to make Marion a more liveable place and a better place to rehabilitate criminals.

Bars on windows are horizontal instead of vertical, providing a better view from cells.

Courtyards and walks within the prison are landscaped.

Walls will be painted in bright colors selected with a psychological purpose — to lift the spirits of imprisoned men.

Outside air is circulated constantly through cells to reduce the feeling of confinement.

Vertical pillars along exterior walls are designed to break the monotony of the traditional square style of prison architecture.

Practical considerations were used in constructing the pillars. The columns lack sufficient depth to hide a man's figure.

The prison chapel, like other buildings, is accessible only from inside the prison area. It has barless, stained-glas windows but each window is barely wide enough to admit a man's arm.

Security was a major factor in construction of the walls. They are five to eight feet thick and reinforced with steel.

Some concessions to security have been hidden.

Aluminum window frames and sashes appear vulnerable but they conceal tool-resistant steel bars.

Marion is designed to accomodate about 700 prisoners, slightly more than the maximum recommended by modern penologists.

However, federal officals believe the open atmosphere will reduce the desire to escape and make it possible to guard up to 1,000 inmates with the same security measures normally used to guard 500 inmates.

Marion is costing $10 million, about $15,000 an inmate. For comparison, officials estimate it costs $3,500 to provide dormitory housing for a college student.

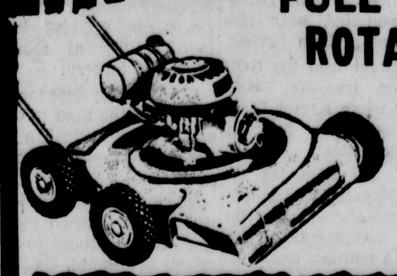

The average rate of growth of the fingernails is a little more than one and one-half inches a year.

Plans Are Progressing For South End School

Plans are progressing for the new junior high school in the South End on the Feeney farm property, according to Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

On Monday the Feeney farm was inspected by representatives of the architectural firm of Johannes and Murray, Silver Spring along with Robert Wilson, surveyor, and Webster.

Webster said Wilson is not only making an exact survey of the tract but is also drawing up the topography of the land so that determination of the school location can be made.

The survey is needed so that a description of the land may be incorporated into a deed so that the formal purchase of the 18 acres of the 27 acre tract can be finalized. The Board of Education is paying $4,150 per acre for the 18 acres needed to the Feeney family estate.

The facilities in the new junior high will be the same as those slated for the new junior high in the North End on the county farm property adjacent to Holland Street and Franklin Street.

Both schools will in effect be "twins" as far as the classrooms, gymnasium, auditorium and similar facilities are concerned with the terrain deciding the general type of structure. The Feeney farm property is much better suited for school purposes by virtue of the terrain, according to school officials and the architects.

Much of the basic architectural work which has been done on the North End school will be used on the South End structure and this should speed up the specifications and drawings and other engineering data needed.

Once the exact location of the school is decided upon within the 18-acre tract the architectural work can be started. The delivering of the deed to the Feeney family estate will also speed up progress on the project.

Making the inspection trip with Webster were W. M. Lonkhuyzen of the Johannes and Murray firm and Robert W. Cotton and Mark Harris, who operate a firm of engineering consultants out of Washington. They have been brought into the project by the architects.

$9,655 Award In Land Case

A jury in Circuit Court has awarded $9,655 to the owners of a property on Central Avenue in a condemnation suit brought by the State Roads Commission.

The property is needed for the Cumberland Thruway project and the "friendly suit" was brought mainly to clear up title to the land, according to SRC attorneys.

The owners include Charlotte I. Ruppert, Vincent Ruppert, Robert Ruppert, and Clifford A. and Irene M. Thomas. Associate Judge W. Earle Cobey presided during the case.

County Worker Given Status

Mrs. Dorothy Daychak has been given permanent status under the Civil Service system by the Allegany County Board of Commissioners.

Mrs. Daychak has been a probationary employe in the county tax collector's office and Francis Philpot, tax collector, said her work had been satisfactory and recommended permanent status.

Mrs. Daychak, 118 Oak Street, is an officer in the Fourth District Women's Democratic Club of Cumberland.

ABL Rocket Helps Boost Dummy Case

Rocket motors which were designed and developed and for a period manufactured, at Allegany Ballistics Laboratory continue to be used in space probes by the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

Early yesterday, the space agency launched a 400-pound dummy reactor about 100 miles high to test what would happen to it on re-entry into the earth's atmosphere.

The dummy reactor was sent aloft on a four-stage Scout rocket, with the third and fourth stages being ABL motors, the X-248 Altain and Antares. The Scout is the only space vehicle using all-solid fuel.

Neither are presently being manufactured at the rocket facility here, with plant officials reporting the dependable Altair now is being manufactured at the Naval propellant plant at Indian Head, Md., close to the Wallops Island site where the shot was sent aloft yesterday.

Yesterday's firing was the first in a series of tests aimed at the study of possible radiation hazards from nuclear-powered devices aboard future satellites and space ships.

The dummy reactor was designed to break apart when it entered the atmosphere, at which time gold dust and other metals were released to represent nuclear fuel that might escape from a real re-entering reactor.

Glowing hot from atmosphere friction, the metals served as tracers to help scientists study dispersal patterns.

Bid Awarded For Work At ABL Site

The construction work at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Rocket Center, W. Va. will be done by a Rockville, Md., company.

The firm of Thomas Yoder of Rockville submitted the low bid of $346,700 for emergency repair work on some 150 buildings at ABL. The bid was accepted yesterday. Work will start immediately.

The announcement of the bids, which were opened Tuesday, was made yesterday by the office of U. S. Senator J. Glenn Beall.

The work is the result of the earthshaking explosion at the 1,600-acre complex in the early morning hours of Saturday, April 27.

The explosion, which killed three workers and injured 10 others, damaged almost every building located on the Naval facility which is operated by the Hercules Powder Company.

Ruins From 19 Centuries Ago

SANREMO, Italy (AP)—Buried ruins of an ancient Roman fortress town have been found on Monte Carlo, inland from the Italian Riveria. Archaeologists said the walls were of exceptionally huge stone blocks. They estimated that the fort town had been inhabited in the First Century A. D.

Bedford County Primary Election Results Listed

BEDFORD — The vote in the nomination of Republican and Democratic candidates Tuesday for the general election next November 5 in Bedford County was light with about 60 per cent of the GOP votes being cast and 45 per cent of the Democratic votes.

Election officials said those nominated won handily.

Robert Foy and John Ritchey, Republicans, and Emmens E. Buchanan and Elmer C. Claycomb, Democrats, will vie for the three posts as county commissioner. This system provides that there will be always be a minority member of the board.

Nominees for high sheriff will be J. Wayne Manspeaker, Republican, and S. Percy Foor, Democrat. They won out over five other candidates of both parties.

Robert K. Sweet won the GOP nomination for treasurer over Cyrus S. Over while Ernest Claycomb was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

Elizabeth C. Ott beat Ira W. Wentz for the Republican nomination for prothonotary while Edwin E. Daugherty was unopposed for the Democratic nomination.

S. Alton Barefoot, Republican and Edward A. Shields, Democrat, will vie for coroner. Both were unopposed.

Ona B. Casteel and E. Belle Hershberger will be Republican candidates for county auditor while James W. Holler and Kate B. Secrest are the Democratic candidates. The three top vote getters will be elected auditors.

In the local option referendum on sale of alcoholic beverages three districts voted heavily against and will remain "dry." They are West St. Clair and Liberty Townships and St. Clairsville Borough.

Fake Student Back In Jail

Robert Larmar Beaman, who at one time presented himself as an exchange student from Norway on the campus of Frostburg State Teachers College, is back in trouble again with the law.

Beaman, who has a long criminal record, was paroled in Allegany County Circuit Court on December 6, 1962 after being found guilty of four separate counts of forgery.

Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris sentenced the man to one-year on each count and then suspended the sentences and placed him on probation.

However, county authorities this week were notified that Beaman has been sentenced to the federal prison in Atlanta, Ga., for a four-year period.

Authorities at the prison informed the Allegany County State's Attorney's Office that Beaman was sentenced to four years in United States Court for the Western District of South Carolina for interstate transportation of a motor vehicle.

State's Attorney James S. Getty secured a bench warrant against Beaman and forwarded it as a detainer to authorities in Georgia.

Beall May Seek Third Term

BALTIMORE (AP) — There has never been a Maryland Republican elected to three successive terms as United States Senator, but J. Glenn Beall probably will try next year.

Beall has never lost a general election. He served five terms as a representative before being elected to the senate in 1952.

The senior Maryland senator attended inaugural ceremonies here Tuesday for Republican Mayor Theodore R. McKeldin whose election, despite an overwhelming Democratic registration, was enough to hearten any GOP hopeful.

Beall said he has been travelling extensively throughout the state recently "trying to find out who other than Beall wants Beall to stay where he is." The 68-year-old statesman added, "I like my job."

And unless there are some radical changes in the interim, Senator Beall is practically certain to make a formal announcement late next fall that he is going to the post once more—that he will file for renomination in next May's primary election.

In a state where Democrats outnumber Republicans by almost three to one, he has made a career of getting along well with Democrats.

For weeks now, he has been accepting engagements in all sections of the state. And his office said that many Marylanders of both the political and non-political varieties, have been coming to see him in his Washington office.

Lower Court Ruling Is Upheld By Jury

An Allegany County Circuit Court petit jury yesterday upheld the judgment of a trial magistrate who earlier this year heard a civil suit involving $200 balance due on a furnace and radiators.

The original suit brought by Lena M. Thrush of Keyser, W. Va. against Jesse and Eunice Keplinger, of McCoole, was heard January 9 by V. Browne Kooken, of Westernport, who was trial magistrate at that time.

He passed judgment in favor of the plaintiff and the defendants entered an appeal to the higher court. Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided at yesterday's trial.

New and Easy

Money-Saving Main Dish

Glistening with a brown sugar-pineapple glaze, ham and yams is a wonderfully tempting-looking main dish, and is as good as it looks. A truly sparkling dish to set before the family.

The nice plump meat balls are made of ground ham and pork, neatly seasoned with sage. Evaporated milk is used to blend and bind the meat mixture so that the balls stay shapely and retain a juicy moistness throughout the baking, and for fork-tender good eating.

HAM AND YAMS

2 large or 3 medium sweet potatoes
¾ teaspoon salt
½ cup brown sugar, firmly packed
½ pound ground fresh pork
½ pound ground smoked ham
½ cup fine dry bread crumbs
¼ teaspoon rubbed sage
Dash of pepper
1 egg
½ cup evaporated milk
1 can crushed pineapple (9 oz.)

Boil potatoes in jackets until tender. Peel and slice into 1-inch slices. Arrange slices on bottom of a buttered baking dish (12 x 8 x 2 inches). Sprinkle with ½ teaspoon of the salt and ¼ cup of the brown sugar. Mix pork, ham, crumbs, the ¼ teaspoon salt, sage, pepper, egg and evaporated milk thoroughly. Divide and shape into 12 balls and arrange on top of potato slices. Spoon crushed pineapple with its juice over the meat balls and sweet potatoes. Bake in preheated moderate oven (350° F.) 10 minutes. Remove from oven and sprinkle the remaining ¼ cup brown sugar over all. Return to oven and bake 40 minutes longer. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

Note: A 12-ounce can luncheon meat, drained and shredded fine with a fork, may be used in place of fresh pork and ham.

End Apple Pie Boil-Overs With A New Recipe Trick

NEW YORK, N. Y. (CFN) — The problem is licked. Here is a sure fire way to make an apple pie that will never boil over. Good news for anyone who has ever been stuck with the job of cleaning an apple-pie burn from the oven.

The trick is this. Fill the pie crust with sliced apples and bake it dry. Then when it is cooked, pour a cinnamon syrup through the top crust. It will penetrate the cooked apples and give a delightful juciness and flavor to the pie.

Never-Boil-Over Apple Pie

1-2-3 pastry for 2-crust pie
6 medium apples
Cinnamon Syrup

Divide pastry dough in half; use the larger part for bottom pastry. Flatten slightly and immediately roll out between two pieces of waxed paper. Wipe table with damp cloth to prevent paper from slipping. Peel off top paper, place pastry in 9-inch pie pan paper-side up. Peel off paper and fit loosely into pan.

Pare, core and slice apples; arrange in pastry-lined pan. Roll out top crust in similar manner as for bottom crust. Cut circle from center large enough to insert end of funnel, and cut slits to allow steam to escape.

Place pastry over apples; seal and flute edge as desired. Bake in 400 degree F. (hot) oven until crust is well browned and apples are tender. Meanwhile prepare syrup, timing it to be finished about the same time as the pie. (15 minutes should be adequate). Remove pie from oven and immediately insert funnel into center of pie. our Cinnamon Syrup into funnel about ⅓ at a time, tilting pie after each addition to allow syrup to spread evenly.

Cinnamon Syrup

3 tablespoons corn oil margarine
1 tablespoon corn starch
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon salt
½ cup light or dark corn syrup

Melt margarine in small saucepan. Blend in corn starch, then sugar, cinnamon and salt. Mix in corn syrup. Stirring constantly, bring to a boil and boil 5 minutes.

1-2-3 Pastry

2 cups sifted flour
1 teaspoon salt
½ cup corn oil
3 tablespoons cold water

Mix flour and salt. Blend oil in thoroughly with fork. Sprinkle water over mixture; mix well. Press dough firmly into ball with hands. If too dry, mix in 1 to 2 tablespoons more oil.

Pork Loin Roast Is Superb For Sunday Dinner

On Sunday, whether or not company is coming, most families gather for a special dining-room dinner. The best linens, china and silver are often out, and a superb roast may grace the center of the table.

Next Sunday, make the roast a scrumptious pork loin roast. Since you want to make this meal extra-special, garnish the platter prettily and serve a sauce to complement the meat . . . like a sweet and spicy plum sauce.

Today's pork is lower in calories and even has its place in a reducing diet.

Pork Loin Roast—Spiced Plum Sauce

4 to 6-pound pork loin roast
Salt and pepper
Spiced Plum Sauce

Have backbone removed from loin. Season. Place fat side up on rack in open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer so bulb reaches center of thickest part. Do not cover. Do not add water. Roast in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 3 to 4 hours or until meat thermometer registers 185 degrees F. Allow about 35 to 40 minutes per pound for roasting. Serve with Spiced Plum Sauce.

Spiced Plum Sauce

1 can (1 pound 14 ounces) plums
3 tablespoons cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
⅛ teaspoon allspice
2 tablespoons lemon juice
1 tablespoon butter or margarine

Drain plums, reserving juice. Cut plums in half and remove pits. Combine cornstarch, salt, cinnamon and allspice. Add to plum juice and stir well. Cook, stirring constantly, until thickened and clear. Add plum halves, lemon juice and butter or margarine. Cook just until heated through. Yield: 3 cups.

Week's Food Economies

Seasonal increases in food supplies offer a wider variety to interest family appetites. You may treat your family to a bounty and still stretch the food dollar, says Virginia L. McLuckie, food economist in the Baltimore Office of the University of Maryland Department of Markets.

There are excellent values in protein on todays' bountiful market. Pork and pork products are attractively priced. Current supplies are running above last year in fresh pork and cured products. Attractive sales will be found in margets. Fresh pork roasts from the loin and rib section make ecomical servings of the very finest quality protein. Cured pork shoulder and hams and bacon are in liberal supply. Remember to cook fresh pork well done before serving regardless if you serve roasts or chops.

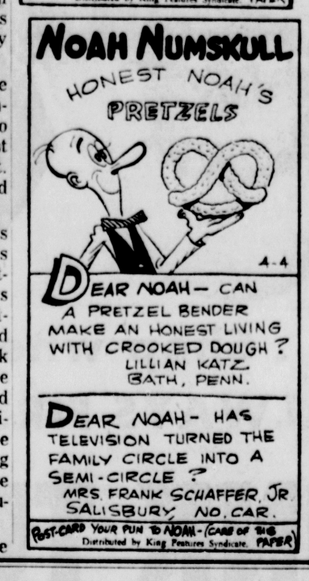

The poultry industry is also supplying the market with best buys in protein in the form of fryer chickens and eggs. In 1962 broiler - fryer chickens made up over two - thirds of the total poultry meat supply. Chicken is one of the most versatile and easy to prepare meats we use.

Egg prices are low. Two large eggs equal four ounces of complete protein and cost eight to ten cents. This is the lowest cost protein serving on the market. Grade A eggs are recommended for quality.

At the produce counter supplies are increasing seasonally. This week's economies are iceberg lettuce, green peppers, cucumbers and green onions. Most of the lettuce on retail counters is of good quality. It is a good idea to look it over carefully to see that the leaves are crisp and green and the head fairly firm. Some mositure is desirable in storing lettuce but an excess will cause browning and wilting. Green peppers are good Vitamin C sources particularly when eaten raw.

Maryland strawberries are available. Auctions have started on the Eastern Shore in Princess Anne, Salisbury and Pittsville.

Beef Pot-Roast Given Popular Italian Flavor

The flavor of Italian cookery caught on long ago and is now very much a part of our own culinary tastes. For this reason, Italian Pot - Roast ought to be a hit with all.

The appetite-satisfying beef is accompanied by tomatoes and savory herb seasonings. The slow cooking blends the different flavors into a magnificent whole and makes the meat tender.

Pot-roast are not only well-liked, but their economical price tag is a great budget aid.

Italian Pot - Roast

3 to 4-pound beef arm or blade pot-roast
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 clove garlic, minced
1 green pepper, sliced
1 large onion, sliced
1 can (16 ounces) tomatoes
¼ teaspoon paprika
¼ teaspoon oregano
2 teaspoons salt
Flour for gravy

Mix together 2 tablespoons flour, 2 teaspoons salt and pepper. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add garlic, green pepper, onion, tomatoes, paprika, oregano and 2 teaspoons salt. Cover tightly and cook slowly 3 hours or until tender. Thicken cooking liquid with flour for gravy, if desired. 6 to 8 servings.

Beef Stew Is Easy

A hearty, savory stew can be quite simple to prepare. The meat cubes are merely browned, seasoned and cooked slowly in liquid until tender. For the vegetables, use convenient frozen or canned varities. Add them just long enough before the end of the cooking time so that meat and vegetables finish together.

For The Mother Of The Bride

The flowery sentiment of a late spring or early summer wedding is traditional. —And what season of the year could be more fitting? Mother Nature puts on her finery and even the sun seems to shine in warm approval.

If you've a soon-to-be bride in your family, the endless list of things to be done is no doubt growing. Food that is fitting for the occasion will be of special concern. This richly flavored Ham Mousse is elegant enough to headline a reception menu for the jubilant affair.

It's a joy of a make-ahead, too, prepared with an ennobled sour cream base. Perky canned peas with onions add an artful color and flavor spark. The onions are the dainty pearl variety, so mellow-sweet. Serve the salad with a garland of endive or water cress for a made-special air.

- 1 tablespoon (1 envelope) unflavored gelatine
- ¼ cup cold water
- ¾ cup boiling water
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- 3 tablespoons vinegar
- 1 tablepsoon prepared mustard
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- ½ cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- 1 17-oz. can early peas with onions, drained
- 1 cup finely-diced celery
- Endive or water cress

Soften gelatine in cold water in mixing bowl. Stir in boiling water, salt and vinegar. Cool slightly. Add prepared mustard, sour cream and mayonnaise or salad dressing. Beat until creamy and smooth. Chill until partially set. Fold in remaining ingredients. Pour into a well-oiled 1½-quart ring mold. Chill several hours or until firm. Unmold on serving plate and garnish with endive or water cress. Yield: 6 to 8 servings.

Tangy Sauce For Short Ribs

This is the time to make a pact with yourself to serve a few extraordinary meals.

One way to bring diversity to menus is with less-familiar meat cuts. As a suggestion, have you served beef short ribs lately? They're one of the less-demanded, economy meat cuts with plenty of flavor.

A meat cookery expert offers a tantalizing way of preparing raisin sauce. The meat cooks slowly in the sauce to bring out tenderness and a hamonious flavor blend.

Beef Short Ribs—Raisin Sauce

- 3 pounds beef short ribs
- 2 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 onion, quartered
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 1 teaspoon dry mustard
- 1 tablespoon flour
- 2 tablespoons vinegar
- 2 tablespoons lemon juice
- ¼ teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 1 bay leaf
- 1½ cups water
- ½ cup raisins
- Flour, if desired

Brown short ribs in own fat or lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Season with salt and pepper. Add quartered onion. Combine remaining ingredients and bring to a boil. Pour over short ribs Cover tightly and cook slowly 2 to 2½ hours or until meat is tender. Thicken sauce with flour, if desired. 6 servings.

Famous Liver

The reputation of liver, one of the most healthful foods, now has been well established. Many homemakers serve their families this iron and B vitamin-rich meat once a week. In addition to the popular pan-fried liver, the American Meat Institute suggests you offer liver in a variety of ways—liver loaf, liver patties, braised liver with vegetables.

Beef Stroganoff Provides Fun In Cookery

The fun of foreign cookery has captured the fancy of many a homemaker across the country. There's an unlimited number of ideas that can be adpated.

Foreign recipes often call for economy meat cuts too. Beef Stroganoff is one distinctive style in which to prepare beef for stew. It's an old idea from Eastern Europe where sour cream is used in many dishes.

Tomato juice added to the cooking liquid gives additional flavor. When the beef is tender, mushrooms are added and sour cream folded into the thickened cooking liquid. Just heat the sour cream through, so it will not separate.

Beef Stroganoff

- 2 pounds beef cut for stew, cut in pieces ½ inch wide
- 6 tablespoons flour
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- 3 tablespoons lard or drippings
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 cu tomato juice
- 1 can (4 ounces) mushrooms
- 1½ cups liquid (water and liquid from mushrooms)
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ½ cup water
- 1 cup dairy sour cream
- Cooked noodles, if desired

Combine 6 tablespoons flour, salt and pepper. Dredge meat in seasoned flour. Brown in lard or drippings. Add onion and brown. Pour off drippings. Add tomato juice. Drain mushrooms, reserving liquid. Add sufficient water to mushroom liquid to make 1½ cups. Add liquid. Cover tightly and cook slowly 1½ hours. Add mushrooms. Mix together 2 tablespoons flour and ½ cup water. Add and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Fold in sour cream and cook just until heated through. Serve over cooked noodles if desired. 6 to 8 servings.

Pork Tenderloin

Pork tenderloin may be purchased either in the whole piece or cut into patties, reports the American Meat Institute. Whole pieces usually weigh between three-fourths to one and one-half pounds each. Allow about one-third pound per serving. To prepare patties, cut slices two inches thick and then flatten them with a meat pounder. Cook with a little pineapple juice to brighten a springtime meal.

Special Meats For Special Occasions

What are the big days for your family this spring? A graduation? A birthday? Whatever it is, keep in mind handsome beef roasts and sizzling broiled steaks for the special occasion.

For fussless cooking, both standing or rolled rib roasts and broiling steaks (club, sirloin, T-bone and porterhouse) rate gold stars. For a two, three or foursome, choose individual club steaks and cook according to each person's liking for rare, medium or well done.

Morethan 200 species of birds find sanctuary in Yellowstone National Park.

Danish Egg Pancakes

Though paeans of praise peal for the French cuisine, it is the Danes who quietly take gustatory honors for simplicity and satisfaction. Need proof? Try DANISH EGG PANCAKES for breakfast, brunch or supper. These are created out of three ingredients. Separate the whites and yolks of four eggs. The whites are beaten until frothy. To the froth is added 2 tablespoons cold water and the whole is beaten until stiff. Next, the beater is used to whip the yolks to a light yellow color; nice and thick. Into the yolks go 3 cups soft ½-inch bread cubes and the combination is gently folded into the whites. The gentle addition of tiny, crisp bits of browned salt pork fashioned from ¼ pound of the meat follows. To bake off: Heat a modest amount of salt pork drippings in a skillet. Drop ⅔ cup of the mixture for each pancake into the pan and cook over low heat. Skillet time: 10 minutes on one side, 5 minutes for the flip side.

1 teaspoon vanilla extract
1 pint blueberries, cleaned

1 cup heavy cream
½ cup confectioners' sugar
½ cup prepared sour cream
1 teaspoon vanilla extract

Slice chiffon cake horizontally into 3 equal-sized layers. Combine unflavored gelatin, sugar and salt in top of double boiler. Beat 3 eggs with 1 cup milk. Stir into dry ingredients. Place over boiling water and cook until mixture begins to thicken, or about 15 minutes. Slowly add cream cheese and vanilla extract, stirring until blended well. Fold in 1 cup blueberries. Refrigerate until firm. Spread ½ of the mixture on first layer of cake. Top with a second layer and spread with remaining mixture. Cap with remaining layer and refrigerate until firm. For topping: Whip cream and confectioners' sugar until stiff. Add sour cream and vanilla extract and continue beating until well blended. Fold in remaining 1 cup blueberries. Frost cake with topping, using a gentle touch. Chill well before serving.

Yield: 12 to 16 servings.

Serving Lamb

Lamb is a meat that's at its best either piping hot or cold. Lamb should never be served lukewarm. Warmed plates and platter help keep lamb hot until ready to eat.

Gingerbread Centerpiece

½ cup shortening
½ cup sugar
½ cup unsulphured molasses
1 egg yolk
2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 teaspoon ginger
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ teaspoon nutmeg

Cream together shortening, sugar molasses. Add egg yolk; mix well. Sift together flour, salt, baking soda, baking powder and spices. Stir in flour mixture; mix well. Chill dough.

To Make House:

Roll out approximately one fourth of the dough ¼-inch thick on lightly floured baking sheet. Make a paper pattern of a simple house, approximately 9 inches wide and 8 inches high. With paper pattern cut out outline of house, cutting right on the baking sheet. Remove excess dough. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) 8 to 10 minutes. Cool 2 minutes. Carefully loosen with spatula. When completely cool, transfer to cookie rack.

To Make Fence:

Roll out remaining dough, a portion at a time, ¼-inch thick on lightly floured board or pastry cloth, keeping the balance of the dough chilled until used. With paper pattern, cut out fence approximately 6 inches long and 2-½ inches high.

To make path and border:

Cut out approximately 2 dozen 2-inch rounds for path and garden border.

To make animals:

Cut out the last of the dough with small bunny and chicken cutters. Bake the fence, rounds, and animals on ungreased baking sheets in a moderate oven (350°F.) 8 to 10 minutes. When cool, decorate with yellow frosting in tubes.

Sour Cream Stars In Summer Salad Role

Though the dressing may not "make" the salad, it helps. Surely no one will argue the point in considering the simplest of all salads, a combination of greens.

How startling a difference there is, for example, in the salad simply dressed with oil and vinegar and the wedge of lettuce topped with thousand island dressing! Or the character change that comes when greens are treated in so dramatic a way as they are in the Caesar salad with its basic French dressing, egg, cheese and crisp little croutons.

Even more dramatic changes are occuring in the simplest salads since the trend in dressings has shown a marked preference for those made with dairy sour cream. And what an exciting and delectable lot they can be! Garlic, blue cheese, caraway, curry, tartar, weight watchers', thousand island and a half dozen others . . . a surprising variety and plenty of eating quality in the wide choice.

Just in time for summer salads . . . those of crisp garden vegetables, fish and shellfish, fruit and main dish picnic salads, we have a trio of dressings that should fit almost any salad and every occasion.

Curry Cream Dressing (or dip)

1 cup dairy sour cream
½ cup chopped celery
2 tablespoons chopped ripe olives
1 teaspoon curry powder
1 tablespoon finely minced onion
½ teaspoon salt

Combine all ingredients and chill one half hour or longer to blend flavors. Serve on turkey, chicken, seafood or apple salad or as an appetizer dip. Makes 1½ cups dressing.

Blue Cheese Tasty Dressing (or dip)

1 cup dairy sour cream
½ cup crumbled blue cheese
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 tablespoon minced onion
Dash Worcestershire sauce
1 teaspoon lemon juice

Let cheese warm to room temperature and mash well with a fork. Blend together all the ingredients. Serve as a dressing on vegetable salad, macaroni salad, as a topping on hamburgers, or as a dip for potato chips or crackers. Makes 1½ cups.

Sour Cream Garlic Dressing

1 cup dairy sour cream
¼ cup lemon juice
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Dash of cayenne
½ teaspoon celery salt
½ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon dry mustard
½ teaspoon garlic juice

Combine sour cream with other ingredients and mix well. Serve with meats, vegetables, and potato salads. For fruit salads, increase sugar to desired sweetness and omit cayenne. Makes 1½ cups.

Merge Veal With Subtle Paprika Sauce

Merge a mild-tasting meat with a creamy, subtly-flavored sauce and you'll create a scrumptious entree.

The meat is cubes of veal . . . the sauce a paprika-seasoned white sauce. You'll enjoy presenting it to your family for dinner. Served on toast points or toasted English muffins, Paprika Veal becomes a delightful menu headliner for a luncheon.

The veal suggested for this recipe comes from the shoulder, making it relatively economical. Veal is best when cooked by moist heat, rather than by broiling since veal lacks fat. Roasts often need strips of bacon laid across the top.

Paprika Veal

1½ pounds veal shoulder, cut in 1½-inch cubes
3 tablespoons lard or drippings
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
½ teaspoon paprika
¼ cup water
Paprika Sauce

Brown veal cubes in lard or drippings. Season with salt, pepper and paprika. Add water. Cover tightly and cook slowly 30 minutes. Cover with Paprika Sauce and continue cooking slowly 30 minutes longer or until meat is tender. 4 to 6 servings.

Paprika Sauce

¼ cup butter or margarine
¼ cup flour
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
Paprika

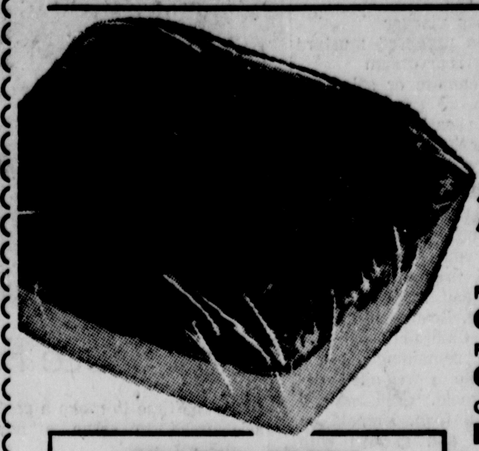

Melt butter or margarine. Add flour and mix well. Add milk gradually and cook, stirring constantly, until thickened. Add salt and paprika to color.

Ham Supreme With Fruited Rice

1 pound pre-cooked ham slice
2 tablespoons mustard
1 cup plumped pitted prunes
¼ cup brown sugar
½ teaspoon salt
1⅓ cups water
1⅓ cups packaged pre-cooked rice
1 cup chopped onion
½ cup butter or margarine
2 teaspoons poultry seasoning
4-6 plumped pitted prune halves

Place ham slice in flat covered baking dish. Spread with mustard; cover with prunes and spinkle with brown sugar. Add salt to water and bring to boiling point. Remove from heat; add rice and stir with fork. Cover, let stand 5 minutes. Brown onion in butter or margarine until tender; add poultry seasoning. Combine onion mixture and rice. Spread over prunes; cover. Bake in a moderate oven, 375 degrees, 45 minutes. Garnish with plumped prune halves. Makes 6 servings.

Orioles Top Tigers, 2-1, Remain Tied For Lead

Barber, Stock Limit Detroit To Four Hits

Win Is Eighth In Baltimore's Last Nine Games

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Steve Barber and Wes Stock held the Detroit Tigers to four hits Wednesday night to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 2-1 victory.

The win was the Orioles third straight, their eighth in the last nine games and kept them tied for first place in the American League with the Chicago White Sox.

Barber, who walked eight men and hit another in the six innings he pitched, gave up all four Detroit hits and picked up his eighth win against three losses.

Stock took over for Barber in the seventh after the first man got on via a walk. He retired nine of the 10 men he faced in nailing down the victory for Barber.

Don Wert singled home Dick McAuliffe in the second inning to give the Tigers their only run. The Orioles tied it in the fourth on Al Smith's double and Jim Gentile's single off loser Jim Bunning.

Then, with two out in the fifth, Luis Aparicio tripled home Jackie Brandt with what proved to be the winning run.

Bunning worked seven innings, gave up six hits, struck out nine and didn't walk a batter. In losing his fifth of six decisions, Bunning retired the first 11 men he faced before Smith doubled in the fourth. His mates didn't help him by stranding 12 on the bases.

Pitching Hints

Every Day Action Helps Hurler Become Fifth Infielder–Herbert

RAY HERBERT
Correct Faults Early

By RAY HERBERT
Of Chicago White Sox
Written for AP Newsfeatures

Playing every day, whether I was pitching or playing the infield or outfield, helped me as a youngster. I played every position but catcher, even through high school.

By staying active it helped my fielding, hitting and bunting.

On fielding bunts some pitchers must straighten up to throw the ball to first base. But with my infield background I learned to throw to first from any position.

I was fortunate to learn baseball the right way. I had a real good high school coach in Rev. Martin at Catholic Central in Detroit. Art Houtteman also went to school there.

If a youngster can correct his faults at an early age he is much better off. You should learn something every day.

I throw a sinker ball, curve, slider and change of pace. But the first thing I learned was that control is the most important thing. Last year when I won 20 for the first time—my previous high was 14 victories at Kansas City in 1960—I was ahead of the hitters most of the time.

Ball games are won by a matter of inches. Keep your eye on the place or spot where you intend to throw the ball. Follow through with your arm and eyes. That's the biggest thing in control—keeping your eyes on the target.

By doing this you can also watch the ball that is hit back to the mound. A pitcher must protect his part of the middle of the diamond. He must be like a fifth infielder.

Cubs Decision Cardinals, 7-6, In 11 Innings

Ken Aspromonte's Single Snaps Tie

CHICAGO (UPI) —Ken Aspromonte singled home Lou Brock with two outs in the 11th inning Wednesday to give the Chicago Cubs a 7-6 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals.

Aspromonte, who replaced Bob Will at first base in the eighth inning, slammed Diomedes Olivo's second pitch into left field to score Brock from second base with two outs.

Aspromonte had tied the score at 6-6 with two outs in the ninth inning when he singled off Ron Taylor after second baseman Julian Javier had thrown wildly trying to get Billy Williams on an infield hit.

Don Elston, the fourth Chicago pitcher, did not allow a hit in three innings of relief to win his second victory against no losses. The win boosted the Cubs past the Cardinals into third place by one percentage point.

Bill White and Stan Musial had put the Cards ahead in the eighth with back to back homers off knuckleballer Barney Schultz.

Ron Santo doubled home three runs for the Cubs in the first inning off starter Ray Washburn. Ken Hubbs and Billy Williams singled home one run each. Williams, who had three hits, extended his hitting streak to 15 games.

The Cardinals knocked out Cubs starter Bob Buhl in the third on run-scoring singles by White and Musial, and Ken Boyer's double.

Mantle's Homer Wins For Yanks

Blast In 11th Inning Beats Athletics 8-7

NEW YORK (AP) — Mickey Mantle hammered a lead-off homer in the bottom of the 11th inning Wednesday night to give the New York Yankees an 8-7 victory over the Kansas City Athletics. The Yankees had lost a 7-0 lead.

The blow was Mantle's third homer in two days. It came off relief pitcher Bill Fischer, and gave Fischer his first loss after six victories.

The Yankees routed lefty Ted Bowsfield during a seven-run second inning. Manny Jimenez in right field played Roger Maris' fly into a double to start the inning and singles by Joe Pepitone, Tony Kubek and Yankee starter Bill Stafford followed.

Then Bobby Richardson's triple, two walks, an error, Maris' sacrifice fly and Pepitone's second single of the inning accounted for the other runs.

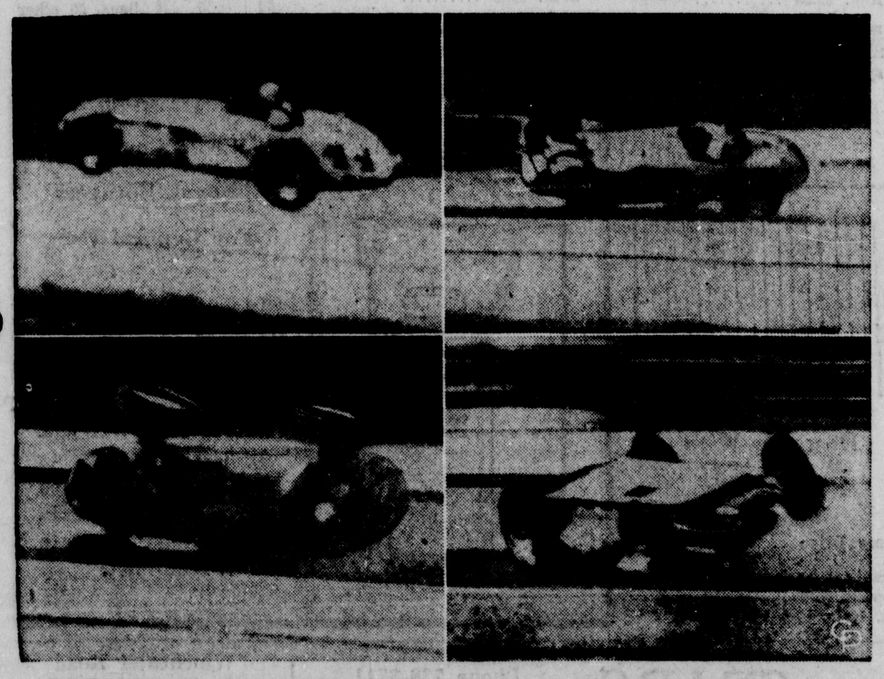

Stafford held the A's to three hits through the first seven innings, but the Athletics got six runs in the eighth, four of them unearned.

The tiny kingdom of Sikkim in the Himalayas is trapped by geography between two quarreling giants — India and Red China. From its tropical lowlands to the snow-clad wilderness in the north, Sikkim presents the shortest route from Chinese-occupied Tibet to the plains of India. Sikkim is a protectorate of India, which is responsible for the kingdom's foreign affairs, defense and communications, the National Geographic Magazine says.

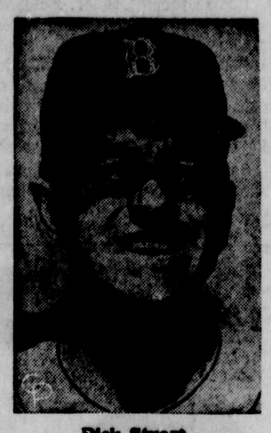

CLOSE BRUSH WITH DEATH—A film clip of the Indianapolis Speedway accident which gave Jack Turner another brush with death is pictured. Turner now has retired.

SPORTS SPUTTERINGS

By Walter L. Johns, Central Press Sports Editor

THE BABE RUTHS of the minors, almost to a man, never could quite cut it fence-wise in the majors. Excepting, perhaps, that current hot hitter, Dick Stuart of the Red Sox.

Stuart, who received more sports page space for his colorful brashness than for the 66 home runs he hit in the minors in 1956, was low man on the totem pole of minor league Babe Ruths, for Joe Bowman, playing with Roswell, in the mid-fifties, smashed 72 homers, and Joe Hauser, who was on the scene long before that, once belted 69 in a minor-league year.

Dick Stuart

Neither Bowman nor Hauser ever came close to Babe Ruthing it later and neither has Stuart, up to now.

But Richard Lee Stuart, although 30 years old and aiming at fences in the pro leagues since 1951, may finally rate with the present-day homer kings. He's off to a good start in the distance Derby and he has that friendly left field wall and screen to aim at in Boston.

Stuart has hit 117 major league homers in four and one-half years with the Pirates and he's among the leaders in the A. L. right now for the present campaign.

No one expects him to give it a Roger Maris try but he does have tremendous power and did get 35 round-trippers for the Bucs in 1961.

Still one of the colorful characters in the leagues, Stuart has toned down. When he first came up he gave it the Dizzy Dean approach, which made good copy, but his fielding and failure to hit major league pitching deflated his star stature.

• • •

STUART, who was signed by the Pirates three days after graduation from high school in San Francisco, didn't draw much attention or a chance at the majors until he had that big year with Lincoln in the Western League, a Class A loop, in 1956.

He admitted later that he was "lucky" that year, that he had "some small parks to hit in," but also pointed out that he hit 33 of those homers in his own park which was 340 feet to left and 400 to center.

The Pirates gave him a look that next spring but he didn't stick. In fact, he rambled around the minors, playing with Hollywood, Atlanta and then Lincoln again that year. And his combined homer total was 45.

He was given another shot the next season but spent some time at Salt Lake City where he hit 31 homers in 80 games, a pretty fair production.

He was traded to the Red Sox over the winter.

WVU Third In NCAA Ratings

Missouri On Top, Wake Forest 4th

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia University—taking a week's rest before competing in the first round of NCAA play—has vaulted to third place in National Collegiate baseball standings.

The Mountaineers dumped Pitt 6-4 Tuesday to give it a sparkling 29-1 record prior to the NCAA sectional play at Gastonia, N. C., beginning May 30.

Missouri is rated the top team in the nation, followed by Western Michigan, WVU, Wake Forest, Temple, Texas, Southern California, Oregon, St. Johns, N. Y., and Arizona.

Wake Forest will represent the Atlantic Coast Conference in the District 3 tourney at Gastonia, Auburn the Southeastern Conference and Florida State was named Wednesday as the at-large entry.

Wake Forest, WVU and Florida State were in the tournament last year along with Florida. It was won by Florida State.

WVU Coach Steve Harrick recalled Wednesday that Florida had been rated tops in the nation going into the District affair last season but lost.

"It's not going to happen to us," he said. "We aren't going to be jittery. We're going down there to win," he said.

Harrick, now in his 16th year as WVU coach and the winningest baseball coach in the 69-year history of the sport at the school, praised this year's team for "dedication and desire" and said the squad was "a wonderful group of boys to work with."

He said it was "the most versatile team" he had ever coached and could "find more ways to win a ball game."

The previous WVU winning record was 24-5 set in 1908.

DEL Crandall of the Milwaukee Braves and Carl Sawatski of the St. Louis Cardinals are the only National League catchers who wear No. 1 on their uniforms.

Onrushing Twins Defeat Boston, 3-1, Behind Kaat

BOSTON (AP)—Southpaw Jim Kaat pitched a 7-hitter and drove in a run as the onrushing Minnesota Twins won their sixth game in the last seven by defeating Boston 3-1 Wednesday.

Two Twins' runs resulted from extra base blows which caromed off the gloves of the snake-bitten Red Sox who have lost five of their last six starts.

Rich Rollins banged a liner near first base in the Minnesota fourth which Dick Stuart knocked down.

The ball rolled behind him into foul territory and while Stuart whirled in confusion looking for it Rollins wound up with a double and an RBI. Wally Post, who had reached first on error scored.

Kaat singled to left for another tally and a 2-0 lead before the inning ended.

Tommy Thomson, 68, Navy Track Coach To Retire June 1

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (UPI)—Earl (Tommy) Thomson will retire as Navy track coach after 37 years at the conclusion of the current season, June 1, at West Point.

The announcement was made Tuesday by Capt. William Busik, director of athletics at the Naval Academy. He named Jim Gehrdes, Thomson's long-time assistant, to succeed Thomson.

The 68-year-old dean of the midshipmen's coaching staff, a native Canadian, left his country to compile an enviable record and achieved great heights in the Olympic games.

The white-haired coach, a native of Prince Albert, Sask., led the Middies to 153 victories, only 69 defeats and two ties in outdoor dual and triangular meets. His teams licked Army 14 times.

Giants Romp To 10-2 Win Over Phils

Tom Haller Raps Grand Slammer

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) —Tom Haller's first grand-slam homer of his major league career capped a seven-run explosion in the fourth inning Wednesday and helped the league - leading San Francisco Giants ride to a 10-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The former University of Illinois quarterback unloaded at the expense of Jack Baldschun, who was the second relief pitcher to be brought in during the inning by manager Gene Mauch.

Before facing Haller, Baldschun was tagged for a run-scoring single by Willie Mays and issued a bases - loaded walk to Willie McCovey. Then Haller moved in one out later and powered the ball high over the right field barrier for his third homer of the season.

Baldschun had made 35 appearances without allowing a home run prior to this.

Jack Sanford (7-3), benefitting from the Giants' biggest hitting splurge in 13 games, had a four-hit shutout going until the ninth inning. Then the Phils collected four singles off the beefy right-hander while scoring twice.

Dallas Green started for the Phils and left early in the fourth inning with his first defeat. He has one victory.

McCovey drove in a total of three runs himself. Before drawing the bases - loaded walk, he knocked in two others on a 400-foot double and a fluke, 30 - foot single on which he had tried to check his swing.

Gil Hodges Replaces Mickey Vernon As Washington Manager

Mets Release First Baseman To Accept Job

● Ousted Skipper Retained By Nats In Front Office

By SAM FOGG
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gil Hodges, greatest grand slam slugger in National League history and one of the most popular baseball players of modern times, was named manager of the last-place Washington Senators Wednesday, replacing Mickey Vernon.

Hodges, 39, now on the disabled list of the New York Mets, was given his outright release by the Mets in order to accept the job as pilot of the Senators.

Vernon, 45, will remain with the Senators as "an administrative assistant."

Hodges, who holds the National League record for grand slam home runs with 14 during his career with the Dodgers and Mets, was signed to manage the Senators for the remainder of the 1963 season and through 1964.

Non-Playing Manager

President George Weiss of the Mets said the Mets "didn't want to stand in his way when he was presented with an opportunity which might not come again."

The Senators said Hodges will be a non-playing manager, a move which brings to a close one of the most brilliant slugging careers of the post-war baseball era. Hodges hit 370 homers during his career with the Dodgers in Brooklyn and Los Angeles and with the Mets.

Technically, Hodges would have been eligible to play for the Senators in view of his outright release by the Mets. But he has been on the disabled list for the Mets since May 8 and his return to action was doubtful in any case.

Hodges, who was here for the announcement, watched Wednesday night's Senators-Chicago White Sox game while third base coach Eddie Yost acted as acting manager. Then he will take over the reigns Thursday night against the Orioles in Baltimore

The Senators also announced that Danny O'Connell, now a Senators' farm team manager, would replace George Case as a coach.

Announced By Selkirk

The appointments were announced by Senators' General Manager George Selkirk.

"I expect Gil to get our club hustling, but I don't expect he'll achieve the impossible," said Selkirk. "It was not a pleasant task to replace Vernon, but we reached the point where new blood was needed."

Selkirk said Hodges was hired as manager "with a long-range program in mind." He said he first contacted Hodges late Tuesday after receiving permission from the Mets to talk with him. Selkirk and Hodges met in New York Wednesday and then came here by plane to make the announcement.

Of Vernon, Selkirk said, "we can use a man of his integrity and devotion to baseball in an administrative capacity."

Vernon, who has been Washington's manager since 1961, will serve as administrative assistant to general manager George Selkirk. (AP Photofax)

Gentile Handed Fine Of $100

BALTIMORE (AP)—First baseman Jim Gentile of the Baltimore Orioles was fined $100 Wednesday for his run-in with Umpire Ed Runge in Tuesday night's game.

Gentile said he was informed of the fine by American League President Joe Cronin.

In the third inning, Gentile disputed strike calls by Runge. As the teams were changing sides at the end of the inning, the player and umpire exchanged words.

Runge ejected Gentile from the game, contending he used obscene language which could be heard by the spectators. Gentile ran toward Runge, and threw the infield practice ball to the ground. The ball bounded past Runge.

Oriole Manager Billy Hitchcock had to restrain Gentile as he charged Runge, arguing furiously.

Don't Try For That Perfect Shot

By EDWARD S. KITCH

CHICAGO (AP) — Attending a Chick Harbert golf clinic is a rewarding experience provided you know something about the game and are willing to change your thinking habits.

"We must establish a basic thinking. This is something you have to establish in your own game," says Harbert.

He believes the only thing that changes about a golfer from day-to-day is his mental preparation.

"I'm prepared to shoot a 72 round of golf and haven't brought out my thinking apparatus when I shoot in the 78s," he says.

"I know I have limitations in order to strike a golf ball the same way every time, so I make allowances. When I see a player hit through the trees with a wood, I stand there and shake.

"I would use nothing less than a five iron.

"But what you don't realize is you've taken a 10 to 1 shot and come out okay. You say why not? Isn't that what we're trying to do?"

Harbert says golfers should look more often where they are hitting the ball, not at their feet, hands and equipment. They shouldn't strive too hard to make the perfect golf shot. After all, the hardest golf shot to make is the one straight down the fairway.

CHICK HARBERT
Look Where You're Hitting

He says a golfer should read less about the game and play more.

"I think most of the reading instruction on golf has done irreparable harm to golf and the play," says Harbert.

A player should, first of all, like the game.

"I play golf because it is competition," he says. "If I can't play against anything or anybody, I'll play against the course.

"I like the visual aspect of golf, and I get a tremendous kick out of seeing the ball sail 250 to 275 yards down the fairway.

"I like the sound of golf. These are all related.

"Think well, and you'll play well."

Dallas' AFL Champions Moving To Kansas City

Announcement By Hunt Comes As No Surprise

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) — Owner Lamar Hunt of the Dallas Texans made it official Wednesday. The American Football League champions will be moved to Kansas City in time for the start of the 1963 football season.

Hunt made the announcement Wednesday without surprise at a news conference. Sports fans had expected the news since the city's campaign to sell 25,000 season tickets passed the halfway point recently.

The shift assures this city of top grade professional football in contrast to its acquisition of the Kansas City Athletics who have yet to finish in the first division.

The Texans, who will get a new name in their new home, won the Western Division and went on to defeat the Houston Oilers for the league title in a thrilling playoff game Christmas Eve.

The club is sprinkled with stars, including Abner Haynes, regarded as one of the sport's most exciting backs. Another star, Curtis McClinton, is well known to area fans from his brilliant play at Kansas University.

The Texans have been aggressive in pursuit of top college players and will be able to present several of the most talented, including Bobby Bell of Minnesota, Ed Budde of Michigan State and Dave Hall of Auburn.

Headed by Hank Stram, the club has as colorful a coaching staff with assistants Bill Walsh, offensive line coach; Bob Ghilotti, offensive end coach; Tom Pratt, defensive line coach; Tom Catlin, defensive backfield coach.

Hunt said that some of the club's officers probably will become permanent resident of Kansas City, including General Manager Jack Steadman.

Hunt lauded the city's sports fans for the "spirit that has been generated."

"This spirit is quite contagious and we as an organization are anxiously awaiting the start of the 1963 season with the confidence and knowledge that it will be the finest in the four-year history of the American Football League."

IN HAPPIER DAY—Married at Oakland, Calif., in October of 1949 (above), Jackie Jensen, an All-American football star then recently signed by the Yankees, and Zoe Ann Olsen, U.S. diving queen, created quite a stir in sports circles. Now, nearly 14 years later, the two are at the end of the marital road as Zoe Ann sues for divorce at Reno, Nev., charging extreme cruelty. Jensen went on to become a star with the Red Sox, twice quit the club, the last time in 1961.

WVU's New Press Box Will Cost $142,820

MORGANTOWN, W. Va. (UPI) — The West Virginia University Board of Governors Tuesday awarded a $142,820 contract to Baker & Coombs Inc., Morgantown, to construct a new, three-tier press box at Mountaineer Field.

The facility — expected to accommodate more than 200 sportswriters, radio and television newsmen, football scouts and dignitaries — is to be completed in time for WVU's football opener Sept. 21 against Navy.

FLUCTUATION

COLUMBUS, Ohio (UPI)—When the central headquarters for the minor baseball leagues was organized in 1901, there were only 8 minor leagues. That total rose to a high of 59 in 1949 and presently is down to 20.

Rec Department Assigns Fields

The Recreation Department will continue to assign the use of all fields in the City for practice sessions and games.

The Rec Department will begin taking reservations for fields each Thursday at 9 o'clock for the following week. These reservations can be made by contacting the Rec Department PA 2-2000.

Each team will be limited to one practice during the week and one on either Saturday or Sunday. If any fields are still open on Monday, assignments for additional practices will be made on a first come, first serve basis. This system will provide an equal opportunity to all teams.

Managers of teams are reminded that fields should not be used when wet, and that there should be no interference with either practice sessions or games of the local high schools.

NBA Approves Nats' Transfer To Philadelphia

NEW YORK (AP) — Philadelphia officially returned to the National Basketball Association Wednesday when the league's board of governors unanimously approved the franchise shift from Syracuse.

The move was indicated early this month when Danny Biassone, owner of the Nationals, sold his controlling stock to a group of Philadelphia businessmen.

The new club president will be Irv Kosloff, a paper magnate who represents the majority of the new stockholders. Others include Philadelphia attorneys D. Donald Jamieson and Isaac Richman.

Philadelphia, a charter member, was without league representation last year when Eddie Gottlieb sold the Warriors to a San Francisco group which moved the franchise to the West Coast.

Syracuse originally was a member of the old National Basketball League. Syracuse entered the NBA when the National League and the Basketball Association of America merged in 1949.

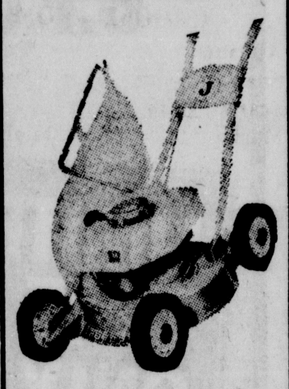

The team nickname of Nationals will be kept but no indication was given whether coach Alex Hannum will be retained.

Maloney Credited With Another Mark

CINCINNATI, Ohio (UPI) — The National League credited pitcher Jim Maloney of the Cincinnati Reds Wednesday with a record he didn't know he had.

Maloney equalled a modern major league record last when he struck out eight straight batters in beating the Milwaukee Braves, 2-0. He went on to a total of 16 strikeouts for the game and the league reported Wednesday research showed that was a league record for a righthanded pitcher in a night game.

Mt. Savage Edges Allegany, 9-8, To Take Over First Place In ACL

LaSalle Upsets Sentinels, 5-3; Valley Triumphs

McCormick Fires 1-Hitter, Knights Defeat Beall, 1-0

ACL STANDINGS

	W.	L.	Pct.
Mt. Savage	6	2	.750
Valley	5	2	.714
Fort Hill	5	3	.625
Allegany	5	3	.625
LaSalle	3	4	.429
Beall	3	5	.375
Bruce	0	8	.000

The Mt. Savage Indians came up with two runs in the bottom of the seventh inning yesterday for a come-from-behind 9-8 victory which gave them undisputed possession of first place in the Allegany County Baseball League.

LaSalle upset Fort Hill, 5-3, at Stitcher Field and thus prevented the Sentinels from keeping pace with Mt. Savage. In the best ACL game of the day, Valley's Kenny McCormick beat Beall, 1-0, on a one hitter at Frostburg.

Mt. Savage, which had shared the lead with Allegany and Fort Hill entering yesterday's game, now stands alone at the top of the standings with a 6-2 mark. Valley forged into second place at 5-2, while Allegany and Fort Hill share third with 5-3 marks.

The Indians went to the last of the seventh inning trailing, 8-7, but pushed across the tying run with none out and added the winning tally with one away.

Howell's Single Decides

Rightfielder Wayne Howell, batting ninth in the order for the Indians, supplied the winning hit, a single which plated Eddie Garlitz.

A pair of towering southpaws—Allegany's 6-7 Steve Vandenberg and the Indians' 6-4½ Ralph Wilson—started as the mound opponents. Wilson went all the way, and Vandenberg worked until the seventh inning, giving way to Larry Snyder with the bases loaded and none out.

Wilson got himself in trouble right away, hitting three batsmen in the first inning which saw the Campers score four runs. However, he settled down and was around at the finish to pick up his fourth win without a loss. Vandenberg was tagged with the defeat, his third against one win.

Play "Spoiler" Again

LaSalle's Explorers, who have played the "spoiler" role several times this season, did it again yesterday by turning back Fort Hill and thereby tightening up the city race. The Sentinels are now 2-1 in city play, while Allegany is 1-1 and LaSalle 1-2.

The Explorers play Allegany today at Campobello.

Fort Hill picked up single runs in the first, third and fourth, while LaSalle tallied three runs in the third and two more in the sixth.

Two batters reached bases on errors for LaSalle in the third, and Nick Perlozzo, Keyser and Joe Nolan hit consecutive singles to score the three runs. Keyser's sacrifice fly and a double by Barth drove in the other two in the sixth.

Nolan allowed Fort Hill only four hits, two of them triples by Howard Reynolds and Vince DelaGrange which figured in the scoring. Perlozzo led LaSalle's eight-hit attack with a double and single. Wayne Jewell suffered the loss, his first in three decisions.

Valley and Beall breezed through an excellent pitcher's battle in an hour and 25 minutes. McCormick limited the Mountaineers to one hit, a single by Donnie Richards. Richards was just about as effective, giving up only two singles to the Black Knights.

The visiting Knights scored the game's only run in the second inning when, with two out, Philip Shockey beat out an infield hit, went to second on an error and came home on Fred Sloan's single up the middle.

McCormick upped his record to 3-2, and Richards dropped to 2-2.

The three-way tie in the Pen-Mar Baseball League was reduced to a double deadlock yesterday, as Frostburg's Merchants downed Mt. Savage, 9-5, at Mt. Savage, and Lonaconing shut out Barrelville, 8-0, on its home diamond.

A third league game between Hyndman and the Cumberland Hermans at Municipal Baseball Field ended in a 10-10 tie when darkness halted the proceedings after six complete innings of play.

Frostburg and the Coney Independents are now knotted for first place with 4-1 records, while Mt. Savage dropped into the third spot at 3-2.

Rich Robinson, southpaw from Potomac State College, made his first start with the Merchants winning one yesterday although he was in trouble in the early innings.

Mt. Savage scored a pair of runs in the first two frames before Frostburg came back with five in the third to take the lead for good.

Jim Rice collected a double and single, Gene Zumpano had two singles and Dick Pitko rapped a double for the Merchants. Fay Often belted two doubles and a triple, and losing pitcher Harold Mongold had two doubles for Mt. Savage.

Jerry Ritchie scattered six hits, walked only two and struck out 11 in pitching the Independents to their easy victory.

Bob Mundenoa sparked Lonaconing at the plate with a single, double and triple. Ev Spiker also had a triple, and Hank Winner collected three singles.

Charles Cantone was the star of the darkness-halted affair between Hyndman and Cumberland with a pair of home runs for the Hermans. Lou Hite and Barclay each had three hits, including doubles, for Hyndman.

Thousands Pay Final Tribute To Ernie Davis

ELMIRA, N.Y. (AP) — Thousands of persons paid final tribute Wednesday to football star Ernie Davis at the largest funeral in the city's history.

Approximately 1,600 persons jammed the sanctuary and the basement of the First Baptist Church and more than 3,000 stood solemnly in a park during the 15-minute service, conducted by five ministers.

An uncle of Davis' collapsed in the church and a woman was taken ill near the church's front steps.

Davis' mother, Mrs. Arthur Radford, collapsed in an automobile after the 23-year-old football All-America and only Negro to win the Heisman Trophy had been buried in Woodlawn Cemetery. Davis, voted the nation's outstanding collegiate football player in 1961, died Saturday in Cleveland of leukemia.

The funeral was attended by representatives of Syracuse University, for whom he starred as a halfback; the Cleveland Browns of the National Football League, for whom he had signed an $80,000 contract to play, and other NFL teams.

During the service, a telegram from President Kennedy was read in which the President described Davis as "an outstanding young man of great character who consistently served as an inspiration to the young people of the country."

Nicklaus And Player Return To Action In Memphis Open

Arnold Palmer To Miss $50,000 Tennessee Event

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI) —Two of golf's "big three" — Jack Nicklaus and Gary Player — return to action Thursday when they join a star-studded field for the opening of the $50,000 Memphis Open golf tournament.

A total of 149 pros and 10 amateurs will begin play in the four-day event over the 6,500-yard Colonial Country Club course. Prize money this year has been upped $10,000 — making the Memphis Open one of the most lucrative on the PGA trial.

The "big three" — Nicklaus, Player and Arnold Palmer — all passed up the Oklahoma City Open last week for a rest. Palmer announced he was undergoing a physical checkup and also would miss the Memphis tournament.

This will be Nicklaus' first appearance in the Memphis Open, but he is remembered by local fans for his play in the Colonial Invitational amateur here, which he won in 1960.

Player wound up in a three-way tie with Gene Littler and Lionel Hebert for first place in last year's tourney, but lost in the sudden-death playoff when Hebert stroked in a 30-foot birdie through a water puddle for the crown.

Hebert will be back to defend his title along with all of the other past four champions, BillyMaxwell (1958), Cary Middlecoff (1961), the hometown favorite, Don Whitt (1959, and Tommy Bolt (1960), Middlecoff, a Memphis dentist, holds the low record for the 72-hole event, a 14-under par 266 set two years ago.

Among other top contenders for the winner's $9,000 purse will be Tony Lema, who ranks third behind Nicklaus and Player among current money winners; Don Fairfield, winner of the Oklahoma City event; Julius Boros, who won the recent Colonial Invitational at Fort Worth, Tex.; Bo Wininger, winner of the New Orleans Open; and Phil Rodgers, winner of this year's Texas and Tucson Opens.

NFL Names LA Police Officer As Special Aide

League To Step Up Surveillance

By TOM PENDERGAST

ST. LOUIS (AP) — In the wake of sensational betting scandals, the National Football League set up an intelligence arm Wednesday with the appointment of a Los Angeles police officer "to prevent undesirable associations" by players.

Commissioner Pete Rozelle, in announcing James E. Hamilton would become a special aide June 1, said the move would "augment the system of surveillance we have had in effect for more than a decade."

Rozelle said Hamilton, former chief of the Los Angeles Police Department intelligence division, would be "especially valuable in liaison work with law enforcement agencies." Rozelle declined to pin the move directly on April's betting scandal, but said it "should prevent recurrence of such unfortunate events."

The commissioner made the announcement at a meeting of NFL club owners, first such gathering of league chieftains since he indefinitely suspended Paul Hornung of Green Bay and Alex Karras of Detroit April 17. At that time, Rozelle also fined five Detroit players $2,000 each for betting on league games and the Lions $4,000 for failure to exercise proper supervision of their players and the bench.

Rozelle said Hamilton, 53, would travel to the 14 NFL cities at least two or three times a year. He would meet with players and coaches "to prevent undesirable associations of which the players may be unaware.

"The move is more intelligence than investigative, but there may be some investigations."

Rozelle said no NFL players are under investigation now. "But we have felt all along that we never can do too much surveillance, and this special aide (Hamilton) should be most helpful in preventing any trouble and in keeping football clean."

The NFL owners, in other actions during the first session of the two-day meeting, turned down a bid by the Detroit club to relax the injured player rule.

Detroit had sought to have the rule changed to allow clubs to put an injured man on reserve for 30 days, replacing him on the bench with another. The present rule provides that an injured player must be either waived through the league or kept on the bench, but he cannot be replaced temporarily.

The 36-man limit currently in effect is another item on the agenda. Some club owners are seeking to raise the limit to 38.

JOHN M. Barnaby has been Harvard tennis and squash coach since 1939.

CRACKS 5,000-METER RECORD—In a blazing come-from-behind victory, Jim Beatty beats New Zealand's Olympic champion, Murray Halberg, in the 5,000-meter run in record time—13:57.4—at the Los Angeles Coliseum Relays.

Hodges Sees Senators Lose To Chicago, 9-3

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With new manager Gil Hodges watching Senators bowed to the Chicago White Sox, 9-3, Wednesday night, victims of ineffective pitching and fielding.

Hodges, who doesn't take formal command of the Senators until Thursday night, saw the front-running White Sox batter three Washington pitchers for 11 hits.

The White Sox took a quick lead against Bennie Daniels on Pete Ward's two-run homer in the first.

In the sixth, singles by Ward, Floyd Robinson and Joe Cunningham followed by a sacrifice fly and an error got Chicago three more runs. The White Sox collected four final runs in the eighth, with a bases-loaded triple by Jim Landis featuring the assault.

Joe Horlen got credit for his third win of the year against no defeats, although he needed relief help from Gary Peters. They allowed the Senators only six hits.

With neither Hodges nor his predecessory, Mickey Vernon, in uniform, coach Eddie Yost served as acting manager for the Senators for Wednesday night's game.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 271 There were 12 Generals Jackson in the war, divided equally between Confederate and Union forces. Of 11 Generals Lee six were Rebels, five Union. But all three Generals Sherman were Union men.

There was reason for some confusion among readers of war news in February 1863 over which Sherman, William Tecumseh or Thomas West, was doing what. Both were in the Mississippi Valley theater, W. T. with U. S. Grant in the Vicksburg campaign, T. W. as commander of New Orleans defenses.

Both those Shermans were West Pointers. T. W., the older, had a record in the Seminole and Mexican Wars and Indian campaigns more impressive in 1861 than that of W. T. Thomas Sherman, it was written, after the Rebellion, "was an officer of unquestioned ability, but his long career in the Regular Army of the Indian frontier in some ways unfitted him for handling volunteers not inured to iron discipline."

W. T. had the ability to be a great general under any circumstances, as he demonstrated repeatedly in 1863 and 1864.

The third Sherman, Francis Trowbridge, was a volunteer in 1861 without previous military experience. He also served in the Mississippi Valley theater in February 1863 while earning promotion to brigadier general.

CENTENNIAL SCRAPBOOK

The War for the Union 1861-65 in Pictures

No. 272 Months after New Orleans fell to Union forces, and months after Memphis surrendered, Vicksburg [see above] remained in Rebel hands. This had to be the basic strategical consideration of Confederate and Union commanders in the West in the first half of 1863.

As long as Rebel ships could ply miles of the Mississippi River north and south of Vicksburg they could bring into the heart of the Confederacy vital supplies obtainable from west of the river, including European arms and munitions run through the blockade or via Mexico into Texas.

Gen. Robert E. Lee realized it was as important to hold Vicksburg as to keep Richmond, if President Davis did not. Lee telegraphed in 1862 to Maj. Gen. John C. Pemberton, the Pennsylvania-born commander of the Rebel Department of Mississippi, "If Mississippi Valley is lost Atlantic States will be ruined."

Pemberton was not the best man for the crucial responsibility. "Placing Pemberton on command in Mississippi must rank as one of Jefferson Davis' major mistakes," wrote Stanley Horn, historian of the Army of Tennessee. The mistake was compounded by Davis orders to Pemberton which conflicted with Pemberton orders from his immediate superior, Joe Johnston.

Still, Vicksburg was well fortified, strengthening of its defenses never stopped, and the city had an industrious populace disposed to endure siege for months. Reduction of this Rebel stronghold was a problem U. S. Grant and the naval commander in the Mississippi, D. G. Farragut, could not solve for many blood-costly months of 1863. Aspects of this No. 1 event in 1863 in the war will be viewed in a number of further installments of this series.

Capitol Comment

by Rep. Charles Mathias

The most tense moment of the 88th Congress to date was the end of the House debate on raising the debt limit. By the narrow vote of 213 to 204 the President's request for a further increase in the total size of the national debt was approved by the House of Representatives. If the Senate concurs the national debt will go up to a new level which is a further step toward mortgaging the future of the Nation.

I voted for the motion to recommit the bill with instructions to the Ways and Means Committee to limit the level of the National debt to $305 billion. When this motion failed I voted against the bill which authorized the increase to $307 billion until June 30, 1963 and to $309 billion for the period beginning on the first of July and ending on August 31. The authorization to increase the debt to the sum of $309 billion only extends until the end of August. This obviously means that the Administration will be sending to the Congress a further bill to authorize an increase in the national debt for the period after August 31. Thus we still have several debates in the course of this Congress on the size of the national debt, and, more importantly, what is really involved—the fiscal problems of the Country.

The Congress in authorizing an increase in the national debt empowers the Secretary of the Treasury to sell Government bonds to investors throughout the Country and throughout the world. The limitation is simply the total amount of U. S. Government bonds that he can issue. This borrowing through bond issues is, of course, made necessary by the fact that the expenditures, which are all appropriated by the Congress, exceed our income.

This is a condition which has been going on for a number of years and during my period of service in the Congress it has been necessary to vote on several of these proposals in the past. One in which I voted for an increase in the national debt was immediately after the Berlin crisis. The Congress had appropriated some $3 billion for additional defense funds and so it was reasonable to vote for the authorization to increase the debt so that these bills could be paid.

We are now, however, reaching a point in our fiscal history where we must consider very carefully the question of continued deficit financing. Dr. Arthur Burns, the distinguished economist, has estimated that we will continue to go down the road of dificit financing until at least 1972 when another $75 billion will have been borrowed, and his estimate has not been denied.

The service on the national debt now takes 10% of your tax dollars and there is a question as to how much of tax revenue collected from the taxpayers can be spent for interest in the debt, week by week, month by month, and year by year. At some point, rising costs of debt service will curtail ability to meet current needs. For this reason I feel that we should stop and reconsider our fiscal policy and one way to do it is to limit the national debt at this time till these questions are clear in the minds of the people.

Group Seeks Roadway To Recreation Facility

The Allegany County delegation to the General Assembly and William Parr, state supervisor of parks, met Tuesday with the county commissioners to seek aid in having a roadway into the Dan's Mountain Recreation Area improved.

Parr explained to the board that the route to the upper area of the park near Lonaconing has been cleared but there is a need for grading and placement of "red dog" to make the roadway passable.

Parr explained that the funds allotted for the Dan's Mountain project for this year have been used in such items as a comfort station, a well for a water supply, a ball field and pavilions.

This work is about complete, Parr said, but the road into the facilities is needed. The work should be done by July 1 when the park facilities will be available for use.

Commissioner Russell Carder said that the county would take the matter under consideration as certain phases of the project will have to be checked. Both he and Commissioner Robert Little Ebert said they are interested in assisting with the project to provide picnic and recreation facilities for the residents along Georges Creek.

Commissioner Ebert said that the new county engineer will be on duty June 10 and he could work with the state agency in the matter. Parr said that W. A. C. Irwin, district forester, would cooperate with any plans the county may decide upon in this regard.

The proposed road work would be on a route 3,600 feet long and have a 20-foot "red dog" traffic surface. The right of way is wider. The roadway has been planned to keep the grade as feasible as possible. A total of $62,000 has been expended on the Dan's Mountain park so far.

Local Youth Killed In Crash On Williams Rd.

Arnold R. Wandless Thrown From Car

A 19-year-old local youth was killed last night in a one-car accident on Williams Road near the intersection of Christie Road.

Authorities identified him as Arnold Richard Wandless of 1404 Virginia Avenue, who was thrown from the car and was pronounced dead on arrival at Memorial Hospital. He was traveling alone, police said.

State police, who were notified of the fatal accident at 7:05 p.m., said the victim was descending Irons Mountain when the car went out of control and rolled over several times off to the side of the highway.

The accident was investigated by Tfc. Charles T. Snow. The victim was taken to the local hospital in the McDonald ambulance.

The scene of the accident was two miles east of Cumberland on Williams Road. The body was taken last night to the Kight Funeral Home.

A native of Cumberland, the victim was a son of Mrs. Anna Mae Hall, RD 1, Flintstone, and the late Freddie F. Wandless.

He was employed as a mechanic at the Henderson Auto Repair Service.

Surviving besides his mother are two brothers, Freddie Lee Wandless, with whom he resided and Samuel J. Wandless, city, and a half-sister, Mrs. Irene Henderson, Wiley Ford.

The body is at the funeral home where friends will be received from 2 to 4 p.m. and 7 to 9 p.m. today and tomorrow.

Left Turn Cycle Is Provided At Dingle Light

The Cumberland Police Department yesterday had the Dingle Circle traffic light modified to provide a 20-second interval for left turns, according to Police and Fire Commissioner William V. Keegan.

Made possible by a change in the traffic light's timing device, the new cycle will allow traffic coming from the Celanese plant over McMullen Highway to cut across the line of waiting traffic and enter Fayette Street.

In the past, drivers who came down Dingle Hill and wished to turn left usually had to wait until traffic from downtown passed, and when traffic was heavy found it difficult to make a left turn.

Mr. Keegan said the change was made by a change in the timing mechanism, and did not involve new equipment.

He said the principle of the advance signal is the same as is being used at Baltimore and Centre streets and at Baltimore and Mechanic streets.

COLLECTION DAY TODAY

Red Cross Chairman Honored

Robert Little Ebert, who will complete two years volunteer service as chairman of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, this year, is presented a certificate of appreciation by Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive secretary of the chapter. The presentation was made at the annual dinner meeting last night at Cumberland Country Club.

International Red Cross Operations Are Explained

The operation of the International Committee and the League of Red Cross Societies was explained by Lamar M. Prosser, disaster representative for Eastern Area office, guest speaker at the annual meeting of Allegany County Chapter, American Red Cross, last night at Cumberland Country Club.

Robert L. Ebert, chapter chairman, was toastmaster for the dinner at which time several presentations were made, social welfare aides installed and a new board of directors elected.

In his talk Mr. Prosser said that the International Committee's main role is to maintain contact between warring nations and to extend the provisions of Articles of Geneva to assist prisoners of war. Few people realize, he said, that conflict is now going on in 14 different countries, the Congo, Tanganyika, Burunda and Ruanda in Africa, Hungary, Cuba, China, India, Nepal, Portugal, Laos, Cambodia, Vietnam and Algeria.

The committee negotiates with these countries to bring relief to prisoners of war. Mr. Prosser stressed that the Red Cross is an unique organization in that it can function where no government can and where it would be awkward or embarrassing because of politics or other reasons for even the United Nations to act.

Seven Months In Congo

During his 11 months with the League seven of them were spent in the Congo where he was engaged in the resettlement of Watutsi refugees driven from their ancestral homes with the withdrawal of the Belgians from the Congo. Four colonies of 10,000 each were resettled in the seven months and the League providing food, medicine, tools and other essentials until the first crop was harvested and the Watutsis become somewhat self-sufficient. The mission was successful despite the tremendous task of transporting hundreds of thousands pounds of materials and equipment from the mainland by rivers and over mountains to the resettlement location some 130 miles from where Stanley met Livingstone.

The Congo government is now using the League's plan for resettling the Watutsi to develop similar settlements for its people left unsettled with the withdrawal of the Belgians. Two such areas will be completed in the near future and many more are plannned.

The last six months Mr. Prosser spent in Geneva organizing food shipments, along with other agencies, in a program of caring for and feeding two million repatriated Algerians after the long struggle in that country the past several years. He also was briefly engaged for the International Committee with the appeal for war sufferers in India before returning to this country in January.

Ebert Honored

A special presentation was made to Mr. Ebert who will end two years as chapter chairman this year, by Mrs. Sara G. Lindsay, executive secretary.

Other presentations included awarding of enrolled nurses' pins by Miss Christine Williams, chairman, to Mrs. Joyce Marie K. Twigg, Mrs. Mabel M. Skeggs, Mrs. Doris I. Lyons and Mrs. Rose D. Loible.

Mrs. Martin Johnson, chairman, presented motor service certificates and pins to Mrs. Gladys Shafferman, Mrs. Annette Brock, Mrs. Ruth Bowen and Mrs. Margaret Geatz. Staff aides certificates and pins were presented by Mrs. Irving Millenson, chairman, to Miss Edith A. Scharf, Mrs. Mary Cook, Mrs. Ethel Driscoll, Mrs. Marion Faulkner and Mrs. Margaret O'Rourke.

Victor D. Heisey, member of the board, presented Junior Red Cross certificates to Doyle Deneen, Fort Hill High School, for

$3,381,657 Yield From County Taxes Reported

April Collections Reach $15,006

April collections of $15,006.97 sent the Allegany County real estate and personal property tax yield in 11 months since last June 1 to $3,381,657.98. according to figures compiled in the office of County Tax Collector Francis G. Philpot.

Although that total is almost 109 per cent of the $3,103,350 anticipated in the entire fiscal year when the county commissioners approved the levy list in April 1962, it is $211,848.78 less than the $3,593,506.76 in receipts in the corresponding period a year ago.

The difference is understandable because the rate on the 1962 county taxes was $1.85 on each $100 of assessed property compared with $2.10 on 1961 taxes.

Clerks in Mr. Philpot's office now are nearing the completion of new county tax bills. Traditionally they are in the mail by June 1 so that county taxpayers have a full month to take advantage of the June five per cent discount on county taxes. About 37,000 bills will be mailed out sometime next week.

Mr. Philpot, who assumed his collector duties April 7, reported that the April collections in 1962 county taxes included $13,719.43 from real estate, $1,267.54 from corporations and $20 in trailer arrival taxes. Collections for four special taxing areas of the county also were received last month. They included $427.80 for LaVale, $3.96 for Cresaptown, $8.64 for Potomac Park and $10.87 for Mt. Savage.

State taxes for 1962 also were collected last month. They included $1,185.87 from real estate and $127.06 from corporations. State and county taxes for 1961 also continued to come to the collector's office at the Court House last month. The yield in 1961 county taxes was $1,009.13. State taxes for 1961 brought in $73.66 in April.

Monthly totals from county taxes since last June with the 1961-62 figure listed first in each case:

June — $2,996,246.29 and $2,803.-842.42; July — $139,699.05 and $118,915.56; August — $131,443.55 and $123,394.86; September — $83,488.30 and $69,660.81; October — $63,749.48 and $52,718.10; November — $51,380.79 and $45,345.-86; December — $45,731.17 and $68,766.86; January — $40,739.13 and $36,885.01; February — $30,-967.08 and $21,085.93; March — $23,246.96 and $24,035.60; April — $16,844.96 and $15,006.97.

W.Va. Units At Odds On School Bid

Construction Set At Romney

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—The State Board of Public Works (BPW) and the State Board of Education were at odds Wednesday over the awarding of a contract for new construction and renovations at the Romney School for the Blind.

The BPW agreed to release $526,320 for the work but recommended that the Board of Education reject a plumbing, heating and ventilation bid from the Stuart McMunn Co. of Clarksburg. The question was raised because the bid was modified by telegram on the day of the bid opening.

The board said that after bids were received April 25, the state attorney general's office examined them and told secretary H. K. Baer of the Board of Education the bid could legally be accepted because the board's advertisement noted the Board of Education "could waive irregularities."

"However, the attorney general strongly advised against such practice because the condoning of bid changes by way of telegram opens the door for all types and possibilities of chicanery and fraud," the BPW said. The attorney general advised Baer that "any such possibility of fraud in public bidding should not be tolerated."

The BPW also noted that State Atty. Gen. C. Donald Robertson advised Baer to adopt a "hard and fast" rule of "no irregularities" in public bidding.

"If a telegram is to be accepted altering a bid, why not a telephone call or memo written on scrap paper?" the BPW asked.

Despite Robertson's advice, the Board of Education accepted the $103,800 bid by McMunn during a meeting in Romney earlier this month.

Baer said Wednesday there was nothing illegal about accepting McMunn's bid. He said the telegram modifying McMunn's original bid was opened at the same time as McMunn's and other regular form bids were opened.

McMunn's modified bid dropped him $200 below the next lowest bidder, West Virginia Plumbing and Heating Co., Charleston. Baer said that by accepting the modified bid, the board was merely following regulations approved by federal financing agencies.

McMunn's contract was one of four into which the project was divided. The general contractor is Carl Belt Inc., Cumberland, Md., on a low bid of $356,360.

The new building will include shop and library facilities in addition to classrooms, while the contract also covers renovation of the old classroom building into a dining hall.

The BPW said it recognized that the Board of Education had waived irregularities before and that there was no fraud involved in the case in question.

However, the BPW said objection to the telegram bid came to its attention "and it is the opinion of this board that public policy demands that all possibilities of chicanery be avoided."

Four Concerts Assured Next Season As Tri-State Association Ends Drive

Four outstanding musical attractions will be presented by the Tri-State Community Concert Association during the 1963-64 season as a result of the completion of another successful membership campaign, according to Francis D. "Pat" Verdery, association president.

Announcement of the successful conclusion of the 1963-64 membership campaign came last night from the executive committee of the association's board.

"The many workers and the community are to be commended for maintaining the same high coverage as the past two years, thus enabling a series based on the highest concert budget thus far," Mr. Verdery said.

Two of the concerts were announced even before the campaign started on May 5. It previously was announced that the series will begin with a performance of Puccini's "Tosca" in English by the Goldovsky Grand Opera Theater on October 2.

Ending the tour on March 31, as previously announced, will be Arthur Fiedler and the Boston Pops Tour Orchestra on its eighth national tour.

Pianist Charles Rosen has been scheduled by the Tri-State Community Concert Association for a concert late in November, the second concert of the season. Stravinsky selected Rosen to record his "Movements For Piano and Orchestra," which has been hailed as "superb" by the New York Times.

The third concert in the series will be presented at Fort Hill High School in February by the New York Concert Trio. This is described as a "rare and intriguing combination of instruments. "Included are Cynthia Otis, harpist; Ardyth Alton, celloist, and Paul Boyer, flutist.

Membership in the series is closed with one exception. New people in the community, who move in after the close of the campaign. These newcomers who are interested in membership may contact Miss Sara E. Wright, executive secretary of the association.
